FRENCH CRY FOR HALT IN WAR ON GOLD STANDARD

Britain Buys Heavily to Stay Franc Raid.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 28.—The monetary drama going on behind the scenes of the economic conference reached its highest pitch of intensity today as the dollar plunged to an all time low.

The highlights of the feverish 12 hours which have just rolled by were a passionate protest by the French delegation against news leaks from London, which the French allege have enabled speculators throughout the world to clean up millions within the last three days; an authentic though not seriously intended French threat to walk out of the conference if the British will not stabilize the pound, and a new outburst of optimistic conjecture suggesting that the American authorities are nearly ready to peg the dollar.

Britain Goes to Aid of France.

In the light of the latest developments, the three day run on the central banks of France, Holland, Switzerland, and Belgium appears as a veritable gold Armageddon. The true proportions of the attack on the franc, which were only dimly realized yesterday, were revealed by the fact that the British equalization fund bought up more than 150,000,000 francs to prevent a crash of the exchange rate like that suffered by the guilder Monday, and that in spite of this support gold francs were selling yesterday in London at a premium of 6 pence [in the pound] over paper francs—an almost catastrophic phenomenon.

Meantime the British fund has also been furiously buying Dutch guilders and Swiss francs, which also have been receiving support from the French, and today orders were sent out from the Bank of France to intervene in the money market in a spectacular demonstration of strength to rout speculators who have been bearing the franc. As a result of this intervention and continued support from London the pound-franc exchange rate was brought back to 86.

French Are Agitated.

With this background, the French delegation showed up at the Geological museum this morning in much the same spirit as the French poilus waited for the Germans at Verdun. Georges Bonnet, French finance minister and chief of the French delegation, was haggard and nervous and had difficulty keeping his voice down, even in the lobbies.

Buttonholing the British financial expert, Sir Walter Layton, Bonnet is understood to have delivered a passionate oration against the speculators who are reaping fortunes out of the allegedly sensational news dispatches being sent from London by British and American news agencies.

The two had a long conference over the possibilities of the conference working out some method of protection against speculators, and it is understood that the French will try to push this through, although it is not clearly seen just what can be done.

Complain of News Reports.

The French blame the latest run on the guilder and franc to bears profiting from information leaking out of the London conference. There are complaints of bona fide secrets regarding stabilization negotiations having leaked out prematurely, but the main complaint is that distorted news dispatches are being sent from London and are being utilized by bears to undermine public confidence in the remaining gold currencies.

The French, THE TRIBUNE learns, have submitted to the British government a sheaf of telegrams from subscribers to the French Havas [government subsidized] news agency complaining that British and American agencies have been sending highly sensational stories from London predicting the imminent collapse of the gold standard throughout the world.

On the basis of these complaints they requested the British government to use its influence with the chief of the British Reuter's agency to tone down its dispatches for foreign consumption dealing with the gold problem.

May Try to Squeeze Bears.

No similar move has been made with regard to the American press, but Bonnet significantly refused to see the foreign press tonight for the customary conference following the regular French press conference.

Bonnet also assembled his staff of gold officers this morning for a council of war to try to devise a way of

GREEN URGES HIGHER WAGES IN COTTON MILLS

Time of Machines Also an Issue.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—It was labor's day today at the hearing being conducted by Hugh S. Johnson, the new governmental controller of industry, to determine how he shall control the cotton textile mills of the nation.

All of the labor leaders who appeared advocated wage rates and working hours which textile manufacturers had previously declared would be ruinous to the industry, raising prices to a point where the consumers would refuse to buy cotton textiles.

Green for 30 Hour Week.

The most extreme of the labor proposals came from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who advocated a minimum weekly wage of "certainly no lower than $14 to $16," as compared to the $10 to $11 proposed by the employers. Mr. Green stood for a 6 hour day and a five day week, a 30 hour week, against the 40 hour week agreed to by the manufacturers.

The labor leader put forth his 30 hour week as applicable to all of American industry.

Another laborite, Thomas McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, representing the mill workers directly, stood for a 35 hour week and a $14 wage. There were several other points of disagreement between the labor spokesmen at the meeting.

Asks Sacrifices to Get Jobs.

The day's hearing brought another development hailed as of the utmost importance. Administrator Johnson, entering into a spirited argument with a representative of a protesting manufacturer, laid down a policy that he intends to make his whole objective, the getting of jobs for the idle, even though he sacrifices many of the old fundamentals of American business.

The industrial administrator showed clearly that he regarded efficiency in plant operation as less important than his scheme to put men back to work, because an efficiently run plant would get the maximum of production from every employé, whereas an inefficient management would require more employés. Mr. Johnson by his questioning indicated an intention of cutting down the production of the efficient plants so that there would be more work available for the idle.

Green Opposed to Plan.

In this intention, by a dramatic cast of opinions, he found an unexpected opponent in President Green. Mr. Green this time sided with the representative of capital and held that to curtail production or to interfere with the full operation of an efficient plant was not wise.

But Mr. Johnson became so vehement in an effort to convince Mr. Green of the error of his ways that the labor leader finally backed away by saying:

"I'm not fundamentally opposed to your view if your investigation shows it is necessary."

Indications that the textile hearing may be wound up tomorrow were seen by Administrator Johnson, who announced the list of witnesses who are expected to be the last to be heard.

They include two additional labor leaders, Miss Maud Younger, chairman of the National Woman's party, who wants women on a parity with men in any code; John P. Davis, secretary Negro Industrial league, and two women representing consumers' leagues.

Forecast of the Order.

Administrator Johnson in a statement tonight indicated that he probably would impose a forty hour week upon the cotton textile industry, but he declared emphatically that this would set no precedent for other industries to come before him soon.

"The 40 hour week code proposed by the textile industry," he said, "is no precedent for any other industry in different circumstances. The textile mills are at nearly full capacity and there is some question as to whether they can find sufficient skilled employés on a full 40 hour week.

"It ought to be obvious to anybody that an industry at a low rate would have to have a shorter week to absorb its unemployed workmen.

"A forty hour week in industry generally would not scratch the surface of our job of putting large numbers of unemployed back to work.

"Indeed, I know of no other indus-

Council Cuts Cab Fare for Short Hauls

The city council yesterday passed two amendments to the taxicab ordinance as a stopgap measure. One amendment makes a slight reduction in the maximum rates allowed for short cab rides and tht other abolishes the present public vehicle license commission and substitutes a new one. The corporation counsel, city controller and commissioner of police, who form the new commission, were requested by a council resolution to start hearings immediately on rates of fare and the number of cabs needed on Chicago streets as the basis for a new taxicab ordinance.

The new rates are 20 cents for the first half mile and 10 cents for each half mile thereafter, as compared with the present rates of the large cab companies of 20 cents for the first quarter mile and 10 cents a half mile thereafter. This means a 10 cent reduction on a one mile trip, but no reduction for the succeeding miles.

Mayor to Sign Amendments.

Mayor Kelly said that he would sign the two amendments immediately. City Clerk Brady will have them published tomorrow, and the new rates will become effective ten days after publication. There is nothing to prevent taxicab companies from instituting the rate reduction at once, if they wish, however.

The opposition of Mayor Kelly, expressed in a statement Tuesday, influenced the council to abandon the plan to make the 20 and 10 cent rate uniform instead of a maximum. Had this proposal been put through it would have forced independent cabs now charging 15 cents for the first third mile and 5 cents a third mile thereafter to charge the higher rates.

Unfair to Drivers.

After the amendments had passed, Ald. Edwin F. Meyer [45th] asked Mayor Kelly to direct the new vehicle license commission not to retain a single employé of the old commission because of the unfairness with which, he charged, the former commission treated independent cab drivers.

It was through the old commission, consisting of the first deputy police commissioner, the police medical examiner, and Lieut. James Killackey of the police vehicle division, who was secretary, that the Yellow and Checker Cab companies were able to maintain a virtual monopoly of Chicago taxicab business by opposing applications of independent cab drivers for licenses. Ald. Meyer's request brought applause from cab drivers who crowded the council gallery.

Recesses for an Hour.

Before it voted on the amendments the council recessed for an hour to permit a joint meeting of the local transportation and traffic committees. There Mayor Kelly's statement was discussed and the committees finally voted, 35 to 2, to make the 20 and 10 cent rate a maximum and not a uniform one.

Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] presented a resolution asking the new vehicle commission to issue no new licenses for taxicabs pending action on revision of the taxicab ordinance, but the committee did not pass it. This, apparently, leaves the new commission a free hand in granting licenses to cut rate cabs which were unable to get them from the old commission, but the members are expected to be governed by Mayor Kelly's view in the matter.

VOLSTEAD LOSES DRY LAW JOB; KNOWNASAUTHOR

St. Paul, Minn., June 28.—[Special.]—Andrew J. Volstead, known as "father of the American prohibition enforcement act," lost his job today.

He was "indefinitely furloughed" from his place as legal adviser to the northwest prohibition administrator, along with other Minnesota employés of the department. The furloughs are effective July 1.

"It was no surprise," Volstead said.

He added that he would never make another dry speech, saying that he was going to rest and that he never expected to run for public office again.

"My health won't permit. You know I have heart trouble," he said.

New York, June 29 (Thursday).—[Special.]—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, former stage and motion picture actor and director, died at 3 o'clock this morning at the Park Central hotel, this city, from a heart attack.

BORN IN KANSAS.

Roscoe C. [Fatty] Arbuckle's career ranged from popular heights to virtual boycott. The rotund funny man's eclipse, from which he never fully emerged, followed the Virginia Rappe death scandal of 1921. In recent years he had made some progress toward a comeback.

Arbuckle was 46 years old and was born at Smith Center, Kas. He spent his youth in the midwest and then, while the movies were still in their infancy, moved west to filmland. As a comedian of a distinct type he achieved success.

Rappe Tragedy Blights Career.

Arbuckle was one of the highest salaried stars and most popular when the Rappe tragedy occurred. He was tried twice for responsibility for her death. The second trial resulted in his acquittal. However, the scandal just about ruined him. Arbuckle tried his hand in the field of entertainment here and in Europe after that, but it wasn't until 1927 that producers gave him real encouragement.

The fat man of the movies was married three times. His first wife was Minta Durfee. She divorced him in Paris in 1925. He then married Doris Deane, screen actress. That marriage, too, ended in the divorce courts. Just a year ago Arbuckle and Mrs. Addie Oakley Dukes McPhail were married at Erie, Pa. It was her second marriage.

School to Open 2 Weeks Late in September

The board of education voted unanimously yesterday to delay the opening of school two weeks in the fall in order to save $2,000,000 in salaries and other expenses. The step had been proposed by the special economy committee of school trustees headed by President James B. McCahey.

At the same time Mayor Kelly announced the appointments of Irwin N. Walker and Andrew O. Jackson, both attorneys, to fill the unexpired terms of Orville J. Taylor and Robert F. Carr, who have resigned from the school board. The city council confirmed the appointments.

School Opens Sept. 18.

Action to shorten the school term was taken without debate after Trustee Joseph J. Salat had made the motion. The school board made a similar saving several weeks ago when it closed the schools two weeks early in June. The schools will now open on Monday, Sept. 18, instead of the day after Labor day.

Through shortening the term by a month the board has now reduced the current school deficit to approximately $6,000,000. Further savings will be made at a recessed meeting of the board on July 7, when the economy committee is to announce its recommendations.

The trustees voted to spend $115,000 for new boilers in six elementary schools after John Howatt, chief engineer, explained that the city boiler inspectors had condemned the old equipment. The schools are the Burr, Whitney, Warren, McLaren, Fiske, and Reilly.

Discuss Teachers' Pay Bill.

The question of pay for the teachers and other school employés, whose salaries are in arrears since Jan. 1 to the amount of $22,000,000, was discussed. Trustee Joseph P. Savage called attention to the passage Tuesday by the state legislature of a bill authorizing the school board to issue $40,000,000 worth of bonds. The money from sale of the bonds would finance all salaries and expenditures of the school system up to the first of next year.

"Mayor Kelly and the members of the legislature should be thanked for this legislation," said Trustee Savage. "When this board once gets into a position to carry on its operations on a cash basis many of our difficulties will be solved."

After the bill has been signed by the governor, board members said they would ask bankers to buy the bonds. Failing in this direction the bonds will be offered to the federal government either for direct purchase or for a loan through the banks.

Two Holdover Trustees.

With the new trustee appointments the school board is composed of nine Democrats and two Republicans. The holdover trustees are Mr. Savage and William D. McJunkin, who are supporting the school economy program.

Attorney Walker, who will fill out the term of Mr. Taylor, which expires in 1937, lives at 7321 South Shore drive and has his office at 10 South La Salle street. He was born in Louisiana and received his undergraduate and legal education at the University of Chicago. He is general counsel and secretary of the Curtiss Candy company.

Kin of Chicago Pioneer.

The other new trustee, Mr. Jackson, will serve until 1936, filling the term of Trustee Carr. He is a member of the law firm of Cleveland & Jackson, with offices at 33 South Clark street.

Mr. Jackson was born in Chicago, his grandfather, Gideon Mathew Jackson, having settled here in 1836. He is married and lives at 7003 Normal boulevard. He is a brother of David H. Jackson, former chairman of the Illinois commerce commission.

The two new trustees will not take office until the next meeting.

GOVERNOR SIGNS SALES TAX BILL; ISSUES APPEAL

Asks Aid of Public in Support.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—As he signed the 2 per cent sales tax bill today Gov. Horner issued a plea for "hearty and unselfish cooperation" from the public and the retailers of the state in complying with the law. The message also contained a warning against profiteering by the collection of taxes in excess of the legal percentage.

The governor's signature puts the statute into effect at the stroke of midnight Friday night, the arrival of July 1. Rules and regulations for the enforcement of the law are now being prepared by Joseph J. Rice, director of finance, and will be ready for distribution soon.

Attack May Be Made.

The five companion bills providing for the disposition of the proceeds from the tax have not reached the governor's desk, but all of them are safely past their legislative troubles and will be signed before Saturday. When all have been filed it is fully expected in the statehouse that some form of court attack will be started against the levy in the name of some organization of retailers.

"The new legislation," said Gov. Horner, "has been discussed widely in the public press and otherwise, but much misapprehension regarding it has been spread. Under the terms of the new law the proceeds of the tax for the first six months will be used to care for the more than a million men, women, and children made destitute by the depression. Beginning Jan. 1, 1934, the tax money will be applied to the abatement of the state tax on general property.

"By using the money to lessen the tax load on general property, the owners of this property will be relieved of the payment of millions of dollars of taxes in 1934. If the new law produces the results anticipated it will meet and do away with all or a large part of the state tax on general property.

Merchants Are Warned.

"The enforcement of the law will not prevent merchants from charging a reasonable and fair price for their merchandise. But I warn those few merchants who have heretofore and may hereafter misrepresent the tax that all the lawful forces of the state will be employed to prevent such misrepresentations. Those who seek to profiteer under the cloak of this tax will be met by the opposition of the state and the protest of their customers. I am confident that the state will have the full coöperation of the general public as well as the reputable merchants in enforcing the law. This is expected by the administration in its efforts to meet the necessities of the problem before us.

"The amount that the merchants pay by way of this tax on the privilege of doing business is in the category of rent and other fixed overhead charges and should be so considered by them. The tax is on the occupation of selling tangible personal property at retail and is not to be considered as a tax on the consumer.

Considers New Act Legal.

"The Supreme court, in declaring unconstitutional the so-called 'sales tax' enacted earlier in the session, pointed out how a tax on occupations could be drafted to meet all legal requirements. Every suggestion of that decision was carried into the legislature without deviation. Sound legal authorities to whom this new law has been submitted, including the attorney general, have assured us that it will stand the test of the courts.

"From the very beginning of this administration's efforts to raise state funds for unemployment purposes it was obvious that the taxes on general property could not be increased for this purpose. There was no alternative offered the state. It had to turn to the retailers' occupational tax as the safe legal way of raising money.

"The opponents of the retailers' 2 per cent occupational tax, during all of the long debates on the subject, offered no constructive suggestion that would not run counter to our constitutional limitations, other inflexible legal requirements, and the necessities of the situation.

No Other Plan Suggested.

"Few of the opponents, if any, denied the need for unemployment relief, but no one suggested how this could be done safely other than with funds obtained by this tax upon the selling of tangible personal property at retail. None denied the need for relieving the tax load on real estate, but no one came forward with a more workable plan.

"The demand for legislative action became most imperative several days ago, when the federal government informed Illinois that after the month of June only $13,000,000 of federal funds remained to the credit of Illinois for the remainder of this year. This sum is to be paid in two monthly installments, part on July 1 and the balance on Oct. 1, leaving no federal allotments available for the months of August, September, November, and December.

"A few days ago the Sangamon county Circuit court issued an injunction preventing the use of the counties' share of the state's 3 cent gasoline tax for relief purposes, either in direct diversions of cash or in payment of the principal of interest on relief bonds. This decision closed to relief work the only source of revenue except the $13,000,000 credited to Illinois for July and October."

25 PAY ROLLERS OF OLD W. PARK BOARD QUIZZED

Some 25 pay rollers who were employed by the west park system during the régime of W. R. James as president have been questioned by Assistant State's Attorneys Henry Seyfarth and T. J. Shrachan in the last week, it was announced yesterday. The prosecutors said the pay rollers told them they all earned every cent they were supposed to get.

The sale of a piano to the park board for $150 by the wife of an official of the board, who herself is a park employé, is being investigated by the prosecutors. They said they doubted whether any buyer other than the west park board would have paid that much for the piano delivered to the park refectory.

Automobile allowances for twelve employés and officials during the years 1931-'32 also were under the scrutiny of the prosecutors. The automobile allowance cost the park board $4,875 for the two years, or more than $600 for each car. Among those given allowances was Charles J. McGowan, Republican committeeman, former park employé, and sponsor of more than 100 pay rollers.

MORTGAGE BILL FINALLY BEATEN IN STATE SENATE

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—After forcing a postponement on the mortgage moratorium bill yesterday the senate laid it permanently to rest today. Senator Martin Lohmann [Dem., Pekin] called it up for a second trial, and it received only 21 affirmative votes, five short of the number required for passage.

After debate centering around Chicago receiverships the upper house passed the bills to create the office of superintendent of mortgages in the department of finance. The vote on the main bill was 28 to 2.

The bill setting up the powers of the office, including supervision of the work of reorganization or liquidation committees and to formulate plans for reorganization, was passed, 28 to 5.

But this battle, according to a formal notice by Senator Arthur A. Huebsch [Rep., Brookfield] will be resumed tomorrow on a motion to reconsider.

WIFE QUITS HOME, HE KILLS STOCK, BURNS PROPERTY

Litchfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Angered because his wife had left him and taken four of their six children with her, William Bilyeu, 36, shot to death more than thirty head of live stock, wrung the necks of 700 chickens, and set fire to the household furnishings, farm machinery, and a number of sheds on his farm today.

He said he was determined his wife should have none of the property.

His two little daughters, Fern, 4, and Mabel, 6, were found asleep on a pallet on the floor by neighbors, who, attracted by the blaze, went to his home. Bilyeu was sitting on a porch watching the fire, a shotgun by his side.

Only property owned by Bilyeu was touched in the scheme of destruction. The farm house and barn were owned by Mr. Nelson of New Douglas and were not burned. The sheds which he fired had been built by himself.

CORPORATE TAX BILLS KILLED TO END FILIBUSTER

Agree to Four Demands of Republicans.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Holding the whip hand for once this session, Republicans in the house of representatives today staged a successful filibuster against what they claimed was unfair treatment of their bills. As a result the corporate tax bills, which would have given the tax commission authority to assess Illinois corporations will be killed.

During a riotous hour late in the day the minority members demonstrated that they could tie up legislation, by resorting to parliamentary delays, to such an extent that the last 48 hours of the session would pass with almost no action on the 200 bills remaining on the calendar.

The Republicans had a four point program—a new "bill of rights"—which they insisted be adopted by the Democrats. After their demonstration, the program was adopted, with minor changes, and tonight legislation was running smoothly once more.

Legislation Is Blocked.

Following the lead of Leroy M. Green, [Rep., Rockford] who started a one-man filibuster yesterday in protest against what he thought was discrimination against one of his bills in the senate because he voted against the administration's sales tax, the minority decided this morning to do all it could to block any sort of legislation.

Green's strategy seemed good and after his colleagues watched it work during the morning when Green forced the full reading of each bill called, they decided to caucus and write a pageful of demands.

When the smoke cleared away several hours later, a compromise had been effected which satisfied the Republicans that their shouting had not been in vain. Neither did it leave much soreness on the Democratic side.

Result of Compromise.

This is what the Republicans asked and what succss they had:

Demand No. 1: Abandonment of the administration's bills to give the state tax commission the right to assess the capital stock of corporations.

Result: Agreement by Speaker Roe to put the bills to a vote before an apparently hostile house.

Demand No. 2: Attorney fees of $600 each to Representative Elbert H. Waller [Rep., Tamaroa] and former Representative R. G. Crisenberry [Rep., Murphysboro] for their election contest in which Waller was finally seated, displacing Crisenberry a few weeks ago. The Democrats had decided the fees should only be $250.

Result: A compromise on $450 each.

Equal Treatment for Bills.

Demand No. 3: "Equal treatment" for Republican house bills now pending in the senate.

Result: Assurance by Senators R. V. Graham, Chicago, and Richard J. Barr, majority and minority leaders, respectively, that "equal treatment" will be given.

Demand No. 4: Alternate calling of Republican and Democratic bills in the house.

Result: Assurance by Speaker Roe that this will be done.

It took two conferences with the speaker and an additional Republican caucus to accomplish the results, the Republicans disclosing how far they would go in provoking delays. But finally the Waller-Crisenberry resolution was amended by insertion of the $450 figure and work proceeded in peace.

At the first caucus, attended by 58 of the 74 Republicans, 51 voted to abide by the new credo.

A committee of five was named to lay these terms before Speaker Arthur Roe [Dem., Vandalia] in his position as leading Democrat of the chamber. Minority Leader Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Chicago, was named chairman of the following: Green, R. J. Branson, Centralia; Drennan J. Slater, Evanston, and Clinton Searle, Rock Island.

The committee was instructed to inform the speaker that unless the terms were met the Republicans would demand their right to talk thirty minutes on each bill on third reading and five minutes for explanation of votes in addition to all the roll calls they could force.

If 50 men talked thirty minutes on each of the 100 bills now on third reading this alone would consume 2,550 hours, or 106 days. There now remains about 54 hours of life for the current session if it runs until midnight Friday.

The first setback came when the committee desired a conference with the speaker when the house reconvened late in the afternoon. Schnackenberg approached the rostrum and asked Mr. Roe to meet with the five Republicans.

"After we get some of this work done," replied the speaker.

Won't Hear Committee.

"Do you refuse to see the committee?" demanded Schnackenberg.

"I do not refuse," Roe retorted loudly, "but it cannot be done at this time."

"If you refuse to hear us now, you're responsible for what happens," said Schnackenberg.

Ignoring this, the speaker directed that the house consider senate amendments to the housing bills and with loud protests, the Republicans went back to their seats to set their filibuster in operation.

The next hour was a stormy one. When Majority Leader Thomas Sinnett [Dem., Rock Island] asked concurrence in the amendments, the Republicans began. Two original opponents—William E. King and Harris B. Gaines, Chicago Republicans—started to talk against the amendments as the first delay.

But Sinnett turned the tables by withdrawing his motion and moving for nonconcurrence. This was voted through almost before the Republicans knew what was happening.

Ridicule Fish Hatchery Bill.

Next came Representative Sol Handy's bill to appropriate $10,000 for a fish hatchery at Villa Grove, Ill. This was meat for the Republicans and they ridiculed the bill full tilt after Green had demanded it be read in full. Six Republicans talked against the bill on roll call and either their opposition or apathetic Democrats brought defeat. The bill obtained only 59 of the 77 necessary votes.

In the early evening Speaker Roe consented to see the committee and after a discussion among party leaders the agreement to end the filibuster was reached.

EFFORTS TO REPEAL AUTO ANTI-THEFT LAW ENDED THIS SESSION

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Efforts to repeal the recently enacted anti-theft law concerning automobiles were allowed to die in the house of representatives tonight. While the repealer is still on the calendar it can not be passed through this chamber and the senate before the assembly folds its tents on Friday.

The repealer is dead for the further reason that John P. Devine [Dem., Dixon], who introduced it, decided to drop it after he had made one unsuccessful effort to pass it and after the house today reduced the appropriation for its enforcement from $905,000 to $750,000, the latter being approximately the revenue the law will produce.

The anti-theft act requires that every car owner obtain from the secretary of state a certificate of title, for which he pays a 50 cent fee. The secretary of state is required to keep a file of all serials and engine numbers and, to detect stolen cars, to check all applications for state licenses against this list. The law also provides for the licensing and control of dealers in used cars and used car parts.

2 ANTI-HOODLUM BILLS PASSED BY ILLINOIS SENATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Two anti-hoodlum bills backed by Chicago forces directing the fight against gangsters and racketeers were passed quietly by the Illinois senate today and are now ready for Gov. Horner's consideration.

Amid the confusion of battles over taxation, relief, beer, utilities, and the other subjects which have occupied nearly all the time of the assembly until these closing days, these two measures were pushed along persistently since their introduction two months ago without arousing any particular interest. They now constitute the main anti-crime accomplishment of the session, which is scheduled to wind up its affairs on Friday.

Backed By Sonsteby.

One of the bills makes the vagrancy act operative against toters of guns, and other weapons, habitual law violators and their associates. The second measure authorizes the issuance of search warrants for revolvers and other firearms carried on the person or in an automobile.

The bills, which may become known as the Sullivan laws just as New York's anti-gun law is known as the Sullivan act, were introduced by Representative Mason S. Sullivan [Dem., Chicago] at the request of Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Chicago Municipal court and others seeking adequate means of proceeding against gunmen under the vagrancy act or similar law. They were called up and passed today on the motion of Senator Harold G. Ward, who hails from the same district as Sullivan.

The measure also carried the indorsements of the Chicago crime commission and State's Attorney Courtney.

The amendment to the vagrancy division of the criminal code includes the definition of "vagabonds" the following:

Term Is Defined.

"All persons who, not being persons authorized by law to carry concealed upon or about their persons, deadly weapons, are reputed to be habitual violators of criminal laws of this state or the United States, or to be habitually carrying concealed on or about their persons or in motor vehicles or other conveyances, pistols, revolvers, or other firearms, or blackjacks, slingshots, sandclubs, sandbags, metal knuckles, or bludgeons, or to carry or possess with intent to use the same unlawfully or against another person or persons, a dagger, dirk, or weapon or instrument of like character, and all persons who are reputed to act as associates, companions, or bodyguards of such persons reputed as aforesaid to be such habitual violators of the criminal laws."

A vagabond may be sentenced to imprisonment for from ten days to six months and also may be fined from $25 to $100, being compelled to "work out" the fine if it is not paid.

The change in the search warrant law provides such warrant may be issued upon complaint "that any drunken, idle, dissolute convicted criminal or reputed criminal, person, or is carrying concealed firearms."

The warrant will direct search of any house, person, or automobile described in it. Confiscated firearms are to be destroyed.

MINIMUM WAGE BILL PASSES HOUSE, 87-26, AND GOES TO HORNER

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Polling more votes than even its backers hoped for, the minimum wage bill was passed in the house tonight by a vote of 87 to 26. Having been approved by the senate already, it now goes to Gov. Horner. The governor is certain to sign it, for it is one of those measures agreed upon a few weeks ago by the governor and Mayor Kelly of Chicago.

Setting no dollar and cents minimum for wages to be paid women and minor workers, the bill provides for the appointment of wage boards composed of representatives of labor, employers, and disinterested citizens by the state department of labor—such boards to investigate wage standards and set wages subject to the approval of the director of labor. It is modeled after the bill passed by the New York state assembly.

Howard L. Doyle [Dem. Decatur], the sponsor, reminded the members of the stand of the Roosevelt administration upon the bill by reading a letter from the President to Gov. Horner, in which Mr. Roosevelt reminded the governor that New York state, under his guidance, had passed similar legislation. He hoped, he said, that other states would follow that example.

Doyle's colleague from the Decatur district, William D. Gayle [Dem., [Lincoln], among others was vehement against the bill which he termed "radical, unjust legislation."

"It's scatter brained and unconstitutional," added Roger F. Little [Rep., Champaign].

R. G. Soderstrom [Rep., Streator], president of the state federation of labor, and others were quick to come to the bill's aid. L. M. Green [Rep., Rockford], a Republican leader, was another to vote favorably upon it.

By one roll call the house also passed the five bills of the west park [Chicago] district program with a minimum of opposition. The vote of 84 to 12 counted on the first bill was, by unanimous consent, applied to the four other bills.

As explained by Benjamin S. Adamowski [Dem., Chicago] the bills would allow the issuance of $22,300,000 in nonreferendum bonds to refinance the present outstanding indebtedness of the system. The amount includes two million dollars for the payment of overdue salaries of employés and current expenses. The employés are twenty-three months in arrears.

The last bill in the series repealed the bill by which the last legislature allowed the old Republican controlled board to issue four million dollars in bonds—none of which were sold. Adamowski said he had been told by the board of commissioners that they believed they could find a market for the bonds.

Having already passed the senate, the bills now go to Gov. Horner for approval.

GUNMEN HOLD UP HOSPITAL; GET $175 IN OFFICE

Four masked gunmen took $175 in a robbery of the Billings Memorial hospital after threatening six women employés in the business office yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Eleanor Kleiberg, 28 years old, 5308 Ellis avenue, the cashier, was forced to open the office safe.

A woman, who was escorting a patient down the hospital steps, fainted as the bandits brushed by her as they ran out the front door. The robbers paused in their flight to rob Dr. Henry B. Pearlman of $2 as they met him coming up the hospital walk. After robbing the physician the bandits fled to an automobile in which a fifth man waited at the wheel.

Bills Revising State Prison System Await Legal Opinion

A complete revision of the Illinois penitentiary system, approved last Thursday by the state house of representatives, yesterday needed only the signature of Gov. Horner to make it law. He is awaiting an opinion from Attorney General Kerner on the constitutionality of the six bills in which the new prison system is set up.

Primarily, the legislation was drafted and introduced in the legislature by Senator Clifford J. Vogelsang [Dem., Taylorville] and Representative John P. Devine [Dem., Dixon] to provide a safe place of confinement for such delinquents as James ["Iggy"] Varecha, who, before he committed the crimes of murder, kidnaping, and rape in a single evening, had been caught in numerous other crimes and sent to the Dixon hospital for feeble-minded, from which he escaped on several occasions.

Change Nature of Chester Asylum.

The bills, drafted by the Cook county judicial advisory council, go much further, however. They revamp the entire prison system as regards the incarceration of feeble-minded and insane criminals, and take the Chester asylum for criminal insane out of the prison system. They make it an Illinois Security hospital for insane or feeble-minded persons who have committed no crime, but whose tendencies are such that it is dangerous to leave them at large or to attempt to confine them to unwalled institutions for feeble-minded.

The remaining state penal institutions for men—the Joliet, Stateville, and Menard penitentiaries and the Pontiac reformatory—are consolidated into a single institution, the Illinois state penitentiary. The state department of public welfare is given authority to transfer prisoners from one division to another and a psychiatric division is set up for insane and feeble minded prisoners.

The eventual operation of the new prison system was described yesterday by Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare.

Types to Be Segregated.

"After we shall have conservatively shifted the inmates, taking plenty of time in order to keep the various divisions of the prison system harmonious," said Mr. Brandon, "there will be nothing at Stateville but first offenders of normal mentality, nothing at the old prison at Joliet except recidivists (second offenders) of normal mentality, nothing at Pontiac but juveniles of normal mentality, nothing at Menard but feeble minded and insane criminals, and none at Chester who have been convicted of crime.

"The judicial advisory council feels that this has been accomplished in a constitutional manner. I am in a position to assure the governor that it can be accomplished without cost because the women are moving out of the old women's prison at Joliet and that will be the diagnostic and receiving station into which the new commitments will be entered and from which they will be transferred according to their classification."

The insane criminals now confined in Chester will be moved to the Menard penitentiary, as will all feeble minded criminals now confined in other state prisons and the Pontiac reformatory. The mentally normal prisoners at Menard will go to Joliet.

Easy for Delinquents to Flee.

The Security hospital at Chester will not be a part of the prison system, making it possible to send there, to be kept in walled security, feeble minded delinquents now held at Lincoln and Dixon state hospitals. Previously these hospitals, which have few facilities for confining patients, have been the only place to which delinquents such as Varecha could be sent by the Juvenile court, with the result that that type of patient has had little difficulty in escaping.

The bills to establish the Security hospital and revise the prison system were drafted for the judicial advisory council by Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher, Prof. Edwin H. Sutherland of the University of Chicago, and Prof. Robert A. Millar of Northwestern university. Prof. Millar pointed out yesterday that when the new system is in effect, it will be possible to keep feeble minded criminals incarcerated for life, or until they are deemed to be no longer dangerous to the public. After they have served the term imposed upon them for a specific crime, they may be sent to the Chester hospital as dangerous feeble minded.

OTTO KAHN PAYS NO INCOME TAX IN THREE YEARS

Private Banker Testifies at Pecora Inquiry.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—Otto H. Kahn, senior partner of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., a leading private banking house, told the Pecora committee today that he paid no income tax in the years 1930, 1931, and 1932. He testified that in 1929 and 1928 he paid a "substantial tax" but that for the last three years "his accountants have found no taxable income."

"I hoped it would be a different figure for 1933," remarked the New York banker, head of the Metropolitan Opera company.

Inquiry by the committee was directed to sales of five blocks of stock by Mr. Kahn Dec. 30, 1930, showing a loss of $117,584 and to an alleged transfer the following day to him of a similar number of shares in the same company by his daughter, Mrs. John C. O. Marriott. Testimony was that at the time of Mr. Kahn was in Europe. The revenue examiner disallowed the $117,000 loss, on which a tax of $16,000 was assessed, and it was appealed to Washington where the deduction was allowed.

Will Refresh Memory.

Mr. Kahn himself declared that he is "vastly ignorant" of the details of income tax returns, leaving the preparation of his schedules to expert accountants in his office. On adjournment he stated he would refresh himself from the office records for tomorrow's hearing.

"If there is one subject on which my knowledge is less than on income tax," said the New York investment banker, "I do not know it. My returns are prepared and put before me by men in whom I have implicit confidence. I am perhaps less interested in my own financial affairs than in anything else. From habit and training, I dismiss from my mind things I don't have to remember, and so I do not recall these details."

A list of five blocks of stock sold Dec. 30, 1930, was read off by Ferdinand Pecora, lawyer for the committee. They were 1,000 shares of Electric Power and Light company, 1,000 of International Nickel, 500 of Manhattan Dearborn, 250 of Reynolds Metal company, and 600 of Tubize Chatillon company [rayon]. A list of sales was produced by the attorneys for Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and they were checked off one by one. The five blocks showed a $117,000 loss.

Accountant Is Witness.

"The revenue examiner," he said, "disallowed that $117,000. Appeal was made to Washington and the deduction was allowed. This was done while Mr. Kahn was in Europe, and the appeal was made without his knowledge."

"Some of those stocks," said Mr. Kahn, "have a familiar sound because they didn't turn out well. They turned out lemons. I know every return of mine has been gone over by an internal revenue officer. On these details I am ignorant, not reluctant. I shall diligently consult the records and hope to be a more competent witness tomorrow than today."

At the end of the session Pecora said that tomorow he expects to develop that the income tax payments of the other partners in Kuhn-Loeb were "negligible" during three years of the depression.

Morgan Testimony Recalled.

A parallel was pointed to in the testimony of J. Pierpont Morgan in recent hearings that he had paid no income tax in 1930, 1931, and 1932, while in 1929 J. P. Morgan & Co. paid $11,000,000. The Morgan statement was that in the last three years capital losses, deductible under the law, were such as to wipe out taxable income—"income taxes are, after all, payable upon income and not upon deficits."

The rest of the day was devoted to a discussion of the five bond issues aggregating $90,000,000 to the mortgage Bank of Chile, the only foreign issue by Kuhn-Loeb, according to the Kahn testimony, which is in default.

Benjamin J. Buttenwieser, junior partner of Kuhn-Loeb, who said he rose from "licking stamps in 1918 to a partnership in 1932," was on the stand for hours, while Attorney Pecora went into the details of all five issues. The air grew oppressive. The senators lolled in their seats, and Kahn, friend of opera, a symphony in grays, gray hair, moustache, suit, shirt, necktie, handkerchief and socks, drowsed in his chair.

"We want to get an elementary education in finance," remarked Pecora, in keynoteing the hearing.

Methods are Explained.

"It puts me in the rôle of a little child shall lead them," remarked Buttenweiser. All morning and until late in the afternoon, the hearing floundered in the mechanics of finance, on trade balances in Chile, on the structure of the bond selling processes, and the amount of commissions paid, and why the bonds are in default after being guaranteed by the Chilean government, nitrate business having fallen victim to European competition.

The first issue of Chilean bonds in 1925 was first taken up. An hour's discussion developed that in handling it, the underwriters, of whom Kuhn-Loeb were a 45 per cent part and the Guaranty company 45 per cent bought the bonds at 93. The bonds were offered to the public at 97¾, a spread of 4¾ per cent.

On the $20,000,000 Buttenweiser testified the profits were $925,000. Of this he said ½ of 1 per cent went to Louis Dreyfus and company of Paris for "binding" the negotiations, 1¼ per cent went to the originating group [Kuhn-Loeb and the Guaranty company being chief underwriters], 1⅛ went to the syndicate which was formed within 24 hours to "share the risk," and 1¾ per cent went to the actual selling group which disposed of the bonds to the public.

Controversy Over Term.

The figures do not quite add up, due to certain interest charges. Buttenwieser remarked that Kuhn-Loeb were wholesalers and the selling group were retailers. It was brought out that the selling group was pledged for sixty days not to sell any of the bonds at less than the set rate. "It's customary procedure," said the banker. A controversy arose over what term should apply. "Pegging the market," was suggested by Mr. Buttenwieser, who pulled the phrase back and submitted the word "support." Mr. Pecora in turn suggested the phrase, "rigging the market," while Mr. Kahn maintained the proper phrase was "aiding the market."

Pecora asked whether Kuhn-Loeb made an economic and political study of conditions in Chile, while Buttenwieser replied that the reports of the United States department of commerce showed that at the time the bonds were issued the Chilean position was in pretty good shape. "We placed greatest reliance, too, upon the guaranty of the Chilean government," said Buttenwieser—"the country had a seventy year record of performance."

After nearly five hours on this subject Mr. Kahn again interjected himself into the hearings on the matter of profits.

Tells of Loan Loss.

"My firm," he said, "showed a total profit on these Chilean transactions of $370,000 and at present we have a loss on a loan of $600,000."

"In other words," said Chairman Duncan U. Fletcher, "the public has 90 million dollars of bonds on which it may realize in the future, while you have only a note for $600,000."

After that it developed into a battle over reports of the department of commerce, Attorney Pecora quoting from one set of reports which indicated Chile at the time of the bond issue was in a bad way financially and Mr. Buttenwieser quoting from other reports indicating that Chile was on top of the world economically.

BANKER HARRIMAN'S TRIAL FOR FRAUD IS SET FOR NEXT JULY 6

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—Federal Judge William Bondy today fixed July 6 as the date for the trial of Joseph W. Harriman and Albert Murray Austin, former chairman and vice president, respectively, of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company, on an indictment charging them with making or causing to be made 14 false entries in the books of the bank and with misapplication of the bank's funds.

This date was set after Judge Bondy had denied a motion by George S. Leisure, Harriman's attorney, for an adjournment of one year on the ground that the recent senatorial investigation of the Harriman case had created an atmosphere of prejudice both in this district and throughout the United States against banks and bankers so strong that it would prevent Harriman from securing a fair trial.

John C. Grayson Indicted.

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—John Cooke Grayson, brother of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, was one of four men indicted today by a District of Columbia grand jury in connection with a shortage in the funds of the Park Savings bank of Washington, now closed.

A charge against Grayson, former clerk in the chief national bank examiner's office of the treasury department, is that he informed the late Robert S. Stunz, former vice president of the bank, of pending visits to the institution by federal bank examiners.

In return it was charged that Stunz accepted overdrafts from Grayson and credited the latter's account with approximately $4,000 he never deposited.

Stunz killed himself last March.

BOGUS INCOME TAX DEDUCTIONS HUNTED BY U. S.

Revenue Bureau Digs Up Alleged Stock Losses.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—The federal dragnet continues to fish up income taxpayers who took bogus stock loss deductions to wipe out or reduce their taxable incomes, officials of the bureau of internal revenue said today.

At the same time, Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering announced that he had received a cashier's check for $906 from an anonymous source with a letter explaining that the sum represented an additional tax which should have been paid. The taxpayer said he wished to rectify his mistake and relieve his conscience.

An investigation of all income tax returns to determine to what extent fake stock losses vere taken, was started two weeks ago by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering. Taxpayers last year claimed to have lost more than a billion dollars on speculative transactions.

The campaign will not be checked because of the acquittal of Charles Mitchell, former president of the National City Bank of New York, on criminal charges growing out of loss deductions. It is believed that civil cases can still be made to stand up in the courts.

One revenue agent already has turned up leads on almost 300 cases, it was learned, and shortly after the campaign was launched one large taxpayer is said to have filed an amended return increasing his taxable income by $125,000.

The checkup on stock losses made against taxable income has two phases, bureau of internal revenue officials explained. While the bureau continues to go over returns on which proportionately large deductions were made, some taxpayers have voluntarily filed amended returns showing smaller losses. These cases will be treated with leniency, Commissioner Helvering declares.

Cases of unjustifiable deductions which the bureau uncovers itself will be subjected to penalty assessments. If the taxpayers refuse to admit the validity of the government's claim, the cases will be taken before the United States board of tax appeals.

NEGRO BOY SAVES WHITE GIRL FROM AUTO; LOSES LEG

Kansas City, Kas., June 28.—(AP)—Eddie Duke, 10 year old Negro boy, saw a parked motor car in which Virgie Lee Richardson, 3 year old white girl, was playing begin to roll down a hill.

He leaped into the car and attempted to reëngage the brakes. Failing, he dropped the girl from the machine as it gathered speed. A moment later the car overturned.

The boy's right leg was crushed. It was amputated at a hospital. The girl suffered only a slight scalp wound.

VOLIVA PREDICTS 7 YEAR DROUGHT AND WHEAT AT $48

Predictions that the world is about to undergo seven years of drought and that the price of wheat will go to $48 a bushel were made last night by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, at the mid-week meeting in Shiloh tabernacle, Zion.

The wheat shortage will be so severe, Overseer Voliva asserted, that it will be doled out in handfuls. However, his people will not suffer, he added, because "the chosen of earth will be taken away" in 1934.

Those not of the Zionist fold, the leader said, will be left to famine and the rule of an anti-Christ. Although not positive of the identity of the coming sovereign, Overseer Voliva announced a belief that Mussolini would take the place.

ORDER TO FREE DRY PRISONERS ISSUED IN WEST

Denver, Colo., June 28.—[Special.]—Declaring that "the acts upon which the persons were convicted are no longer criminal in so far as Colorado laws are concerned," Gov. Ed C. Johnson today ordered the discharge Saturday of 49 prisoners from the state penitentiary who have been serving sentences for violation of state prohibition laws.

The chief executive also will release prisoners who are serving liquor law violation sentences in county jails as soon as he receives definite information as to those who are so confined.

The governor in his proclamation said: "The people of the state of Colorado at the last general election repealed all statutory laws concerning or relating to intoxicating liquors, making it no longer a crime, effective July 1, to possess, sell or manufacture liquor or to possess or operate a still.

"The acts upon which the following persons were convicted are no longer criminal in so far as Colorado laws are concerned.

"Therefore the said convicts are hereby pardoned from serving any further part of their sentences and are permitted to go at large and the warden of the state penitentiary is hereby directed to give to each of them an unconditional discharge, effective as of July 1, 1933."

Dry Chief and Aids Put on "Indefinite Furlough."

Prohibition Administrator Malachi L. Harney and 116 prohibition agents and clerks in the Chicago district, made up of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, will begin an "indefinite furlough without pay" Saturday. This was revealed yesterday in an order sent from Washington by A. V. Dalrymple, national prohibition administrator.

While the men lopped off the pay roll may be reinstated with the approval of the President within four months after Aug. 10, when the President's executive orders go into effect, officials expressed the belief that there was little hope of the dismissed men again finding their way to a prohibition pay window.

Further slashes are expected in August, when the prohibition department will cease to exist and will be consolidated with the United States bureau of investigation. No explanation of the "indefinite furlough" was contained in the Washington order, but the move was looked upon as an economy measure as lesser figures in the prohibition service succeeded their superiors in an "acting capacity."

The staff of the Chicago office was cut in half by the dismissal of 31 agents and 12 clerks. The remainder of the trimming of prohibition employés in this district was done at subordinate stations. Gus Simons, now deputy prohibition administrator, was named to succeed Administrator Harney as acting administrator. Simons' place will be filled by Al Aman, now chief enforcement agent.

Administrator Harney, asked about his plans, said he thought he would "go look for a job."

PERMIT FIREMEN TO COOL OFF BY SHEDDING COATS

Chicago's firemen need no longer swelter in hot weather in the heavy, double breasted reefers which are their uniform jackets. Following the lead of the police department Fire Commissioner Daniel J. Carmody yesterday issued an order giving the firemen permission to appear in shirt sleeves.

"The men can now be in full uniform without their coats," Commissioner Carmody said. "Our men really suffer when they wear those heavy coats on the street.

"As a matter of fact, the fireman only wears his uniform when he is going to work or returning home from the fire house. While on duty he does not have to wear a heavy coat. Most of the men will carry their coats so that they won't have to pay fares on surface and elevated lines, since technically they can be refused free transportation unlss they have them on."

Mayor Kelly said he approved of Carmody's order.

CENTURY'S WINGS AT WORLD'S FAIR IS GREAT DRAMA

Locomotives, Ships, and Old Coaches Actors.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

"Wings of a Century" at the World's Fair is great drama.

That much I know—or believe I do—because, for 15 years and for better or worse, I did naught else for a livelihood but see, study, and write about plays, and I brought at least love of a beautiful art to an often trying task.

The essential greatness of "Wings of a Century" is inherent in its noble amplitude, its rich color, its touching contrasts, and its climaxes of glowing spectacle.

Here is precisely what dramatic critics have been clamoring for—a native theme presented on a heroic scale.

Locomotives as Actors.

Colossal railway locomotives steaming onto the stage with the resounding pomp of old time tragedians are among the actors. Suave clipper ships, once the pride of our merchant marine and manned with uniformed officers and crews, and broad beamed canal boats carrying whole families glide across this stage.

For an hour at once exhilarating and instructive the scene fills and fills with stage coaches, with tallyhos, with veritable railway trains, with automobiles that are antiques and with automobiles that are the latest word in modernistic lines, with long limbed, loose living ballet dancers of the mining camps of '49, with sailors, with soldiers, with police, with trainmen, and with people of politics and of fashion who were the notables of the Columbian Fair of forty summers ago.

The Old Days, the Old Songs.

The drama constantly unfolds to music that now is weighted with pomp and circumstance and that now catches up the dear echoes of songs and ballads which touched with artless fancy some chord in hearts which long ago—long, long ago—responded happily to them.

The drama's central climax is magnificent.

For now you behold how the republic from ocean to ocean was bound together with steel and so was saved from degeneration into a loose group of bickering principalities.

The scene is Promontory Point in Utah and the period 1869. You see the solemn driving with a silver hammer of a golden spike holding the rail that is the closing link in the lines of steel which for years have been approaching Promontory Point from Omaha on the east and Sacramento on the west. Plains and mountains have been spanned.

The Blessing of the Rails.

A clergyman lifts his hands to bless the work. Sweating tie layers and trackmen and engineers uncover their heads and the orchestra bursts into triumphant jubilee.

The locomotives from the east and the west release joyful hoots of mutual greeting. The iron street of a continent is finished.

The 3,000 men, women and children in the mounting tiers of seats in the open air theater are looking on with wet eyes. They have seen the noble enactment of an epochal and an epic day, and they know it.

The beautiful pageantry and poetry sweep on through the decades down to the historic day on the North Carolina sand dunes at Kitty Hawk where Wilbur and Orville Wright just 30 years ago conquered new lanes of transport for mankind—the cloudy lanes of the firmament.

Imperial No. 3024.

Again the stage, which is thrice as wide as the huge stage of the Auditorium, fills, and fills, and fills with locomotives coming on under their own power, among them the Chicago and Northwestern railway's titanic No. 3024.

The crowded and resplendent finale culminates, as justly it should, on the strains of the national anthem—justly, I say, for the "Wings of a Century" is a national drama.

The 150 people on the stage are singing, the 60 horses there and in the wings of the theater are neighing, the gleaming locomotives are sounding their deep diapason, the trumpeters in the orchestra are flinging afar their victorious music. And the waves of our inland sea, into which you could step in a few paces, are contributing their solemn beat to the old war hymn.

Audience Makes Complete Surrender.

The audience surrenders like a child to the heroic spell of so much color and harmony and grandeur. The people rise as one in their seats and join in the anthem.

Never have I heard a multitude sing it with a better will. They have seen something to sing about—something to make them both proud and humble. They have seen what their fathers wrought on land and sea and in the air, and what their own generation is capable of achieving and has achieved. And so with full hearts they sing with the actors. It is no longer a stage play. It is a rite.

This drama begins with the appearance on the scene of the pathetic Indian travois—most primitive form of transport except human legs—which a pony drags across the stage. Instantly the witchery of music lays its spell upon you, for you hear, faint and afar, the forlorn and yearning chants of a people that now has set its face everlastingly toward the setting sun.

The Swift Moving Pageantry.

Then swift succession of pioneer steamboats and locomotives, of tragic trains of overland hooded wagons facing death at every turn of the long way, of swaying stage coaches, of the ponies of the overland express which come fairly skidding onto the stage and are superbly ridden by western horsemen; of historic figures from old white wigged Carroll of Carrollton to the white bearded Carter Harrison the Elder, our World's Fair mayor in '93, and so on down the decades of invention and of victory.

Mounted bandits encircle the stage coaches which carry treasure and they are driven off by the fire of United States regulars.

The century of progress moves on and in the course of that progress eleven locomotives, representing all American types from the earliest to the latest and drawing coaches filled with passengers, steam onto the stage under their own power and over a quarter of a mile of double tracks.

There is no fakery. No papier maché stuff. Many of the mechanisms are authenticated originals. The ancient canoes are from the Rosenwald Museum of Science and Industry. The dress, which the Infanta Eulalie of the now deposed royal house of Spain wears in one of the gala scenes, is actually from her wardrobe. In the battle with the bandits the Wells-Fargo money coach is the actual one that 64 years ago was making the trip from Council Bluffs to Sacramento in 60 days.

The Incomparable Setting.

The setting for the drama is incomparable. Its background—or backwater—is Lake Michigan, where ships are passing and where the lighthouses are keeping their flashing watch. Behind the audience rises the emerald bulk of the Exposition's Travel and Transport building.

Majestic pyramidal white pylons sentinel each side of the stage. Sometimes while the drama is in progress airplanes en route to the east snarl far aloft. The theater's roof is shimmering parti-colored light of unearthly beauty.

Such a drama and such a setting need no words, but a "chorus"—using the term and the function in the sense in which Shakespeare used them in the prologues to "Henry V." and "Romeo and Juliet"—intones words during the progress of the play. They are eloquent and not too copious.

"Stout hearts and brave" chants "chorus" at one point, and that is the play's whole story and spirit.

The show—ignoble word for so much beauty and poetry—was five months in building and a month in rehearsal. Not counting the cost of locomotives and other heavy mechanisms contributed by the great American railroad companies, its cost before a performance was given ran into six figures.

Where a Woman Triumphed.

Edward Hungerford of the New York Central lines did much of the writing of the libretto and a slender young woman with big eyes and a vibrant voice—Miss Helen Tieken—did all the research and producing. The result of her direction brings her forward as one of the gerat American stage managers.

The spectacle "America," performed at the Auditorium during the Columbian summer, was not so grand and meaningful as this "Wings of a Century" is, and parents who do not take their children to see it ought to be spanked with the paddles of the old water wheel that turns in the shadow of the Fair's Horticultural building. On Friday afternoons the incredible admission fee for children is five cents.

And finally—though not to try to ride into publicity on the wings of somebody else's glory—we will say that to view this drama is to have a grand introduction to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's American air races and air combats, which will be unleashed for four days beginning Saturday.

Our show will be a tremendous sixth act, as it were, to the Tieken-Hungerford triumph.

FOUR JEWISH GOVERNORS TO BE AT FAIR MONDAY

Among the 50,000 visitors to Chicago on Jewish day at the Fair next Monday will be the four Jewish governors. These governors, who have announced their intention to take part in the festivities of the day and witness the pageant spectacle, "The Romance of a People," in Soldiers' field are Govs. Horner of Illinois, Herbert H. Lehman of New York, Arthur Seligman of New Mexico, and Julius L. Meier of Oregon.

In making this announcement yesterday Judge Harry M. Fisher, general chairman of Jewish day, stated that each day adds to the number of chartered special trains to arrive over the week end from all sections of the country. Two special trains from New York will arrive Friday night, bringing 1,000 Zionists on each. Among these will be Morris Rothenberg, head of the American Zionist organization.

With the increased number of reservations from points outside of Chicago, with mounting sales here, Soldiers' field is already practically assured of 150,000 spectators for the great pageant.

Vendor Falls Dead Chasing Children Who Stole Pies

While pursuing some Negro children who had stolen several pies from his hamper, Justin Simpson, 65 years old, an ice cream and pie vender of 5641 Princeton avenue, fell dead of heart disease at 53d and La Salle streets last night.

RAIL, AIR AND BUS LINES READY FOR RECORD TRAFFIC

Prepare Extra Equipment for Holiday Travel.

For the five day period beginning tomorrow railways, airways and buses will carry a larger volume of passenger traffic than they have recorded in any comparable period over the last four or five years, according to estimates made yesterday by World's Fair passenger traffic officials.

The week-end, extending through Tuesday, the Fourth of July, will be used by many thousands of out-of-state and nearby residents as an opportunity to visit A Century of Progress on reduced fares. To a lesser extent it will mean a volume of outgoing traffic as Chicagoans leave for four or five day outings.

Air Facilities Sold Out.

A capacity volume of airplane passengers is indicated by the experience of the last few days, according to American Airways, Inc., when seats in planes traveling from Chicago eastward have been sold out in advance.

To meet the expected rush, which will be heaviest in incoming traffic, all available flying equipment will be put in operation, it was said. From the southwest and south reservations have come pouring in, indicating that persons there are using airways in order to stretch the short holiday into a means of seeing A Century of Progress.

A new service to the west coast will be inaugurated Saturday by the United Air lines when a fifth westward bound plane will be added to the schedule, leaving Chicago at 10 p. m. and arriving at Portland at 12:52 p. m., San Francisco at 1:45 p. m., and Los Angeles, 2:30 p. m. Three new eastbound planes have also been added, leaving Chicago at 12:50 p. m., 2 p. m., and 4 p. m., and arriving in New York at 5:40 p. m., 6:45 p. m., and 8:50 p. m.

Bus Line Traffic Heavy.

The additional planes will make a total of 11 leaving Chicago for the east daily over this line.

"We've been booked up for three weeks on our old schedule for the Fourth of July week-end, but with our new services and by putting on all the extra sections we can on all lines coming into Chicago, we expect to accommodate our patrons," a company official said.

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., likewise expect an extraordinarily heavy load between New York and Chicago, officials said.

Bus companies told the same story. "All our equipment is in use now. The rush for the last 30 days has left us breathless, and it shows no signs of letting up before Nov. 1," a representative of the Greyhound bus lines said. "Instead of the usual 4,000 passengers a day, indications are we'll be carrying 10,000 in and out of Chicago over this week-end."

Double 1932 Rail Traffic.

"This Fourth of July holiday will bring business more than 100 per cent greater than that of the same period in 1932 to the railroads," predicted Robert Thomson, passenger traffic manager, Chicago and North Western railway.

"Advance reservations indicate we will do the largest volume of business in any like period in the last four years," Mr. Thomson added. "Extra coaches will be added to every incoming train and overflow Pullman cars are being added. Sunday and Tuesday we will run World's Fair specials from Rockford, Belvidere and other intermediate points."

From points west of Chicago round trip rates of 75 per cent of one fare, good on day coaches only, and round trip rates of one fare plus 25 cents good on sleeping cars will be in effect from June 30 to July 7 inclusive and will be on sale from June 30 to July 4, inclusive.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

There is $20 in gold lying on a platter with some cookies right behind an open window at the Westinghouse exhibit in the Electrical building. Hundreds of persons have tried to take it, but when a hand is thrust through the window it interrupts an unseen ray which falls on a photoelectric cell. When the ray is interrupted a master switch is thrown and a barrier shuts off the opening.

Out of every three visitors to the Fair one visits the Chevrolet-Fisher body assembly line exhibit, according to James A. Grier, resident manager of the General Motors company. Every state in the Union and several foreign countries have been represented.

David Owen, director of the Minnesota state exhibit, received a cablegram yesterday from Fred E. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune, who is at the world economic conference in London, which read: "Greetings from London, and congratulations on your accomplishment for the greatest bread and butter state in the Union."

Men's collars, from the ruff of Sir Walter Raleigh to the soft, neck sparing product of 1933, are shown in the Cluett, Peabody & Co. display in the General Exhibits group. The largest and smallest collars ever built, one made for the Russian giant and another for Tom Thumb, are shown.

An aluminum model of the Union Pacific railroad's new streamlined train will be on display at the Fair today. The train is now being constructed and will be given a test run from Chicago to the Pacific coast in the fall. Its engine is capable of 110 miles an hour. The exhibit is in the Chicago and North Western railroad booth in the Travel and Transport building.

More than 8,000 persons a day inspect the Mechanical Wonderland exhibit on the second floor of the General Exhibits building. W. M. Clark, designer of the display, is kept busy solving many of the problems of mechanical engineers and enthusiasts who visit the display. The exhibit consists of 200 working models in motion, illustrating every known mechanical operation and principle.

Children at the Canadian exhibit are getting the goat of the royal northwest mounted police. One of the exhibits is a mounted mountain goat with long silk whiskers. The whiskers are rapidly disappearing, with little girls grabbing most of the beard.

Hot weather has brought an influx of discarded garments to the lost and found bureau at the Fair. More than 150 pieces of wearing apparel have been turned in in the last few days, including trousers, shoes, coats, and underwear. For three weeks a big bass horn has awaited its owner in the department.

Fair visitors yesterday were thanked for their conduct by Maj. L. R. Lohr, general manager. The grass plots, now presenting a vivid green carpet around the various buildings, have not suffered once from the straying feet of visitors. Small signs are the only warnings shown.

The United States government will participate in the Fourth of July celebration at the Fair, with a special program in the Court of the Hall of States, according to an announcement yesterday by Harry S. New, federal commissioner to the Exposition. The program will center around the activity of the army and navy, with music, drills, and demonstrations.

Gen. John Talifero Thompson, inventor of the Thompson machine gun, who came to Chicago from Washington to visit A Century of Progress, will be the guest today of Commander Gene McDonald on the yacht Mizpah.

City Takes Telephone Rate Case to U. S. Supreme Court

Attorneys Benjamin F. Goldstein and George I. Haight, representing the city of Chicago, yesterday filed an assignment of errors in the telephone rate litigation case, submitting it to the United States Supreme court for final ruling. The case involves a refund to the public of $21,745,043 up to Jan. 1, 1932, and a reduction in telephone charges amounting to $2,000,000 a year. The document filed by the attorneys contained the findings in which they contend the lower court erred in giving a judgment to the telephone company after ten years of litigation.

ARMY AND NAVY CLUB TO CLOSE NEW YORK DOORS

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—The Army and Navy Club of America is to close its doors on Friday.

Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe, acting on a petition signed by Capt. W. C. Goslar, secretary and treasurer of the club, recently appointed the Irving Trust company to act as receiver for the club in voluntary bankruptcy.

The move was forced by the diminished revenue of the club, caused by the reduction of incomes of army and naval officers. Membership had declined by 500.

HAWAIIAN DAY BRINGS ROMANCE OF ISLES TO FAIR

Indiana to Share Honors at Exposition Today.

BY EARL MULLIN.

The romance and allure of soft moonlight nights on palm shaded beaches, the thrum of steel guitars and the muted roar of waves on the sand at Walkiki will be brought to the Fair today when Hawaii holds the spotlight with its feature program. Ten thousand leis, the necklace of flowers presented to guests when they land on the dreamy Pacific isles, will be given visitors.

The Hawaiian day ceremonies will center around the court of the Hall of States in the evening, with exhibits being open all day.

Hula Dancing in Evening.

Probably the most attractive feature from the standpoint of stay at home Americans will be the hula dance program in the evening. All variations of the dance, famed in song, poetry, and drama as the lure of the islands, will be presented free at 9 p. m. in the court of the Hall of States. Native music, beautiful Hawaiian girls and the breezes from Lake Michigan will present a ceremony which, with a little imagination, might be in a native setting.

Gary day also will be observed in honor of the "eastern gateway to the Fair," but the programs will not conflict. Practically all business houses in the Indiana city will be closed for the occasion and a general trek will be made to Chicago and the Exposition.

Expect Jump in Attendance.

The colorful program of the islands and the visit of the Indiana delegations is expected to attract an attendance that will again hit the record breaking figures of last week.

Attendance yesterday remained in keeping with that of the two preceding days, the final turnstile count at 11:30 p. m. showing slightly less than 85,000 paid admissions.

"Of course, we are somewhat disappointed with the showing of the past two days," Maj. L. R. Lohr, general manager, said, "but that is mainly because we were too pleased with the record breaking preceding days. We are still from five to ten thousand a day over our advance estimates, and with a few of our cool lake breezes the attendance will start to soar again."

Artistic and Scientific.

Yesterday's program at the Fair presented two major fields, artistic and scientific. In the morning science held the limelight with the ceremonies honoring Juan de la Cierva, inventor of the autogiro airplane. In the afternoon art held sway with the colorful program, A Day in Athens, in the court of the Horticultural building.

Approximately 3,000 engineers, army and navy officials, and representatives of the Fair gathered in Soldiers' field to see Cierva decorated with the Daniel Guggenheim medal, identifying him as one of the greatest contributors to the field of aeronautics.

Among the honor guests were Maj. Gen. Frank A. Parker, representing the army; Admiral Watt Cluverius of the Great Lakes Naval Training station; Harold F. Pitcairn, president of the Autogiro Company of America, and scores of prominent engineers.

Lands Autogiro on Field.

Cierva, with James G. Ray as pilot and Mr. Pitcairn as passenger, flew to the field in one of the autogiros in whose development he played such a large part. The plane, a small craft with a large roto permitting the landing in the restricted area, floated in over the south end of the field and made a landing within a ten foot square.

In the artistic part of the day's program the dances and hymns of classic Greece were featured at the Horticultural building. More than twenty girls and boys dressed in the flowing robes of Athens danced around the fountain in the garden and sang the songs of the time when the Greek capital was the seat of world culture.

BOY SWALLOWS SAFETY PIN.

Evansville, Ind., June 28.—[Special.]—Jack Van Hook, 13 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Van Hook, Evansville, swallowed a safety pin an inch and a half long today while his mother was dressing him. An X-ray examination at the St. Mary's hospital showed the pin, which was closed, lodged in the stomach.

SOCIAL REGISTER FINDS FAMILIES HOME DURING HOT WEATHER

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—The summer edition of the 1933 Social Register, now being distributed to its subscribers, shows that many families of social prominence are remaining in their city homes during the hot months. Last year showed a large decrease in the number closing their town residences, but this year the situation is even more marked.

Travel abroad also shows a marked decline. In 1930 a total of 1,350 families was listed as spending the summer abroad, but the number has decreased steadily in three years and the figure this year is 824.

The seashore resorts are not faring badly, as 5,565 families are spending the summer there, compared with 5,652 last year. Two years ago, however, the figure was 6,183.

There is a small decrease in the ownership of yachts. Listed alphabetically are 1,251 yachts, as against 1,362 in 1931 and 1,303 last year.

BLAMES EMPTY CHURCHES ON THE HARD SEATS

One reason why many church pews are empty on Sundays is because the seats are hard, according to V. L. Wills, president of the American Seating company of Grand Rapids. Mr. Wills gave this reason yesterday at a meeting of the public seating group of the trade practice conference in session at the Palmer house. The group, composed of 35 members, is drafting a trade code.

The old-fashioned pew, Mr. Wills said, is being replaced in many churches and synagogues by individual seats, well upholstered. The objection raised against individual seats by architects is that they do not conform to the demands of Gothic architecture. This objection, Mr. Wills said, is being overcome by the erection of churches of modern design.

2 WOMEN LEAD POSSE AND SEIZE FLEEING BURGLAR

When Miss Margaret Dietsch found a prowler in her room at 10124 Normal avenue early yesterday she slipped out and awakened a neighbor, Mrs. Esther Johnson, 10122 Normal avenue. Their screams routed the burglar. The women followed him until an impromptu posse consisting of a milkman, an insurance agent, a peddler, and several other possersby cornered the man at 101st street and Eggleston avenue. He said he was Joseph George, 54 years old, of Detroit, who had come to Chicago in the hope of getting work at the World's Fair. He had several pieces of jewelry which he had taken from Miss Dietsch's home.

A TRIP BY BOAT PRESENTS FAIR IN RARE SETTING

Water Transportation Gains Rapidly.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Transportation to A Century of Progress by boat is becoming increasingly popular, a partial survey of lines carrying passengers to and from the Fair grounds indicated yesterday. New lines have started business, others have been revived, and still others have added new equipment, it was found.

Half a dozen or more lake steamers and more than 40 speed boats, with numerous small cruisers, are operating commercially to and from the World's Fair.

It is more expensive than some other forms of transportation, but has the advantages of providing a cool entry and exit to the Exposition, giving the thrill of lake travel to many visitors from inland states and of showing off A Century of Progress in its most beautiful setting, the crisp blue waters of Lake Michigan.

Two Landings at Fair.

Motor speed boat transportation to a dock almost two blocks from the 12th street gate, or to the 23d street lagoon bridge, the heart of the Exposition grounds, is available from as far north as the Edgewater Beach hotel.

A boat trip to the Fair disclosed that the landing northwest of the Shedd aquarium, known as the 12th street dock, is inadequate. The boat patronized on the survey was one operating for 25 cents from the Chicago river. It advertised it took passengers "to the World's Fair." It was an old launch with a peacefully chugging motor over which an attendant stood, oil can in hand, during much of the 17 minute journey.

Passengers were nine, including two from Minnesota, two from Michigan, one from Kentucky, and one from Arkansas. They exclaimed over the beauty of the lake. When they landed they discovered they were still some distance from the 12th street gate. They were compelled to plod through dust and stones up an incline, over the new narrow gauge railway tracks and on to the fate.

Get Temporary Permit.

Boat lines using this dock are operating under temporary permits granted by the south park board, a boat line official explained. He admitted the inadequacy of the dock, but said they were not entitled to build one. Speed motor boat service to the 12th street dock is regularly 50 cents from the Navy pier and the Chicago river.

Two docks are on opposite sides of the lagoon at 23d street. Both are controlled as concessions of the Exposition, the Columbian Transportation company having the exclusive concession rights to the 23d street dock on Northerly island near the Blue Ribbon casino.

The transportation company in turn grants docking privileges at 23d street to other boat lines. A speed boat was taken from Navy pier to there, a 7 minute trip for $1. The boat landed between the Sorlandet, Norwegian training ship, and the fishing schooner Bluenose.

Streets of Paris Dock.

Across the lagoon is the Streets of Paris dock, which is operated exclusively by the Chris-Craft Water Transit, Inc., whose speed boats and express cruisers run between the Wrigley building and the Exposition. According to M. R. Roberts, director, fifteen boats, including two 20 passenger cruisers and 13 motor speed boats, are in this service. Running time is 12 minutes to the Streets of Paris at $1 charge, and 8 minutes to the 12th street dock, at a cost of 50 cents.

The Columbian Transportation system, headed by W. H. Cochrane, operates four lake steamers and 24 speed boats, including those of the companies granted docking privileges at 23d street.

From the Edgewater Beach hotel to the dock, or from 23d street to the Edgewater Beach landing, costs $1.50. It is a 17 minute run. From a landing at Oak street near the Drake hotel to 23d street costs $1.25, a nine minute run, and to 12th street, a 7 minute run, costs 75 cents.

South shore residents and visitors are taking sightseeing trips from a dock just east of the Flamingo hotel, 5520 South Shore drive, alone the shore line of the Exposition grounds and back for $1, a half hour ride. Speedboats will operate from this dock to the 31st street dock at the Fair beginning some time this week, it was said.

500 WAR VETS JOIN WOODS ARMY HERE IN 3 DAYS

More than 500 world war veterans have reported at the United States court building here in the last three days and have been enrolled in the civilian conservation corps, or forest army. All except a few, who were rejected as physically unable to stand the work in camp, have been sent to Camp Custer or to Jefferson barracks. Early in July 3,125 men, all veterans of the world war, will have been enrolled in the corps from Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin. The mobilization work is in charge of the Sixth corps army area organization, but the veterans are all certified by the veterans' administration, which was designated by the President to select the candidates.

Practically all the recruits enrolled before Monday are now in work camps. There are 124 such camps in Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Others have been sent to the Washington and Oregon woods.

FAIR FIRES U. S. WITH OPTIMISM, EDUCATOR SAYS

Dr. Karl T. Compton Talks on Engineers' Day.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

An evaluation of A Century of Progress Exposition, as to its effect on Chicago and the national psychology and the prophecy for the future which it symbolizes, was given last night at engineers' day banquet at the Hotel Stevens by Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

It has created, he finds, "a psychology of satisfaction, optimism, and ambition." Its most significant feature is to show the interdependence of people and the tremendous new powers and opportunities that they have gained by scientific research and development.

"I think," President Compton said, "that some millions of people will go away from Chicago to spread the gospel of a beautiful, pure, prosperous city, evidently turning over a new leaf on its hundredth birthday.

Called a "Wonder of World."

"The consummation of the plans for the Fair, carried out in the very depths of the worst economic depression of recent history, deserves to be classed with the 'seven wonders of the world.' Beneath and back of its bewildering display of the principles and applications of science, to the accompaniment of amusement and modernistic art, and back of the evident desire of some millions of people to spend time and money to visit this Exposition is a great phenomenon, and every phenomenon has a meaning.

"While A Century of Progress Exposition has innumerable aspects, four appear to me to be fundamentally significant. In order of importance they are: [1] It is good publicity and business for the city of Chicago; [2] it is a monument to the world's most striking achievements of the past century; [3] it is an immense educational enterprise, exposing and interpreting the new aspects of our environment and life which have arisen so rapidly from the applications of science; [4] most important of all, it symbolizes a phophecy for the future.

"Can Stand Favorable Publicity."

"It is not invidious to remark that Chicago can stand some favorable publicity. It has had a reputation of smoke and dirt, as immortalized by O. Henry when he wrote that he was born in Chicago, but first saw the light of day five years later in New York. It is a city of racketeers and and gangsters. An engineer whose name you would all recognize, came to Chicago several years ago to superintend the installation of a new type of underground high voltage cable. Just as he emerged from a man hole, at the completion of his work, a couple of automobiles went racing past to the accompaniment of machine gun fire.

"A few months ago the banks of Chicago were stormed by school teachers, desperate for their pay. There is reputed to be some occasional graft in Chicago, though this must be at the expense of racketeers and not by misappropriation of tax money, because, from what we hear, people don't pay taxes in Chicago.

Sees No Shootings or Riots.

"All this and more is the popular conception of Chicago. But what do we find when we come here? There is no greater concentration of smoke in the city than we manufacture for our own comfort in this room. I have walked miles of street by day and night and have not seen a single person shot, literally or figuratively.

"There seem to be no riots of school teachers, though this may be because it is vacation time—or more probably because by this time they are too undernourished and underclothed to be able to appear on the streets. And as to taxes, you and I and others like us are scattering a lot of money around the hotels and stores of Chicago, and this ought to help.

"The urge to erect monuments to our achievements appears to be one of man's most deeply enrooted instincts. It is partly an innocuous expression of pride, and partly an expression of the teaching instinct, the inherent desire to show and tell others. Perhaps it may also reflect man's instinctive desire for immortality.

Chief Advance Is Scientific.

"But what achievements have we to celebrate? Without doubt the outstanding progress of the last century has been in science and its applications to human welfare. It is true that art, literature, religion, philosophy have also changed, but these changes have been of a smaller order of magnitude and have for the most part been simply a reflection of the increasing knowledge of science and the development of its applications.

"The Exposition will have a far reaching effect on education. Those of us who have specialized in science or practice engineering have some understanding of what science has done to our life and environment, but the averarage citizen takes most of these things more or less as a matter of course.

"Hundreds of thousands of thoughtful people who have believed themselves reasonably well educated are going to receive a mental shock when they see, spread out before them, hundreds of things which affect their lives most intimately, but which they do not understand and never before realized. Therefore, I believe that this Exposition will increase interest in and demand for education in pure and applied science.

Calls Scientific Education Best.

"I venture to assert that no other branch of learning can compare with science in its educational value. It is the best of all disciplines, since it requires logical, straight forward thinking in which all conclusions can be checked. It offers scope for the imagination, limited only by truth. Bluff, loose thinking, dishonesty, can get nowhere in science.

"Modern engineering developments have created new and tremendous bonds between people. All these major items of progress which are exhibited at A Century of Progress have the effect of making people more interdependent. They are interdependent for food, clothing, education, ideas, and, in fact, practically all their activities. They have thereby lost many of their individual degrees of freedom, but have gained tremendous new powers and opportunities. This, I believe, is by far the most significant feature of A Century of Progress. It is a feature which is as yet inadequately realized.

Lesson for Mankind to Learn.

"Many individuals, industrial groups and nations are still trying to live like free atoms when they are really parts of a great organism. I take it that the great problem of mankind is to learn how to surrender antiquated degrees of freedom and how best to use the new powers and opportunities which come from coöperation. Since the engineers have largely created this problem, it is largely up to them to lead in its solution.

"We have recently suffered and still suffer from the mixture of unrestricted competition and unwisely restricted combination. What is the way out? It must be by some form of coöperation in which the interests of the public will be paramount, but which will still leave room and incentive for individual enterprises, without which future progress would be suppressed.

"From every angle of approach, the survey of recent progress leads to a definite conclusion. We are entering an age in which the conditions for success will be intelligent planning, based on research and general coöperation in such planned economy. Research and coöperation are the key ideas.

"I think that there is every reason for optimism. There are plenty of interesting things to be done in the world. This Century of Progress Exposition has concentrated attention on many of them. I think that we should view the future seriously, but that we have reason to look forward confidently."

Mother of 11 Attends.

Edward J. Mehren, president of the Portland Cement company, was another speaker. Among the guests was Mrs. Lillian M. Gilbreth, Montclair, N. J., famous as a consulting engineer and last year the only woman delegate to the world engineering congress in Tokio. She is the mother of eleven children.

Nine veteran engineers, two of them more than 80 years old, who aided in forming the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education 40 years ago, during the World's Columbian Exposition, were presented with certificates of honor for their service to the organization. One is Arthur N. Talbot of Urbana, Ill., 76 years old, who has been associated with major engineering projects in Illinois for many years.

ASSERTS DEPRESSION GIVES NATION A NEW ECONOMIC BASIC LAW

The economic depression has taught the people of the United States a new economic philosophy which recognizes the interdependence of individuals, cities, states, and nations. Proof of the recognition of this new philosophy is contained in the "drafting of a new economic constitution of the century in Washington."

Thus Prof. Wesley C. Mitchell of Columbia university, economist and chairman of the American Association for the Advancement of Science committee on the social trend, summarized the present situation in an address in the theater of International house at the University of Chicago last evening.

"I do not believe it possible that this country will return to the old system of individual initiative," said Prof. Mitchell. "In the past this country has believed that every individual should know best how his labor and initiative should be used. Who, however, will assert that the millions of wage earners who have lost their jobs came to failure through defects of intelligence of character?

"The solution of the problem is the use of initiative—not singly, but by coöperation among groups of men. We have believed in economic planning for the household and for business enterprises, now we are opening into new fields nationwide."

SCIENTISTS HEAR CON MAN TELL HOW HE WORKS

Here for Summer, Finds "Business" Good.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

There's nothing like going to the source for your scientific facts. So the peak of the program of round table discussions of eminent sociologists gathered yesterday in Burton court of the University of Chicago, centered in one "Frank Smith," professional thief and swindler who took the lecture platform for an exposition of his craft.

The thief, neatly dressed in an inconspicuous gray suit is known as one of the slickest "grifters" in the business. The scientists learned that his irreproachable English and his congenial manner were his stock in trade as a con man.

He Finds Business Good.

"Smith" announced blandly that he had expected to ply his trade on the World's Fair grounds, and despite the fact that he had found that impossible, business was good. His one defensive remark in this connection was that "no honest man is ever the victim of a con game."

Criminologists in the group declared that "Smith" had every indication of being genuinely what he claimed. He made the appearance, he said, at the request of one of the members to whom he was indebted for a past favor.

"I came here from the east with two colleagues to spend the summer during the Fair," said Smith. "Most of my business is essentially the confidence game, with very little 'cannon.' That term refers to a pickpocket. I might explain the derivation—it seems to have come from the Jewish word ganoph, meaning a thief, from which it was shortened, to 'gun,' and then changed to 'cannon.'

How Thieves Get Started.

"Somebody has asked whether thieves begin their careers in the main as juvenile delinquents. My experience would indicate that no professional thief ever deliberately sets out to become one. That he drifts into it not from juvenile delinquency, but from association with thieves—first going along as a spectator, then trying it himself, and getting the habit. I really believe there is more deliberate decision to turn thief among housewives who do shoplifting than among professionals like myself."

"Smith" intimated that he is a fugitive from justice because of having jumped a bond, but declared he felt no uneasiness because "they don't come after you, it's only when you go back that they dig it up." He was convicted in Chicago once on a grand larceny charge, but won probation, he said.

"Plenty of professional thieves have families but prefer to keep them separate from their business," declared "Smith." "I know one man, for instance, who has a daughter who was graduated last week from Vassar."

GARAGE OWNER GETS 2 YEARS IN FEDERAL PRISON

Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick yesterday sentenced Gunner A. Sandblom, operator of a machinery and garage business and a saloon at Dundee, Ill., to two years in the penitentiary at Leavenworth on charges of conspiracy to operate two large stills. Judge Slick said he was convinced that Sandblom perjured himself in denying any connection with the stills and for that reason imposed the maximum penalty.

The evidence, presented by Prosecutor Daniel Anderson, showed that Sandblom brought Italian still operators from Chicago to set up and operate stills on the farms of Henry and Elmer Rudsinski, near Dundee. Elmer was sentenced to 60 days and Henry was fined $200. Walter Rudsinski, on whose farm the corn sugar was stored, was fined $100. Eight other defendants received fines.

The case was heard without a jury by Judge Slick.

STATE TO CLOSE TODAY IN CARL MURDER TRIAL

CRIMINAL COURT.

John Bindell, robbery, sentenced to one year in the Bridewell by Judge Joseph Rudolph Desort.

The prosecution is expected to close its case today against John Milosic, 50 years old, and Ivan Grilec, 39 years old, who are on trial in Judge Michael Feinberg's Criminal court on charges of slaying George Carl, grocer at 2511 South Crawford avenue. The defendants and Carl's widow, Vera, are charged with plotting the murder to collect $15,000 insurance money. Mrs. Carl is to be tried later.

Edward Veselka, 3133 South Lawndale avenue, a co-defendant who turned state's evidence, was the prosecution witness yesterday. He said that Milosic offered him $500 to commit the murder. Veselka said he introduced Milosic to Joseph Fess, 27 years old, who finally did the killing. Fess testified for the state Tuesday.

Aviatrix Has a Narrow Escape in Plane Crash

Friends learned yesterday of the narrow escape from death of Miss Opal [Mickey] Laster, 25 years old, 1418 South Keeler avenue, a licensed airplane pilot. She was flying over Stinson airport, near La Grange, on Sunday afternoon when, at a height of 750 feet, the ship went into a tailspin. Just before crashing Miss Laster pulled the plane into a flat spin, shut off the motor, and the ship struck on one wing and the landing gear. She was only shaken and bruised, but the ship was badly damaged.

Copyright, 1933, The American Tobacco Company.

To my brothers . . . I owe the pleasure of smoking Luckies

When I first had a desire to smoke, I knew exactly where to start. You see, for years I had heard all the men in the family saying "Luckies Please". They said it was "Toasting" that made Luckies so good. I've never questioned the reason—because I have always found Luckies so fragrant, so mild—and (perhaps a man will smile at this) so pure to my lips! I can smoke lots and lots of them and still find them refreshing to the taste. Now I'm telling my brothers "Luckies Please", and each of them says, "You're telling me?"

HUMPHRIES QUIZ WITNESS CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Luxurious Flat of Public Enemy No. 1 Found.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday ordered Frank E. O'Hara, secretary and treasurer of the Meadowmoor dairies, to show cause tomorrow why he should not be held in contempt of court for his refusal to answer questions before the federal grand jury. The rule was issued after O'Hara had defied a court order directing him to testify concerning the interest of Murray Humphries, public enemy No. 1, in the dairy concern.

The contempt order grew out of the grand jury investigation that continued after the indictment of Humphries, successor to Al Capone as head of booze, gambling, and labor rackets, for alleged attempts to evade income tax payments. The grand jurors, taken into the court of Judge Wilkerson by United States Attorney Green and his assistant, Leslie E. Salter, presented a petition asking that O'Hara be directed to testify.

Keeps Silent on Seven Questions.

O'Hara, the petition said, had refused to answer seven questions on the grounds that to do so might incriminate him. The questions were listed in the petition as follows:

1. How many times have you seen Humphries on the premises of the dairy?
2. What financial interest did Humphries have in the dairy?
3. How long have you been personally acquainted with Humphries?
4. How much money did Humphries give you for investment in the Meadowmoor dairies?
5. How many times have you talked to Humphries over the telephone?
6. These notes that you claim to have given Morris Gordon for money you say he loaned you—weren't they written up after your first appearance before this grand jury?
7. Isn't it a fact that your entire testimony concerning the connection of Humphries with the dairy has been false?

After reading the questions and commenting that "it did not appear that answers would incriminate the witness," Judge Wilkerson directed O'Hara to answer. The grand jurors returned to the investigation, but returned to report that O'Hara still refused to answer. Judge Wilkerson entered the contempt rule and denied a defense request for a 10 days continuance.

Judge Calls Refusal Absurd.

"I see no reason why the witness refuses to answer these questions," Judge Wilkerson said. "His refusal to answer the first question, for instance, seems to be not only contempt of court, but utterly absurd." In the second appearance before Judge Wilkerson the grand jury had waived the seventh question.

Meanwhile search for Humphries was continued by Chicago police, who located his richly furnished apartment at 2100 East 72d place, only to find that Humphries had left three weeks ago.

Andrew O'Donnell, landlord, who said that he did not know the identity of his tenant until he saw Humphries' picture in the newspaper on Tuesday, was questioned by police and released from custody yesterday afternoon.

Calls Humphries Model Tenant.

"He was a model tenant," O'Donnell said. "The only thing he ever did was to drop beer bottles down the garbage incinerator. He rented the apartment a year ago under the name of Jack Harris and said he was in the automobile finance business."

Sergt. James Keely, who led the raid on the 14 room apartment, expressed admiration for the luxurious furnishings.

"Art," he said, "all over. Inlaid furniture, oriental rugs and everything fine throughout the place. Humphries had red bathrooms and a separate bedroom for his chow dog."

Police discovered a rifle range in the basement, but Landlord O'Donnell said that Humphries had never visited the range. It was used by the children in the building, O'Donnell said.

BOY IS DROWNED

JAMES WILLITS.

A throng of bathers at the Belmont avenue beach looked on yesterday while a fire department rescue squad under Lieut. Richard Cull made a vain 45 minute fight to revive a drowned boy.

The boy, James Willits, 13 years old, 557 Briar place, had gone swimming with several companions. They saw him sink and summoned a life guard, who recovered the body within a short time.

While several hundred spectators gathered around them, the members of the rescue squad laid the boy on the beach and worked over him for three-quarters of an hour with an inhalator, without being able to restore any sign of life.

The Willits boy was the son of Dr. James Willits, a physician who died about a year ago. The boy's sister, Amelia, 11 years old, was a witness to the tragedy.

$15,000,000 PLAN ADOPTED TO HELP 100,000 STUDENTS

The American Alumni council, meeting at the North Shore hotel in Evanston, yesterday voted to establish a credit organization that will provide $15,000,000 in loan funds to enable 100,000 needy students to return to college next fall. The resolution called for organization of the American Students Credit union, a corporation, which is to be empowered to borrow money from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which has endorsed the plan.

Spokesmen for the resolution said that the union would be self-liquidating as the students will be required to sign notes for the money. Past loans to needy students has proved, speakers said, that notes are paid almost 100 per cent.

"GREAT SCOT! IF IT ISN'T TIME FOR BOND'S HALF-YEARLY SALE OF 2 TROUSER SUITS"

IT STARTS TODAY —with 3 healthy price-cuts

Cut I — our two trouser suits up to $25

"Why run a sale now, when prices are going up", asks one of our staff. "Save these suits, they'll be worth more in the Fall"... Sound advice, that—but decidedly against our fixed policy that "this season's suits must be sold this season". So a SALE it shall be—with a heap of good round dollars cut off everything (except staples). Even our double-woven Camerons, and new middle-weight Carolina Worsteds are included. Suits you can wear now—wear all summer—and wear next Fall.

No Charge for Alterations

Cut 2 — our two trouser suits up to $30

Here's where the blue pencil has done a vigorous job! Savings up to $7.15 are nothing to sneeze at, these up-and-up days—particularly when they apply to the "cream" of our custom-grade suits. Plenty of keen new Silver Greys, plaids, and chalk stripes for the wise men who get here early!

Cut 3 — our two trouser suits up to $35

Do you admire that expensive "made-for-me" look in a suit of clothes? And has it been just a bit too costly for your pocketbook? Well, hop to it! Here's your chance to indulge—at one whale of a saving.

Our Ten Payment Plan is more convenient than a charge account —because you pay only a little at a time! Use it during this Sale. Pay $5 at purchase, the balance in ten budget payments!

HITLER TO MEET HINDENBURG ON CABINET CHANGE

President Halts Action on Hugenberg.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 28.—President Paul von Hindenburg tonight delayed announcement of his decision on acceptance or rejection of the resignation of Alfred Hugenberg, Nationalist party leader, as minister of economics and agriculture. The resignation was officially confirmed yesterday coincident with the voluntary dissolution of the entire Nationalist organization, which had long advocated restoration of the German monarchy.

In political circles it is believed that the president will delay his action on Hugenberg until after he has conferred with Chancellor Adolf Hitler. The Nazi leader will fly to Neudeck, East Prussia, to see Von Hindenburg some time this week, probably tomorrow.

Wishes Assurance.

The president, it appears, wishes to have Hitler's assurance that the cabinet posts vacated by Hugenberg will be filled to his satisfaction before he finally drops the Nationalist chief.

In this connection it is pointed out that the chancellor is technically responsible to Von Hindenburg, despite his otherwise unchallenged supremacy in the nation, and that Hugenberg and other non-Nazi cabinet members were named to constitute a check to unlimited power by Hitler.

With the Communist, Socialist, Nationalist and State parties suppressed by or absorbed into the Nazi movement, the Catholic Center party remains now the last obstacle to fulfillment of the Nazi dream for a single party in Germany. Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's minister of propaganda, in a speech today asserted that the Centrists "would be well advised if they pulled down their shutters."

Centrists Warned.

He warned the Centrists that the government "will not much longer tolerate the Centrist experiments. If they do not dissolve voluntarily we will dissolve them."

Definite action against the Centrists, however, is likely to be deferred until after Vice Chancellor von Papen has concluded negotiations with Vatican authorities for a new reich concordat to replace those existing at present with the individual German states. Von Papen arrived in Rome today.

The draft of a bill for sterilization of the unfit was submitted to the first meeting of the council of experts on racial questions by Wilhelm Frick, home minister, today. He said it is the duty of the state to prevent transmission of hereditary ailments.

Frick warned that racial intermarriages are responsible for mental and moral degeneration. He blamed excessive education and excessive participation in sports equally as hindrancves to women for marriage.

Today was the 14th anniversary of the signing of the Versailles treaty, and the Nazis made it a day of mourning. Flags flew at half staff throughout the nation. Church services and school exercises were held. The protestations were concluded with an attack on the treaty by Alfred Rosenberg, the Nazi party's foreign affairs chief, at a demonstration tonight at the Kroll Opera house.

Another Austrian Bombing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, June 28.—Another bombing, believed to be a continuation of the political warfare between the Nazis and the government in Austria, tore up a section of the Vienna-Baden suburban track today. Two other bombs placed on railways near Vienna were removed unexploded.

Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss will go to Innsbruck tomorrow to speak. All automobiles in that neighborhood are being searched for arms. Heimwehr guards are traveling on the trains, others will serve as bodyguards for the chancellor.

MONKEY SUES FOR WAGES IN FRENCH WORKERS' COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 28.—Pierrot, one of the most noted movie actors in France, has a high artistic sense and considerable professional pride, not to mention a perfectly honorable desire to be paid when hired to do a picture. That is why he is appearing in the industrial arbitration court tomorrow to sue a film director.

Although only three years old Pierrot is a finished actor and was highly insulted to find himself fired out of a picture a few weeks ago through what he insists was no fault of his own. He will not plead his own case since his talents do not run in that direction but he will ably back up Maitre Jean Schwab, his manager.

Had to Throw Cocoanuts.

Pierrot is only a chimpanzee, but as a movie actor he has a perfect right to take his grievances to court. He was hired during the making of a film at St. Tropez to climb a cocoanut palm and throw down cocoanuts, a job which was right down his alley.

But it was discovered there were no cocoanut trees on the set so one was improvised and cocoanuts were tied to it. Pierrot was indignant at the idea but was persuaded to go through with it. Upon climbing up, however, he got into difficulties since the bark was scaled and Pierrot could not get a grip. He found himself lying on the ground considerably bruised.

Takes a Second Fall.

When Pierrot did reach the top, the branches began to collapse since they were apparently rotten and Pierrot found himself flat on his back on the ground again.

The director fired him as a poor excuse for a chimpanzee. Now Pierrot, still suffering from bruises, is going to court to show his injuries and demand the payment of $75 due him. Maitre Schwab will point out that it was the director's fault for expecting Pierrot to work with such poor props.

DELAY OUTLAW UNION INJUNCTION PLEA TO JULY 6

Judge John P. McGoorty yesterday continued to July 6 the hearing in the Superior court on the petition of the Chicago Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers union, the so-called outlaw union affiliated with the T-N-T racketeers in the teaming business, for an injunction against Mayor Kelly, State's Attorney Courtney, and Police Commissioner Allman.

The union officers charge that the officials are attempting to force members of their union to desert it and take out memberships in teamsters' unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and have prevented the union from holding meetings. Judge McGoorty asked Assistant State's Attorney A. O. Lightfoot if authorities would allow the union to hold meetings pending hearing on the injunction.

"They can hold them, but we'll have men there," said Lightfoot. "We certainly will not stop our criminal prosecutions."

Orders Streets Sprinkled to Cool Congested Areas

Mayor Kelly yesterday ordered firemen to sprinkle streets in the congested districts of the city on hot days between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30 p. m. in an effort to give residents relief from the heat.

DOG RACING BILL LOBBYIST FACING BRIBERY CHARGE

Gov. Horner Is Urged to Veto Measure.

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Opponents of the bill designed to permit dog racing in Illinois were informed today that one of the principal lobbyists for the measure is under indictment on a charge of attempting to bribe a judge to issue an injunction protecting a greyhound track near East St. Louis.

The bill has been passed by both houses, but still lacks the signature of Gov. Horner, who has stated it was not an administration project.

Louis Wilder, president of the Madison Kennel club of Collinsville, Ill., is the lobbyist. Two weeks ago he came to Springfield with J. H. Ellis, operator of the Thornton track in the southern part of Cook county, and Edward J. O'Hare of the Hawthorne dog track in Cicero, to work for the law.

Indictment 14 Months Old.

During an interlude in his activities Wilder surrendered in East St. Louis on the bribery indictment and was released on $20,000 bonds. The indictment is 14 months old.

It is alleged that Wilder, whose track serves St. Louis and East St. Louis patrons, went to an attorney in 1931 and solicited his aid in making Judge Henry G. Miller of East St. Louis an offer of $25,000 to issue an injunction restraining authorities from stopping the dog races.

Judge Miller exposed the bribe proposal. Although Judge Jesse R. Brown of Alton issued an injunction similar to the one sought by Wilder, the track was closed after a few days through the efforts of Judge Miller and Judge Louis Bernreuter of Nashville. These judges, who engaged in a bitter dispute with Judge Brown, are Republicans who have been displaced by Democrats. Judge Brown also has been defeated.

Bill Hurried Through House.

Wilder waited until the retirement of Judge Miller before surrendering on the indictment.

A dog racing bill was hurried through the house on June 21 almost without debate. Yesterday the senate passed it with only one negative vote. The Chicago church federation and other bodies have requested the governor to veto the legislation.

Shotgun Bandits Hold Up Visitors to World's Fair

Three bandits, the leader armed with a sawed off shotgun, took $58 and jewelry valued at $175 in robberies early yesterday of two parties of visitors to the Fair. The automobile in which Mr. and Mrs. Chester Knorr and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wiegell of St. Joseph, Mich., was riding was halted at Washtenaw and Ogden avenues by the bandits. William Van Bergen and family of Minneapolis, were robbed as they rode in the 1800 block on Washington boulevard.

LAW DELIVERS DOUBLE BLOW AT HOODLUM RANKS

The campaign against labor racketeers and other hoodlums swung into action on two fronts yesterday. First, special police squads nabbed Joe Fusco, ex-superintendent of the Capone breweries, and Jim Belcastro, so-called king of the bombers. Then State's Attorney Courtney promised protection for fifteen successful bidders for state work against racketeer interference.

Fusco was seized in front of the Drexel Products company, 4258 Drexel avenue, by Sergt. Thomas Curtin, head of one of the five special anti-hoodlum squads named by Commissioner Allman on Tuesday. With Fusco were Barney Becker, 9348 Prairie avenue, and James Sterling Jr., 514 West 22d street. Fusco gave his address as 7342 Prairie avenue.

At the detective bureau Fusco told Chief of Detectives Schoemaker that he is "the proprietor" of the Drexel Products company. This company distributes beer from a brewery formerly operated by Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake. Becker and Sterling, he said, were salesmen. The chief ordered the three held "until they file a writ," as part of the recently inaugurated campaign to harass hoodlums.

Belcastro was nabbed by Sergt. Charles McMullen's squad, and taken to the detective bureau, where his alleged chief lieutenant, James Catuara, had been taken earlier. He will be held "for a writ," too.

Meanwhile State's Attorney Courtney was promising protection to the fifteen contractors who had gathered in his office. He told them that a finish fight against labor racketeers had been launched, and warned them not to employ the outlaws. Protection, he assured, would be "continuous and complete." The contractors agreed not to work with hoodlums. They have all won awards for work in Chicago. Courtney mentioned that the shooting on Monday night of Henry Berger, an organizer for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, may have been a warning to contractors.

SUPER BLOW-OUT SAFETY

As developers and builders of quality tires for 39 years, we describe the new Kelly-Springfield Fatigue-proofs as the safest tires ever made—against skids, against blow-outs, against wear.

Super Non-skid. We completely redesigned tire treads, making the New Registered Fatigue-proofs 95% more non-skid than the next best leading make.

Super Non-skid Mileage. We developed Vitalized Rubber, a new rubber for treads that gives a never-before-known heat and wear resistance. For still longer wear, we made the treads bigger, deeper and thicker.

Super Blow-out Safety. We developed gum-inforced plies—plies impregnated under tons of pressure with pure rubber compounds—plies almost indestructible and blow-out-proof. We discovered a new kind of cotton, "Corkscrew," that greatly increases tire stamina, safety and indestructibility. We reject from Fatigue-proofs all of the four cheaper, inferior grades of rubber used in the manufacture of ordinary tires.

"You can't skid them." "Absolutely silent." "Wonderful riding." "They seem to last forever." "And absolutely safe."

That is the kind of news that is spreading all over the country about these new tires. Don't spend another dollar for tires until you know the facts about the new Fatigue-proofs. You will insist on them when you learn how Kelly-Springfields are fortified for your protection. They are priced the same as ordinary tires.

PARADE TO TELL EPIC STORY OF TRANSPORTATION

Pageant Tomorrow to Be Air Race Prelude.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Behold a century of progress in transportation, from the prairie schooner behind its plodding oxen, the stage coach, the buckboard, the pony express, the old horse car, the first railroad train out of Chicago, to the fastest airplanes today that ride the winds at 300 miles an hour.

An impressive street spectacle telling this story in faithful detail has been prepared for Chicago and its visitors tomorrow morning, as a prelude to THE TRIBUNE's American Air Races which are to open on Saturday at the Chicago airport for four days of high speed competition, exhibition flying and parachute races.

Parade on Michigan Avenue.

The parade will start at noon from Chicago avenue and march down Michigan avenue to Eleventh street. It will show the development of man's will to conquer space, as the air races will show how progress in airplane flying is maintained through experiment, testing and daring. It was not a leap from crawling to flying, but a slow, scientific trial and error method. The wings of the morning were in man's mind, but the implementing has been a long and dangerous process, and continues so, for there remains the dream of flying in a bullet machine through the stratosphere, even the rocket flight to Mars.

Back to the old days and the dusty attics and barns for this parade. It touches in its march the story of America itself, the mighty movement of a people westward. The Indians will be there, the covered wagons which formed a circular fort with watchfires every night, the cowboys, the pack mules that took men to the gold camps, the tallyho that took them to the races at Washington Park, the bicycle of the tall and wobbly kind, the buggy that served for a Sunday afternoon ride with one's best girl.

Plenty of Bands.

There will be floats and bands, elephants, circus riders, and cowgirls, more than 60 features that should touch the memory of the middle aged and thrill the heart of youth. Many of the features have been furnished by the Wings of a Century show at the Exposition, the 101 ranch and the '49 miners' camp. The Indian band from the miners' camp will march, also the Board of Trade band, the Victor Grabel band, Jack Bramhall and his band, Woodlawn post of the American Legion, the Black Horse Troop band, the Sixth Infantry band, and the Third Field Artillery band of the United States army, the Stockyards American Legion Kilties, and the Medill Post American Legion drum and bugle corps.

One of the features of the parade will be the queen of A Century of Progress, Miss Lillian Anderson, who has also been named queen of the American Air Races. She will be accompanied by her ladies in waiting, Miss Lorraine Nevins and Miss Ruth Joyce Hardie.

Noted Pilots to Be There.

America's most daring air pilots who will take part in the races will ride near the head of the parade, escorted by Troop A, 14th United States cavalry. The grand marshal will be Col. O. L. Brunzell, 3d field artillery, commander of Camp Whistler, at A Century of Progress grounds. Capt. Maxwell Corpening, president of the American Air Race corporation, will be first assistant marshal. Capt. David Flynn of the city police, Capt. Timothy Howard of the south park police, and Capt. James U. Sammis of the Lincoln park police will be assistant marshals.

The epic of transportation will begin with Phidippides, famous runner of ancient Greece, who brought to Athens the news of the defeat of the Persians. This character will be taken by Michael Loomis, 23 years old, a Y. M. C. A. athlete and of Greek parentage. From then on for an hour the story will unfold before the spectators along the boulevard tomorrow. At the end of the column the Howard racing plane, Pete, will appear on a float.

STICKNEY'S TWO SETS OF OFFICERS FIGHT FOR RULE

The village of Stickney is in a state of civic conflict with two rival police departments, two treasurers, two collectors, two supervisors, two auditors, two attorneys, and two groups of rulers. As a result no official business can be transacted.

One group of rulers is led by the duly elected village president, William Loeffler. With him are two trustees, John Denemark and Charles Hadac. The other group is led, it is said, by Louis Kratochvil, the town clerk, and includes Trustees John Matuczyk, Frank Doneske, Frank Straka, and Frank Kohout.

President Loeffler has appointed Charles Novotny as police chief and Raymond Young as police lieutenant. The opposition group has named James Kassel as chief and Anton Rath as policeman.

"Chief Novotny and Lieut. Young are the legitimate members of the police department," said President Loeffler. "The other men operating as policemen have no right to make arrests."

A showdown on the two police departments is scheduled for tomorrow before Judge George Fred Rush, when the opposition group will seek to question the status of the Loeffler police force in an application for a court process.

DRUGGIST SHOT IN GUN BATTLE WITH 2 ROBBERS

Earl Hostetter, 45 years old, was seriously wounded late last night when he resisted robbery by two men who entered his drug store at 4058 Belmont avenue.

The bandits, leaving two companions in an automobile outside, ran into the store and demanded that Hostetter raise his hands. Instead of complying he seized a shotgun and fired. He missed and the two robbers returned the fire. A bullet struck Hostetter in the abdomen. He fell and the whole bandit crew fled. At the Belmont hospital it was said the condition of the druggist was critical.

The robbers, from the descriptions furnished the police, were the same who held up Helen Kirk's barbecue stand at 3957 Lawrence avenue and Mrs. Emily Hoerling's delicatessen at 2639 Orchard street a short time earlier. In the two robberies they obtained $15.

26 ARE INDICTED FOR FLOGGINGS IN MINE WAR

West Frankfort, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Twenty-six West Frankfort and Orient miners including Fern Evett, president of sub-district nine, U. M. W. of A., were indicted today by the Franklin county grand jury at Benton on charges of assault with deadly weapons, as the result of an investigation into charges of violence by members of the Progressive union leaders.

The assaults are alleged to have taken place several weeks ago when Progressives claim several groups of men entered the homes of sympathizers of the Progressive union and administered beatings.

GUNMEN HOLD UP DRUG STORE.

Two gunmen took $150 in a robbery of the Walgreen Drug store at 5900 South Halsted street after forcing the manager, Irving Hyman, a porter and two customers to lie on the floor yesterday morning.

HAWKS TO SEEK RECORD IN FLIGHT FROM PACIFIC

Expected to Arrive Sunday for Air Races.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

Frank Hawks, noted speed pilot, plans to attempt to set a new nonstop flight record between Los Angeles and Chicago during the American air races, which open at Chicago airport on Saturday. Hawks notified Maj. R. W. Schroeder, director of events of the races, yesterday of his intention to make the flight, probably on Sunday if weather conditions over the Rockies are right.

Hawks holds more records for distance flights in the United States and Europe than any other pilot. He will fly his new Northrup low wing plane, which is powered by a Wright double bank motor of 700 horsepower on this record attempt, he said. The existing record is 9 hours 9 minutes and 4 seconds for the 1,706 miles, set by Wiley Post, around the world flyer, in the Los Angeles to Chicago nonstop Derby held in connection with the Chicago air races of 1930.

Pacific Flyer Enters.

Another famous pilot entered the American air races yesterday. Clyde Pangborn, first to fly nonstop across the Pacific, entered several of the closed course events. He will fly a Warner powered monocoupe racer. Walter Beech, president of the Beech Aircraft company of Wichita, Kas., wired that he will fly in the races. Dr. J. D. Brock of Kansas City, Mo., who holds a unique record in aviation, wired that he will fly into Chicago airport on Saturday. Dr. Brock's record consists of having made a daily flight of thirty minutes every day for the last three years and seven months. He owns three planes, one of which will be entered in several of the events.

Maj. Schroeder announced that a total of eighty-eight entries have been received by the contest committee for the ten high speed closed course events during the four days of racing. A purse of $20,000 has been posted for these events, in addition to many valuable trophies.

20 Thrilling Acrobatic Events.

"Besides the closed course races each day," he said, "we are preparing more than twenty thrilling and amusing aerobatic performances. Two parachute jumpers, Wayne Wagner and Clem Sohn, will perform delayed opening drops in a race from 10,000 feet altitude daily. Art Davis, veteran racing pilot, will demonstrate balloon bursting and ribbon cutting in his Waco stunt plane.

"Bettie Lund, foremost woman stunt flyer, will fly through her repertoire of daring stunts daily. Roy Hunt will do a dead stick landing with embellishments. George T. Burrell Jr. of Chicago will stunt a big transport plane. Frank Faulkner, pioneer autogiro pilot, will stunt his windmill plane. Charles Abell will stunt a glider. John Livingston, foremost racing pilot, will do aerobatics while flying at 300 miles an hour."

In addition to the many entries received previously, Maj. Schroeder announced yesterday that eight more had been received. Charles S. Mc Brien entered a racer powered by an English Popjoy motor; Roger don Rae will fly a tapered wing Waco in a race for stock model planes; Stanley Rowan has entered his Heath racer in four events with George Hoeck as pilot and Harold Neumann of Moline has entered the Howard racer Ike [Menasco motor] in the high speed events.

Chicago Enthusiasts Enter.

The Church racer owned by John H. Fitton and Simon Chilleen, 3820 Fulton street, will be flown by David H. Bishop; G. T. Baker, 1145 Devon avenue, has entered a Ryan monoplane in a race for stock model planes and a Butler biplane in another race for stock models, and Robert J. Ray of the Sheridan Plaza hotel has entered a Laird [Wasp motor] in a stock model race.

More than 200 youthful model airplane builders have entered the American Model Airplane Speed Tournament, which will be held at the airport on the mornings of the four days of the races. These contests will be held over a 176 foot course. Officials of the model meet say that a new speed record will replace the existing record of 60 miles an hour. Tickets to the model meet are on sale at loop department stores and hotels.

Three Policemen Fired; Two Charged with Drinking

Three policemen were ordered discharged from the force yesterday by the civil service commission. They were Patrolmen Roy Sullivan of the Fillmore station, charged with intoxication; Leo M. Miller of the Summerdale station, also intoxication, and George W. Fauset of the Stanton avenue station, who was found guilty of disobedience of orders and being absent from duty without leave.

PROTEST WAGES, HOURS IN COTTON INDUSTRY'S CODE

Time of Machines Also an Issue.

try in which we could even receive for consideration a code proposing a 40 hour week."

Determination Is Revealed.

Mr. Johnson has not contended that he sits over these hearings as a judge, weighing the facts presented impartially. Today he showed forcefully that he intended to be an active partisan, to argue witnesses into his personal point of view, if it were possible.

The Johnson determination to sacrifice efficiency in management for a flux of new jobs was brought out when Russell E. Watson, speaking for Johnson & Johnson, manufacturers of surgical dressings, presented protests against the proposed code.

Mr. Watson painted a picture of an industry efficiently operated, zealous for its employés' welfare, paying good wages, employing no child labor, exploiting none of its workers.

He formally advocated a boost in the proposed minimum wage, making it $14 to $15, instead of $10 or $11, and he declared his company ready to accept any limitation of working hours. But he protested strenuously against any attempt to limit the use of machinery to two 40 hour shifts, as is proposed in the code.

500 Would Lose Jobs.

Declaring his company is operating twenty-four hours a day with an ample demand for its output, Mr. Watson said that 500 employés would have to be discharged if the machines were forced to stand idle part of the day.

Mr. Johnson then made his argument that the very efficiency of the plant brought more units of work per employé and contributed to the unemployment distress.

When Mr. Watson protested that to put a premium on inefficiency was contrary to American business principles, Administrator Johnson replied that his purpose was to get men back to work and that he would not be deterred by individual cases in an industry.

Green Explains Stand.

President Green, launching his advocacy of the 30 hour week and the 6 hour day, started with an assertion that he appeared at the hearing in a spirit of "sympathy and help rather than of antagonism or criticism."

"The 40 hour week," he continued, "does not, in itself, serve to bring about any realization of the primary purposes of the industrial recovery act.

"An investigation shows that it would not bring much change in the conditions in New England, although it would change them very considerably in southern states.

"But, in my opinion, we need to adjust the hours of labor so that the slack can be taken up. We ought to strike boldly at this situation, realizing that it is an experiment. It is pioneering. It can be changed if it is not right.

"I believe the code should provide for a 6 hour day and a 5 day week, which should be basic for the cotton textile industry.

Would Not Limit Operations.

"I do not have in mind, however, any limitations upon the operation of mills and plants. If it is necessary to meet the demands to have 2 or 3 or even 4 shifts working in a plant, I see no objection. I do not believe this administration desires to limit production.

"On pay, I am of the opinion that the minimum rates of pay fixed are altogether too low. I'm not sure the $11 rate will change the rate in the New England mills.

"The purpose of the act, as I understand it, is to increase the purchasing power of the people. If we are to achieve that end we should fix the minimum wage in this code somewhere between $14 and $16 per week.

"Anything less than that would be clear out of tune with the purposes of the industrial recovery act."

Reads Prepared Statement.

Mr. Green then read from a prepared statement, in which he quoted President Roosevelt's declaration that workers were entitled to a living wage and to more than "a bare subsistence level."

Then the labor leader declared that a survey by "Prof. Nystrom" of Columbia university showed that "the minimum necessary to support a family of five in health and efficiency is $31 a week." The Nystrom opinion didn't specify what part of the country he referred to.

"With an $11 wage," Mr. Green asserted, "even if two members of a family were working full time, they couldn't possibly keep their family in health and efficiency. Dr. Nystrom's bare subsistence wage is $26.77 at present prices. But at $11 a week, both father and mother working could not even support their family at a bare subsistence level; they would be forced to send one or more of their children to work.

Deficit to Workers.

"The cotton goods industry has to make up a long standing deficit to the workers; that is, this industry has failed to contribute its proportionate share to the nation's purchasing power.

"The well paid workers in printing, railroads, building, etc., are the greatest purchasers of this industry's products. The cotton goods industry could not exist unless wage earners and their families were able to buy overalls, shirts, dresses, sheets, towels, curtains, etc.

"On the other hand, textile workers do not have incomes adequate to buy the cotton clothing they need, to say nothing of the sheets they make. Far less can they do their part to start recovery in the automobile industry, in home building, in mechanical refrigeration, radios, books, magazines, movies, etc."

Going to the point of the length of working days and weeks, Mr. Green attempted to support his demand for a 30 hour week by a declaration that the "May level of industry generally would provide only 25.6 hours per week for all who need work."

"Clearly," he went on, "a week much longer than 30 hours will not answer the purpose of getting the unemployed back to work.

For Standard in All Industry.

"It would not be just to establish one work week for the cotton goods industry and another for the steel or leather industry. The fair way is to establish a standard and have every one conform to it.

"A forty hour week in cotton goods, at the May rate of operations, could put 69,700 men and women to work; a 30 hour week could put 210,500 to work; a 32 hour week, 175,300. Textiles should now begin to do their share."

"Are there 210,000 textile workers available to do the work?"

"I'm not sure," Mr. Green replied. "But it is safe to assume that the textile industry will expand. It should do its share to absorb not only the old workers but new ones as well."

Quizzed on Limitation.

Going to the question of controlling production by limiting the hours in which plants might be operated, Mr. Johnson quizzed President Green as to why he opposed the limitation on machines.

"The number of hours the machines will work," Mr. Green said, "will be regulated by trade conditions. That will regulate that rather than for you to say that they shall only work 40 hours or 80 hours."

GEN. JOHNSON—If you do not have some provision you will have some plants working 24 hours and others working less.

MR. GREEN—What is the difference, if they have the business?

GEN. JOHNSON—If that particular plant has the business, all right; but if you start out with that kind of thing you have all of this question of disparity to deal with.

MR. GREEN—What is the purpose of the code? Does it not start out to prevent unfair practices and unfair competition?

GEN. JOHNSON—Yes, but in this industry they have a difficulty of regulating unfair competition, which they can attack by an agreement of the operation of machinery hours. I do not understand that you say that these machines should all be left free to operate 24 hours a day with an overcapacitated machine plant.

For Letting Them Operate.

MR. GREEN—If they want to and can find employment for labor on the basis of a six hour day and a five day week, I see no basis for that.

GEN. JOHNSON—O, no, if they can do it; I know that.

MR. GREEN—There are plants that are doing it.

GEN. JOHNSON—We are addressing ourselves to an emergency. I think the prevention of these peaks and valleys is essential, and the condition we have arrived at here is largely due to intense competitive war in the depths of this depression.

MR. GREEN—Understand, I am not fundamentally opposed to the regulation of the number of hours machines shall work, if in your investigation you find that is necessary. I would not be opposed to it, although I think the teeth which I believe are in the industrial recovery act will serve to prevent this overdevelopment and overproduction, even if you put it on the shorter week and shorter hour basis. I think in the general operation of our economic laws and market requirements the plant that has some special business will be able to operate; the one that should be operated on two shifts can do it and the one that can operate three shifts can do it, and the one which can operate only one can do that. I may be wrong.

Concerned with Stabilization.

GEN. JOHNSON—We are in a condition now with regard to stabilization.

MR. GREEN—I know that. I think that is what will save these gentlemen, to meet and agree on fair prices and fair trade practices and that is the thing that is going to protect them. I am in accord with that. They have the opportunity. The door is open for them to do that and to arrange to pay decent wages, because they have the opportunity to establish decent prices and to prevent the minorities from engaging in unfair practices.

GEN. JOHNSON—The last question I wanted ask you is not a question, but more or less of my statement to you as to my faith. I agree with you that we have to be very astute to see that these minimums do not become maximums. I also agree that we must be careful with these gradations which normally exist in various grades of skilled labor, that they shall be maintained. If, in the execution of whatever we do here, we find that there is a drifting away from our well established economic differences between the rates of pay of labor in industry it will be up to us to see that that does not happen.

Conditions in Mills Described.

Preceding Mr. Green's appearance a lengthy and technical description of conditions in textile mills was given by another union representative, William E. G. Batty, secretary of the New Bedford, Mass., Textile council.

Mr. Batty proposed a sliding scale of minimum wages, as follows: Unskilled labor, $14.40; semi-skilled, $18; skilled, $22.50; highly skilled, $30.

At the conclusion of his testimony Mr. Batty said:

"We believe, and I don't want to get in conflict with the members of the consumers' group here, but in all candor and honesty it is our belief that the public generally have bought their textiles too cheap. They have bought them at the expense of labor. Our share of the national wealth has not come to us at all."

Senator Black Is Heard.

Senator Hugo Black [Dem., Ala.], who was author of a 30 hour week bill which was pigeonholed for the eventual passage of the industrial recovery act, was the next heard.

"It is my judgment," he said, "that a simple code of 40 hours per week throughout the nation, if universally applied, would not result in the reëmployment of more than a million men. I do believe that a universal 30 hour week with a six hour day would result in the reëmployment of more than six million men. I believe that a 40 hour week with a limitation of an 8 hour day would probably result in the reëmployment of four million men. But it is useless to hope that you will take up any vast slack of unemployment unless, at the same time that you limit hours per week, you limit the hours per day.

"I say that for the reason that there were many industries shown to our committee that had only been working an average of 32 hours per week, but at the same time they were working nine, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, and even up to sixteen hours per day.

For Limit on Hours Per Day.

"So it is absolutely essential, in my judgment, if this movement accomplishes its object, which is to put the unemployed back to work, that it have an absolute limitation both as to the hours per week and as to the hours per day. It means the difference of millions with reference to the program of putting men back to work.

"Personally, I should like to see a limit of 6 hours per day. A limit of 8 hours per day, of course, would result in the absorption of millions of America's obvious unemployed, but the limit of 6 hours per day would probably result in employing two million more than the limitation of 8 hours a day.

"It seems to me, in that connection, without saying anything more on the code, that I should add this one thought. Prices are rising. They are rising every day; and we hope they will rise more. That is part of the program. It is therefore absolutely essential that this be taken into consideraton. And, frankly, I hope sincerely that we will never adopt a minimum wage of $10 per week for men who work in America."

Minimum for Machinists.

H. J. Carr, vice president International Association of Machinists, asked that the code fix a minimum wage of $38.40 per week for machinists employed in the textile mills.

After tracing the 31 per cent decline in employment in the textile industry between 1925 and 1932, John Frey, secretary-treasurer of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, declared that the export trade in cotton textiles, which had yielded 85 million dollars in 1925, was lost for many years to come. India, Japan and China are beating the United States in world trade, he said.

Frey insisted under questioning from Gen. Johnson that the 40 hour week is too long and the $10 minimum wage is too low, but he suggested no alternative. He refused to agree to limiting of machine hours along with working hours.

Sidney Hillman's View.

At the close of the day's hearings Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, said he favored a 30 hour week and 50 cents per hour as a minimum wage. He admitted, however, that he would not urge this program in the emergency, because it would weaken his argument and because it might be achieved later by collective bargaining.

Declaring that the 40 hour week proposed by the cotton industries had demoralized a willingness which had formerly existed among industries to discuss an even shorter week, he drew from Johnson a denial that the 40 hour week set a precedent. The 40 hour week in the clothing trades bring no reëmployment, or at the most a 2 per cent increase, according to Hillman.

PRESENT TEXTILE VIEWS

At the opening of today's sessions the sponsors of cotton textile code, through George Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, announced that during the night an agreement had been reached among the manufacturers that they would accept an amendment to the code prohibiting the employment of minors under 16 years of age in any mills.

Deputy Administrator Allen and Gen. Johnson joined in congratulating the manufacturers on this development. Mr. Allen heralded it as a "grand way to approach this partnership deal," and Mr. Johnson said it was "one of the most significant developments of this hearing."

Mr. Allen made a brief speech, addressed to the press, in which he deplored published inferences that there was any spirit of fight or animosity between the representatives of employers and of labor in the hearing.

Amoskeag Chief First Witness.

The first witness called was F. C. Dumaine, president of the Amoskeag Manufacturing company, Manchester, N. H. Conceding that the textile industry was "incapable of intelligently managing its affairs," Mr. Dumaine declared that he favored the principles of the code offered, but that he would propose a single labor shift of 48 hours instead of two shifts of 40 hours as proposed. He also protested against permitting minimum wage differentials between the northern and southern mills.

The extent to which Administrator Johnson proposes to ride over industry in what he considers an aim toward obtaining more jobs was disclosed in his cross-examination of the next witness, Russell E. Watson, mentioned earlier in the dispatch as representative of Johnson & Johnson, makers of surgical dressings.

After declaring that his company thought the minimum wage fixed in the code was too low, that it should be $15 in the north instead of $11, and $14 in the south instead of $10, Mr. Watson said that curtailing production would result in increasing manufacturing costs by about 5 cents a pound.

"This will be a hardship on the consuming public without advantage to the employés or increase of purchasing power," he said, "because, as we will point out further along, it simply means 500 of our employés will be working for somebody else.

Will Affect Hospitals.

"The hardship upon the consumer is worthy of special consideration with respect to the production of the Chicopee mills, because it is consumed largely by hospitals which can ill afford the additional cost.

"The cost on the present working basis of the Southern Chicopee mill is about 8½ cents. A reduction to two 40 hour shifts will increase that cost under the proposed minimum scale to 13 and a fraction cents, so you see it is nearly a 60 per cent increase, largely through a reduction of machinery operation.

"We challenge the statement that a limitation of machine operation will limit production and we propose to argue here that the limitation of machine operation will not limit production. The principal effect of decreased machine operation will be to take business from the efficiently operated mills and transfer it to those less efficiently operated, thereby increasing operating costs, which will be passed on to the consuming public. The superfluous employés of the two Chicopee mills, those 500 who will have to be discharged, will have to seek work elsewhere.

Penalizing the Efficient.

"Corporation management which by initiative, industry and skill is able to dispose of its product under shorter hours of work for a higher wage ought not to be penalized for the benefit of those less efficiently managed. The law is intended to spread employment and increase wages, not to take business from one employer for the benefit of another.

"We desire only to keep—and we submit this logically and as an appeal to your sense of fairness—we desire only to keep what we have acquired by our honorable methods and sound business policies, the business which we have acquired, which we have built up by the use of honorable methods and sound business policies, the use of efficient machinery, and by trade practices and trade policies relatively higher than those generally practiced.

"We submit that the limitation of the operation of machinery will gear the industry to the less efficient, to the disadvantage of the more efficient, that mills like our own, which have attempted to exercise foresight, modernly equipped mills, with the best of machinery, will have to gear themselves down to the others and be penalized for their foresight, which, up to this time, has always been considered sound American business practice."

Questioned by Administrator.

Having thus made out his case for his company, Mr. Watson then faced a cross-examination from Administrator Johnson waged in the administrator's blustering, forthright fashion, as follows:

GEN. JOHNSON—You made some reference about these mills being the most efficient plants in the country.

MR. WATSON—I did not say that.

GEN. JOHNSON—Some one said that.

MR. WATSON—Mr. Anderson said yesterday our Georgia cotton mill was the finest he had ever seen. I said our southern mills are among the most efficient, particularly the Georgia mills.

GEN. JOHNSON—Your whole statement goes to this, does it not, that it would be unfair to your company, and you say also that it would increase costs, if a limitation were put on a more efficient plant, because you say that would be in favor of a less efficient plant?

MR. WATSON—We are quite candid about that.

Efficiency Versus Job.

GEN. JOHNSON—A more efficient plant is one that turns out more units of production per unit of labor? Is that right?

MR. WATSON—Yes, sir; at the higher wage and the minimum rate.

GEN. JOHNSON—If we carried that principle to its logical conclusion we would eliminate the inefficient plants throughout the United States and leave the production to the more efficient plants? Is that correct?

MR. WATSON—To the benefit of the consuming public.

GEN. JOHNSON—And if the more efficient plants turn out more units of production at less man hours, what happens to employment?

MR. WATSON—You are going to limit the man hours and raise the wages, and we are going to pay them, and we have been paying them.

GEN. JOHNSON—If you limit the man hours of the inefficient as well as the efficient plants there is hardly any escape from the conclusion that you will reduce the number of jobs; isn't that so? I will say the number of man hours.

MR. WATSON—Yes, sir, I will say that. But it is economically unsound and disadvantageous to do otherwise in the long run.

Discusses Policy for Crisis.

GEN. JOHNSON—In the long run, perhaps. But in a great crisis where we are trying to put men back to work and where we are confronted by an industrial condition such as this would you suggest that we adopt during this emergency a principle from which there is no escape from the conclusion that the result of it is to reduce jobs?

MR. WATSON—I submit you ought to fix high wages, low working hours and within those limits have fair competition among employers, to the advantage of the public at large.

GEN. JOHNSON—But that is not a direct answer to the question that I put to you, is it?

Mr. WATSON—Yes, sir, it is. I think it is.

GEN. JOHNSON—I will not argue with you about it. It is on the record. Do I understand you to say that your judgment is that the limitation on machine hours would not decrease production?

MR. WATSON—If you would not decrease wages and not decrease work hours the practical effect of machine hours will not be to decrease production.

Disagree on Its Effect.

GEN. JOHNSON—Let us say that here are all of the machines in the world put into one room; we can spread the work on those machines as far as we like, but regardless of the spread of the work if we say those machines can only work one hour out of 24, it doesn't make much difference?

MR. WATSON — That is true, of course.

GEN. JOHNSON—And if that is true in the immediate case——

MR. WATSON—But I do not think it is. Our 500 employés will be employed by somebody else. Our production—not what we hope to get and what we want to get, but the production we now have and have had—will be produced by somebody else. The production will be the same.

GEN. JOHNSON—As I understood you, you said that if these hours were adopted—I am not arguing this matter; I am merely trying to bring out these facts. I am not prejudging this case. But I understood you to say that if these limitations were put into effect 500 men would go out of employment from your mill?

MR. WATSON—Yes, sir.

Can Get Jobs Elsewhere.

GEN. JOHNSON—But you heard developed here yesterday a case tending to show that at the present rate of operation in the cotton textile industry there was some question as to whether they had not already absorbed other labor and in some places there was a shortage of that kind of skilled labor?

MR. WATSON—I heard that said.

GEN. JOHNSON—If 500 people were put out of your mill because of your circumstances would they have very much difficulty in finding jobs in other plants.

MR. WATSON—Oh, no.

GEN. JOHNSON—That is all.

MR. WATSON—But may I add this? It is not fair to us unless it works some advantage to those workmen. And it does not, it is not fair to us and it is unfair to the consuming public.

GEN. JOHNSON—Making more jobs for the workmen in the cotton textile industry is an advantage to the workers in the cotton textile industry, is it not?

MR. WATSON—It would not be an advantage. Our 500 men would be employed elsewhere. It would not be an advantage to our 500 men to be employed elsewhere.

GEN. JOHNSON—I know they will be. But if we adopt the principle here for the period of the emergency, which is to put men to work, we would hardly be deterred by the effect on one particular plant when that result is to be achieved.

MR. WATSON—We think the economic operation as it applies to our plants should be considered.

GEN. JOHNSON—I am not arguing the question and I am not arguing against that principle. In the long run that is true. I am wondering what we should do in an emergency of this kind.

Hear a Labor Leader.

The next witness, Henry W. Kendall, also a manufacturer of surgical dressings, proposed to apply the proposed minimum wage to all workers in the mills.

He declared that he favored limitation of machine production.

With the completion of Mr. Kendall's testimony, Deputy Allen announced the viewpoint of industry had been fully presented. He called for any who desired to be heard, got no responses, and he then announced that the views of labor would be next presented.

The first representative of labor to be called was Thomas McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, and his testimony seemed to confound not only the textile manufacturers' leaders but Deputy Allen as well.

Mr. McMahon had been serving, in the preliminary conferences on the code, as Mr. Allen's labor adviser, and while none of the interests involved would comment directly it was apparent from the questioning that Mr. McMahon had agreed to the code in conference, and then at today's hearing took an entirely different stand.

He opposed the minimum wage rate, saying it should be $14 per week and he argued for a 35 instead of a 40 hour week. Talking against the 40 hour week Mr. McMahon gave his objections as follows:

"That a 40 hour week will not bring about the reëmployment of all those normally engaged in the industry within the spirit, purpose and intent of the President's rehabilitation program;

"That a 40 hour schedule, with the present stretch out system, operates to cast an undue physical burden upon a class of workers that have been so long oppressed;

"That such a schedule is inconsistent with the government's pronouncement of a sound labor policy as contained in the provisions of the public works program wherein a thirty hour week is fixed as a maximum."

Allen Shows Confusion.

When McMahon had finished, Deputy Administrator Allen, showing his confusion at the turnabout of the labor leader, said:

"Mr. McMahon, frankly I might say I am somewhat flabbergasted. The situation which arises here confuses me, and I feel it only fair and proper to call attention to the fact that you have been acting as my adviser throughout negotiations and you are here today presenting many viewpoints which, as my adviser, you did not call to my attention."

McMahon squirmed slightly, but he answered boldly:

"Many points were not brought out at and during the conference. If you will remember, when the code was being discussed with the conference committee of the manufacturers, I had no hand or touch in the making of the code."

Later McMahon admitted that in the beginning he had agreed to a $12 minimum wage, but that he had changed it to $14 because the employers, in their discussions, had indicated to his satisfaction that the lower wage and 40 hour week would bring about an excess of production.

The testimony of President Green of the American Federation of Labor was given in an earlier part of this dispatch.

CHICAGO MERCHANTS TO STUDY CODE FOR RETAIL TRADE TODAY

A proposed code of fair trade practices for retail stores will be studied today by a committee of merchants representing State street and large outlying department stores. The code is designed to conform to provisions of the national industrial recovery act. D. F. Kelly, president of The Fair, will head the committee.

The National Retail Dry Goods association drafted the code. After approval by the local stores it will be submitted to the federal government.

Among the provisions contained in the code are the following:

"A maximum work week of 48 hours; a minimum wage scale, depending on the location of a store, of $9 to $18 a week; granting employés the privilege of collective bargaining; stringent clauses prohibiting unfair competition, and a prohibition of selling of prison made goods in any retail store.

"The 48-hour working week," reads the code in its present form, "shall be effective in retail dry goods, department stores, mail order, and specialty shop establishments except for a period of two weeks before Christmas and two days a year for inventory."

Misrepresentation of goods is prohibited by the unfair competition clause. This section of the code also prevents merchants from selling or advertising for sale at retail any merchandise at less than the net invoice plus 10 per cent to insure that the labor cost shall at least partly be met.

The minimum weekly wage scale for metropolitan centers with a population of more than 1,000,000 for male adults over 18 years of age is set at $18. The adult wage scale in cities of 250,000 to 1,000,000 inhabitants would be $15 and in all other parts of the country it is $12. For women adult employes the minimum wage scale would be $12, $11 and $10, according to the three classifications. The $9 minimum wage would apply to some classes of younger employes.

WAGES INCREASE 8.6% IN INDUSTRY DURING MAY, REPORT SHOWS

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—The national industrial conference board in its monthly report today notes an increase in average wages in manufacturing industries of 8.6 per cent in May as compared with April. The number of workers increased 4.1 per cent and their hours of work per week 10.7 per cent. The increased number of hours together with the increased number of workers made the total gain in the number of work hours come to 15.1 per cent.

"As average hourly wages decreased only slightly," the report says, "probably because of the addition of new workers, these changes indicate a substantial increase in the purchasing power of the workers."

4 MAYO SURGEONS FLY 500 MILES TO SAVE WOMAN'S LIFE

Detroit, Mich., June 28.—[Special.]—Four surgeons from the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., were rushed from Rochester, to Chatham, Ont., where they performed an emergency abdominal operation on Mrs. Fred M. Zeder, wife of a Chrysler corporation vice president.

In a chartered plane, piloted by Forrest Earl, Drs. Waltman Walters, John Lundy, Howard Hartman, and W. McCluskey made the 500 miles from Rochester to Detroit in a little more than four hours.

They were met at the airport by a Detroit mortorcycle escort and taken to the Detroit Windsor tunnel. In Windsor the Ontario provincial police took over the escort.

The surgeons were rushed over the 51 miles from Windsor to Chatham in just a few minutes less than an hour, reaching the hospital at 1 a. m.

Maj. Gen. Parker Inspects R.O.T.C. Camp on Midway

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, 6th corps area commander, yesterday inspected the joint camp of the Reserve Officers Training corps of the University of Chicago and Northwestern university at the Midway fieldhouse, 56th street and University avenue. The combined corps, comprised of two dental and one field artillery units, went through routine maneuvers and drills. The camp opened June 17 and will close July 14. Due to lack of funds it is not being held outside the city this year.

TAMMANY WINS POLITICAL TRUCE WITH ROOSEVELT

Reach "Understanding" with Farley.

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—Tammany has succeeded, in the extended conferences here and in Albany in the last three days, in bringing about a new political understanding which amounts to a condition of neutrality between the city organization and the federal administration. John F. Curry and his associates are asking nothing except to be left alone and the attitude of President Roosevelt and his administration, as interpreted in the attitude of James A. Farley, national chairman, is to stay out of the metropolis, it is understood.

Politics and policies have been clarified as a result of the numerous discussions incidental to the prohibition repeal convention. Mr. Farley's meeting here last Saturday with John H. McCooey was preparatory to the Albany session.

At least the leaders on both sides now know where they stand and there is a new deal in progress. Washington appears willing to meet the local leaders half way, but on conditions laid down by Mr. Farley with the backing of the President. Apparently the bad feeling created in Chicago when Tammany bolted Roosevelt and fought for the nomination of Al Smith is not to determine the politics of the state for the next four years, observers say.

Tammany will not try to interfere with upstate appointments under the new "understanding," it is said.

ROBBERS SENT TO BRIDEWELL.

Three New York City youths, who robbed a gasoline filling station at Stony Island avenue and 86th street, were sent to the Bridewell yesterday by Judge Erickson to work out fines of $10 each. They are Jack Russell, George Roberts, and Matthew Carney.

FRENCH CRY FOR HALT IN WAR ON GOLD STANDARD

squeezing the bears, as in the famous coup pulled off by the Bank of France against central European speculators in 1924, when the franc was temporarily saved.

French hopes of saving the gold standard still hinge chiefly on getting the British to stabilize the pound with regard to the franc. They have given up hope of doing anything with the Americans for the moment and consequently the arrival of Prof. Raymond Moley created no interest in French circles. The fact that the British equalization fund is strongly supporting the gold standard currencies is interpreted as a hopeful sign by the French, but it is not conclusive as it is necessary to keep the pound from rising, which the British want to avoid.

French Again Approach Britain.

Bonnet saw Prime Minister MacDonald today in a further effort to obtain from the British a formal statement favoring continuance on the gold standard by the countries which remain on it, but so far as is known he did not obtain any definite commitment.

In his exasperations the finance minister is reliably reported to have warned MacDonald that unless the British take some steps to stabilize, France will quit the conference. This threat is not taken very seriously by anyone, not even the French, but it illustrates the condition of their nerves.

There was a fresh crop of rumors today hinting that the United States had entered or was about to enter into a gentleman's agreement not to devaluate the dollar below a certain level. These reports seem to be based chiefly on the belief here that the latest rise of prices make it unnecessary for Washington to push inflation much farther.

Anxiety Grips France.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 28.—With the dollar below 20 francs in value and the gold standard countries fighting what is considered a last ditch battle in London, there is great anxiety in France. Demands are growing here that the London conference be adjourned before it turns definitely into a conference for destabilization of monies.

From various sources during the past days have come repeated reports, always denied by Premier Daladier and Finance Minister Georges Bonnet, that France is going to abandon the gold standard. Some of these reports have come from New York, and they are interpreted here as amounting almost to a campaign against the franc. It is recalled that outcries were raised by the American press some time ago against what was described as French raids on the dollar.

Fear Temper of People.

If the alleged raid goes on, it is declared, the franc, with the florin and other gold currencies, may eventually succumb. If the franc should depreciate in the same proportion as the dollar has depreciated in the last two months, it would mean that French investors in government bonds would lose in value an amount equal to three-quarters of the French debt to the United States.

In this country of frugal, saving people who have invested their money in their country, any government that takes the responsibility for devalorizing the franc further knows that it risks provoking something that may come very near revolution.

That operation has been done once. It was accepted as belonging to the cost of war. Eighty per cent of the value of the franc and of everybody's savings in francs was lopped off. If this were attempted again, the risks would be incalculable.

Estonia Abandons Gold.

TALLINN, Estonia, June 28.—(AP)—Estonia is to abandon the gold standard, Premier Tounesson announced today. The Estonian crown will be placed by the government at a level with the Swedish crown, a devaluation of 35 per cent. After debating throughout the night, parliament passed a vote of confidence in the government, 47 to 45.

Moley Sizes Up Situation in London; Holds Fate of Parley

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 28.—The outcome of the world economic conference, it was learned tonight, is to be determined during the week which Prof. Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state and President Roosevelt's chief adviser, is scheduled to spend in London. Prof. Moley arrived here last night.

Prof. Moley, who shapes the President's economic policies, will decide whether the United States is to join in a stabilization of currencies and to make other concessions for which European nations are clamoring. If he decides that the time has come to stabilize the dollar the conference will proceed to adoption of a far reaching program which will profoundly influence world economic conditions, but whether for good or ill, nobody knows. If he turns thumbs down on the European proposals the conference will content itself with a far less ambitious scope of accomplishment.

U. S. Under Great Pressure.

Throughout the first day of Prof. Moley's presence on the scene of this twentieth century parliament of man, the American delegation was subjected to increasing pressure by European statesmen to agree to stabilization of the dollar. The source of this pressure is the European gold standard bloc, consisting of France, Holland, Belgium, and Switzerland, who fear they may be swept off the gold basis if depreciation of other currencies continues.

Dollar wheat and 11 cent cotton in the United States have caused European leaders to indulge in hopes that American prices have about reached the level at which President Roosevelt would be willing to halt a further decline in the value of the dollar by agreement to a stabilization plan. When sounded on this proposition, however, Prof. Moley proved discouraging to European leaders. He could hold out no prospect of immediate stabilization, although he did not absolutely close the door to it. The inference is that prices have not yet reached that level at which the President would be willing to call a halt.

Moley Stays in Background.

Whether Prof. Moley is to deal directly with the Britsh, French and other European statesmen is not clear. For the moment he is remaining in the background of the American delegation, which he is guiding in negotiations at this crucial stage of the conference. Major questions of policy are being referred to him with the understanding that his influence will be potent in decisions at which President Roosevelt eventually arrives.

The question of currency stabilization was again discussed at a meeting of British and American delegations this afternoon. The British contended that it is futile to revise tariffs and remove trade barriers unless currencies are stable.

Hull, Moley in Understanding.

Although Prof. Moley arrived at the American embassy after 1 o'clock this morning, he was calling on Secretary of State Hull by 8:30 a. m. In a half hour's talk the secretary of state and his assistant—the latter overshadows the former by virtue of his influence with the President—arrived at an amicable understanding.

This was disclosed when Mr. Hull and Prof. Moley tonight appeared together at a conference with the press. Mr. Hull answered questions and then turned the interview over to Prof. Moley, who was referred to as "one of our ablest and most forward looking citizens."

Prof. Moley said that after this interview anything he had to say would be made known through Secretary Hull. He added that President Roosevelt has the utmost confidence in Mr. Hull and the rest of the delegation, and that he has come to serve the delegation and the secretary of state to the best of his ability.

Says Revival Is Here.

The American people, Prof. Moley said, are greatly interested in the conference. Asked whether they are optimistic, he said he would not venture to generalize. He preferred to say that the country has high hopes of the conference and shows no signs of pessimism. The country, he thought, perceives no conflict between the domestic recovery program and international coöperation.

"We are experiencing universal and substantial prosperity," he said. "The recovery is genuine."

The United States, Prof. Moley said, wants all countries to share the new prosperity. They can do so by following America's example, each in its own way. Prof. Moley reiterated that he did not come to Europe to discuss war debt revisions.

EXPERTS TELL WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF ALL NATIONS LEAVE GOLD

Washington, D. C., June 28.—Reports from abroad that a situation might arise where France, Holland, and other countries still on the gold standard would desert it were studied in official quarters today. Experts said the utmost confusion would result and that the immediate reaction probably would be to strengthen the dollar in the terms of other currencies.

If such a condition continues for any length of time, it was added, the relation of the currencies would be largely influenced by internal policies adopted, including the extent to which inflation was permitted.

With all countries off gold it was pointed out that there woupld remain no yardstick by which to determine the value of the various currencies, speculation on domestic policies would enter the picture, and the greatest difficulty would be experienced in carrying on exchange transactions essential to international investments and commerce.

In most quarters it was believed that general abandonment of the gold standard would accelerate action among the nations to reach some basis for the return to gold.

Judge Ostrand, Philippine Superior Court, Resigns

MANILA, June 28.—(AP)—James A. Ostrand, associate justice of the Philippine Superior court for the last 12 years, tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt today through Gov. Gen. Frank Murphy. He gave ill health as his reason for retiring.

Report of Basil Zaharoff's Death in Belgium Denied

BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 28.—(AP)—Reports that Sir Basil Zaharoff, one of Europe's wealthiest men, had died at Spa were denied today. Authorities said that he had not even been at that resort. His usual residence is in France.

ORDER PUBLISHER TO JAIL FOR LIBEL OF SUN LIFE HEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., June 28.—James J. Harpell, middle aged publisher of small periodicals, must serve three months in jail for criminally libeling T. B. MacAulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, largest insurance corporation in the British empire.

The Court of Appeals here today unanimously dismissed his appeal from the conviction and sentence registered against him last December. Since the judgment was unanimous, no further appeal can be taken.

Harpell, in the Journal of Commerce, one of his publications, published a series of articles attacking the conduct of the Sun Life company and declared MacAulay to be one of the world's two greatest crooks, naming the other as Ivar Kreuger. A jury found Harpell guilty of criminal libel, but recommended clemency. Sentence of three months in jail was imposed.

TWO AUTO THIEFS GET YEAR.

Carl Holzman, 17 years old, 4349 Shields avenue, and George Smith, 38 years old, 4351 Shields avenue, were sentenced to serve one year in the Bridewell by Judge John Gutknecht for the theft of the automobile of James Patson, 4201 Lake Park avenue.

PARLEY REWRITES PITTMAN PLAN TO RESTRICT GOLD

Would Ban Metal from Internal Circulation.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 28. — Important amendments, or rather substitute clauses, for Senator Key Pittman's resolution concerning the use of gold were adopted today by the monetary commission of the world economic conference. These new clauses declare that under modern conditions gold is not required for internal circulation but only as a reserve against central bank liabilities and to meet external demands for payments caused by the disequilibrium of foreign accounts, and that, therefore, it is undesirable to put gold coins or gold certificates into internal circulation.

One clause said that greater elasticity is needed for central bank gold coverage provisions and that a ratio of 25 per cent should be considered sufficient.

During the debate on these clauses Leon Frazer, American president of the Bank for International Settlements, urged adoption of the plan.

Debate Sugar Proposals.

There was also a debate in the economic commission on the sugar restriction plan proposed by the Chadbourne sugar commission. This plan provided that no new sugar factories should be started, that the capacity of existing factories should not be increased and that partially dismantled factories should not be restored, while for two years no subsidies should be granted for the manufacture or export of sugar.

The Cuban delegates supported the plan, but there was some objection on points of detail by the British.

The Australian government today cabled its delegates, Stanley M. Bruce, two conditions whereby it might be possible for Australia to join in an agreement to reduce the wheat crop. First, it demanded that the European wheat producers be included in the pact, and, second, it requested that a concrete plan be drawn up for submission to the various Australian states. The Australian conditions will be submitted to the representatives of the United States, Canada, and Argentina tomorrow.

Litvinov Sees Simon Again.

Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign commissar, continued his conversations with Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon concerning a resumption of Russo-British trade relations, which were broken following the imprisonment of two British electrical engineers in Moscow for sabotage.

The two statesmen were closeted in the foreign office for more than an hour. The foreign office issued a communique saying that another meeting is planned this week.

Meantime, in Wellington, New Zealand, a soviet trade representative pleaded before a commission for tariff relief on Russian safety matches, dried apricots, rubber footwear, plywood, salmon, and sturgeon. He said the talk about Russian dumping is silly nonsense. Russia, he said, has no desire to compete unfairly.

The steering committee of the conference met this evening and received a great mass of reports from committees and subcommittees on the work they have done. It was decided to have the secretariat make a digest which can be used for publication to let the peoples of the world know what their delegates are doing in London.

Davis Reports to Roosevelt on Disarmament at Geneva

BY JOHN HERRICK.

Aboard Motor Ketch Mary Alice, Lakeman Harbor, Roque Island, Me., June 28.—[Special.]—In a little seven by ten cabin aboard the schooner Amberjack II. today Norman H. Davis, unofficial ambassador at large, made his report to President Roosevelt on the progress of the Geneva disarmament conference.

At the close of the talk the President made it clear that Mr. Davis is to continue to represent this country and the administration. There have been reports that Mr. Davis would resign, and others that he might be asked for his resignation. There were loud demands for his retirement following the disclosure before the senate's Pecora committee of his name on several of J. P. Morgan & Co.'s "preferred lists."

On the contrary, it was explained, Mr. Davis will leave again for Geneva within a week or ten days.

Crisis in September or October.

He reported to the President that the conference would reach its critical point probably in September or October. It will then be decided, he said, at a press conference aboard the Amberjack, whether the result of the conference is to be a success or failure.

The President learned from the head of the American delegation that the general committee of the disarmament conference is scheduled to adjourn on July 3, leaving matters during the summer in the hands of the bureau or steering committee composed of delegates from fourteen key nations.

He (Mr. Davis) hoped that by the end of July points in dispute would have been sufficiently smoothed out so that a drafting committee might start work on a final pact based on the British proposals.

"After that," said Mr. Davis, "the general committee will meet and it must be this fall or not at all, in my opinion."

Fogbound for Third Day.

Mr. Davis arrived this morning from Boston aboard the destroyer Bernadou. Fog still shrouded the desolate little harbor where the President's schooner and the rest of the fleet still lay at anchor—their third fogbound day. All plans of running across to the Nova Scotia coast were abandoned. Once a start can be made the course will touch Grand Manan island and then head for Eastport, Me., and Campobello island.

Going aboard the Amberjack, Mr. Davis found the President waiting for him in the schooner's main cabin. The President, dressed in baggy gray trousers and a gray sweat shirt, lounged in one corner of his bunk. In another bunk corner was James Roosevelt, the President's son, who returned on the Bernadou after voting for repeal at the Massachusetts convention Monday.

"I have reported excellent progress to the President," Mr. Davis declared. "In the first place, there is a great improvement in the understanding of the disarmament problem. Of course, there are still a few things to be threshed out."

Europe's Armies the Problem.

The President explained that it was synchronizing the various forward movements. Mr. Davis characterized as a "tremendous forward step" the agreement within a bureau of the conference—still subject to ratification by the full committee — that European nations should do away with standing armies and depend on their conscript forces. These, he pointed out, are now drafted for only nine months by European countries.

"We know what the knots are that have to be united," the American delegate continued. "The actual untying will have to be done in private conference. France and Italy, for example, must come to some agreement on naval strength."

It would require time. Nations were "nervous." Much would depend on the trend of events in Germany.

"If Hitler keeps on," Mr. Davis said, "it will help very much."

Both the President and Mr. Davis were concerned to elucidate once more the administration's policy with regard to any international pact, and to state that that policy remained unchanged.

"Substantial Disarmament."

Any consultative commitment by the United States, it was explained, would be predicated upon either a world-wide pact of nonaggression or upon a series of similar regional pacts. In addition it would not go into effect until substantial disarmament had been achieved.

The American proposal is based, not on present conditions, the President asserted, but upon a future world disarmed.

"Our proposal is this," Mr. Davis picked up the story. "We say to the other nations that if you will agree to general disarmament, establish rules of the game, and actually carry such a program out, then if anybody breaks the rules we will be ready to sit down and try to compose peace. If after all these efforts some nation continues obstreperous, and the other nations want to bring it into line—and provided we agree that it is the guilty nation—then we will agree not to aid and abet that nation. Sitting down does not mean committing ourselves."

Realize Europe Must Act.

The countries of Europe, both the President and the envoy believed, have come to the conclusion that they must settle their own affairs first. France, it was said, has at last come around to expect security pacts from European nations only.

"Europe has made up its mind that the choice lies either between peace through disarmament or chaos," said Mr. Davis.

Another welcome arrival aboard the Bernadou today was John Cutter, who has been acting as cook for the Amberjack's crew. The President and his sailing companons regaled themselves on steak and onions after a day's dieting on canned goods, due to Mr. Cutter's absence.

To go with the steak was a mince pie contributed by Mrs. Beatrice Kelly of Jonesport and hot biscuits, the gift of Mrs. Harry Woodward, wife of a neighboring lobster fisherman.

CHICAGO MARINE WINS MEDAL FOR GREAT HEROISM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 29.—[Thursday.]—At 10 o'clock this morning, following a dress parade participated in by some 1,800 of his comrades, members of the 4th regiment of the United States marines stationed here, Corporal Bennie M. Bunn of Chicago will be presented the navy cross, second highest naval honor, for extraordinary heroism.

Bunn's honor was achieved while serving in the Nicaraguan National Guard prior to his transfer here.

The official citation accompanying the medal presentation in behalf of President Roosevelt states that Bunn, serving as a second lieutenant in the Guardia Nacional, was attacked by a large force of outlaws. When Bunn found himself facing 40 outlaws single handed, he seized a Thompson machine gun from a Nicaraguan guard, walked into the attacking force and by well directed fire killed ten of them, routing the remainder.

WARN SHIPPING OF OBSTRUCTION IN HARBOR HERE

H. F. Johnson, associate United States engineer on the United States lake survey steamer Peary, yesterday issued a warning to operators of vessels that there is a stone obstruction in the Chicago harbor west of the south end of the north breakwater. A marker buoy with a red and white flag was placed over the stone, which is about 400 feet east of a white racing marker. Only 12 feet of water conceals the stone, which is about 15 feet high, according to Mr. Johnson.

EXPENSE FOR IDLE RELIEF SHOWING STEADY DECLINE

Outlay Cut as Employment Increases.

The expense bill for support of the idle is showing a definite and continuous decrease, for the first time in the history of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, it was disclosed yesterday.

Wilfred S. Reynolds executive secretary of the state commission, issued a report estimating that the number of families on the relief rolls of 56 downstate counties had declined approximately 6 per cent for June as compared to May, and would decline nearly 8 per cent for July as compared to June.

Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, said the decline in Cook county for May as compared to April was approximately 5 per cent, and that the decline for June would be approximately 6 per cent from the May figure. Comparison of these figures with the employment gains noted by the Illinois department of labor and the seventh federal reserve district indicates that families are being stricken from the relief rolls in about the same proportion that workers are being called back to their jobs.

Shows Drop in Relief.

"According to estimates of the commission, 101,068 families are on the relief rolls in 56 downstate counties at this time," Mr. Reynolds said. "During May our estimates showed there were 107,233 families receiving relief in these counties. Estimates for July indicate that the case load for these counties in the coming month will be 93,764 families.

"These figures mean that the case load in these counties shows a drop of approximately 6 per cent for June from May and of nearly 8 per cent for July as compared to June."

In Cook county, Mr. Moss said, there were 175,400 families on the rolls at the end of April, 169,000 at the end of May, and there will be approximately 159,000 at the close of this month. Mr. Moss said he was unable to estimate the number the rolls would be carrying at the end of July.

Increases in Employment.

The last available report of the Illinois department of labor, made public June 19, for the period between April 15 and May 15 showed an increase of 2.4 per cent in employment volume and 8 per cent in pay rolls. A later report, issued by the seventh federal reserve district for the period from April 15 to May 15, showed a gain of 4.2 per cent in employment volume and 13.3 per cent in pay rolls for the district as a whole.

Notwithstanding the apparent betterment of the relief ratio, as compared with employment gains, the social workers in the employ of the Emergency Relief commission show a little more diligence in striking some of their newly employed "clients" off the relief rolls, in the view of Emmett Whealan, president of the county board. Mr. Whealan has criticized the relief commission's policies for some months.

"I was talking to Mr. Moss only yesterday about the situation," he said. "I was glad to hear that the number of families getting relief had been reduced, but was disappointed to learn that there has been no reduction in the staff of case workers. It would seem that with the number of jobs available at the World's Fair and the increased employment in the steel mills and department stores a still greater reduction might be achieved."

Expects Relief to Continue.

Mr. Moss, on the other hand, said he did not expect that the relief system now in vogue would ever be abolished, no matter how successful the Roosevelt industrial program might prove to be. Nor did he think the decline in the Cook county relief rolls would continue to keep pace with employment gains for the reason, as he explained it, that 50 per cent of the normally employed are out of work, while only 20 per cent have been getting relief.

"Those called back to work first are the more efficient ones, who have managed to keep off the relief rolls, notwithstanding their unemployment," he said. "There are a lot of jobs at the World's Fair, but most of these are being filled by young people vacationing from school, people of a class not on the relief rolls. In former times it was estimated that 1.5 per cent of the population would always come to grief. From here on I judge it will be difficult to reduce this group to anything less than 5 per cent."

Woman Sues for $25,000 for Breach of Promise

FARMERS WARNED TO TRAP CHINCH BUG TO SAVE CORN

Corn farmers of Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa are battling this week to save their young corn plants from annihilation by the swarms of chinch bugs that have hatched out in the last two weeks.

I. N. Nisener, a farmer near Morris, Ill., collected 250 gallons for the bugs in one day from traps surrounding his field. In Kendall county, farmers have plowed deep furrows around the edge of corn fields. Tanks which drop a stream of crude oil or creosote are then pulled along the furrows, the oil making an effective barriers to the bugs' steady march into green corn.

W. D. Worthington, entomologist of Iowa State college, warned farmers that unless such measures were employed at once corn crops would be utterly destroyed. He advised using the barriers to keep the insects within fields of small grains which are already ruined.

The best method of control is said to be the use of the creosote or oil barrier, coupled with application of calcium cyanide. The oil barrier should be three inches wide. Along the furrow, at distances of about two rods, strips of calcium cyanide about 8 inches long should be placed at right angle to the oil barrier, on the side infested.

A hole is dug near each cyanide strip into which the bugs will fall. They fill such holes in the course of an hour or two. Each strip should contain from one to one and a half ounces of cyanide, the granular form of chemical being preferred to the flaky kind.

Most of the movements of the insect army occur shortly after noon.

De Valera Nominees Losing in Dublin City Elections

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, June 28.—(AP)—Candidates of the opposition, consisting of the Commercial party and the followers of former President William T. Cosgrave, had a majority at midnight over government candidates in today's Dublin municipal elections. The returns were incomplete. An attempt to unseat Lord Mayor Byrne, who stood as an independent but a strong supporter of Cosgrave, failed.

CHICAGO SOCIETY WOMAN AGREES TO TRUCE ON SON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., June 28.—Under an agreement reached by the contesting parties in court here today, the Ontario courts are to decide whether Mrs. Kumar Jehan Seesodia Warliker of Chicago, or her former husband, Thompson Buchanan, will have custody of Thompson Buchanan Jr., 9 years old.

Mrs. Warliker, the former Katherine Winterbotham, was divorced from Buchanan, a playwright, in 1925. She was given custody, under a decree in California, of the boy and and of his hister, Katherine Roberta, now 15. The girl is now at the home of Buchanan's relatives in Louisville, Ky. The playwright has taken legal steps in Kentucky and California to get both children.

The agreement today provides that Mrs. Warliker will not leave Ontario with her son until the point of custody has been passed on, while Buchanan will not attempt to take the child until then. The father claims that Warliker, who comes from the East Indies, is not a proper custodian for his son. John R. Winterbotham Jr. of Chicago, a brother of Mrs. Warliker, is a co-applicant with Buchanan for custody of the boy. He is in Toronto. The Warlikers were married in Milwaukee, Wis., on May 31.

Gets Job as Housekeeper for Husband She Divorced

Watseka, Ill., June 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Iva Jones of Milford got herself a divorce. The day after the decree she accepted a position as housekeeper for her former husband.

BRITISH CHAPLAIN AWARDED $7,500 FROM LOVE RIVAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 28.—Damages of $7,500 accompanied the divorce decree awarded today to Col. James Henry Davey, retired British army chaplain. Godfrey Oakey, named as co-respondent in the suit, must pay the damages.

The Rev. Mr. Davey married Olive Florence Lane in 1911. In 1915 he joined the army as a chaplain. He rose to the rank of brigadier general. After the war he was principal chaplain of the war office. Later he served in Turkey, then as assistant chaplain-general of the Rhine army.

The Rev. Mr. Davey testified that three years ago his wife went to Switzerland for her health. In the meantime the chaplain discovered accidentally in reading a newspaper that Oakey, an old friend of the family, was there too. Returning to England, Mrs. Davey refused to leave or alter her relationship with Oakey.

The Curve that says "I WILL"

From $168,800 to $5,000,000,000, this graph represents Increase in Total Value of all Land within Chicago's present corporate limits for the century 1833-1933. Values are for land, excluding buildings. The curve is based on all available data, including records of many thousands of actual sales, with many typical transactions in every square mile of Chicago's 211 square mile area.

PEOPLE are asking: "Has Chicago stopped growing? Will Chicago real estate come back? To such people we suggest a study of this interesting graph picturing the total market value of all land within the present (1933) Chicago limits, for a century.

In 1833—a village of 30 houses and 250 people.

In these ten decades, as the graph shows, Chicago land has passed through five major depressions. There have been periods when land values increased 500% to over 1,000%. There have been other periods when these values stood still or receded. Whenever this happened, many people took a pessimistic, short-time view and regarded real estate as worthless, just as they took a short-time view in prosperous years and bid fabulous prices for land.

Every depression and every recovery went through similar stages.

In 1832, Fort Dearborn bulged with the military activities of the Black Hawk War. In the following summer, 2,000 Potawatomies danced on the main business street (South Water), peered into shop windows and drank up the few cents an acre which the Government paid to settle their claims to the land.

Chicago's first real estate boom started in 1833 and by 1836 the total value of land within the 1933 city limits had advanced from the Government price of $1.25 an acre, or $168,800 total, to $10,000,000. With the panic of 1837, however, values began to drift down, and by 1842 land had declined to a low of $1,400,000. So the first cycle was completed, with a net gain of some $9 an acre.

As the chart indicates, each recurring cycle established another high point. In fourteen years from the low point of 1842, Chicago land had recovered to a new average nearly 100 times this low. Then came the panic of 1857, the Civil War, and the Great Fire. Values went down one-half. But by the Spring of 1873, recovery had carried them to nearly ten times the depression valley of $60,000,000 in 1861.

The long depression of the seventies brought the figure to a low point of $250,000,000 in 1879. It recovered six-fold by 1892. In the four years following the panic of 1893, it receded one-third, but by 1910 it stood again at $1,500,000,000; and it continued to advance to $2,000,000,000 in 1916. Yielding but slightly during the crisis of 1920, it went to $5,000,000,000 in 1926 and, after holding there for nearly three years, has gradually receded about 50 per cent.

Each of these periods, research tells us, was filled with comments and forecasts, gloomy or rosy, as the immediate outlook influenced men's views. Today it is well to remember that declines of 30 to 50 per cent and recoveries to new peaks three to twelve times any previous one make up the history of Chicago land values.

The lesson of experience is that the curve of land values in Chicago refuses to stay down.

Driven by the city's steady increase in population and by each new improvement in transportation, the land on which Chicago stands has persistently resumed and maintained its long-time upward trend. It has repeatedly withstood the shock of panic, war and fire. After each lull, it has emerged to higher and more profitable investment levels. Conservatively valued and well purchased, it has probably been the best form of investment known to our city's history.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE BIGGEST SHOW AT THE LEAST COST.

By some sort of grapevine, misinformation regarding the cost of visiting the Fair is getting into some parts of the country. Other misinformation concerns the difficulty of transportation and of obtaining lodging. It is not apparent that there is malice in the spreading of such reports and they may be merely careless assumptions as to what might be reasonably expected.

Most of the visitors returning home will probably be able to correct these impressions and false notions will disappear as the season progresses.

Nevertheless it is well to do what can be done to make corrections now. The desire to visit the Fair has spread over the country and even misinformation is not stopping many people, apparently.

The truth is that the Fair is the biggest show ever offered for fifty cents in the world and the gate charge will cover the exposition of more miracle and phenomena than man has ever seen collected in one spot. Any known methed of transportation will get the visitor easily to Chicago and to the grounds. He can come on any kind of wheels, with any kind of power. People come by steamer, dock in the river and use the boat for their hotel. They come by covered wagons and the most ancient of gasoline burners. They come on shoe leather and they come by air. Railroad rates are attractive. Highways are good, and buses run everywhere.

Hotel rates are reasonable and there is plenty of hotel space. There are lodging houses and some tourist camps and any number of information bureaus to set the tourist on the right road to the thing he wants and can afford. On the grounds fifty cents a day opens the gate to days of sightseeing. Many of the greatest exhibits are free. Transportation on the grounds by specially designed buses and specially designed boats is convenient and cheap. Food can be had at the price the visitor wants to pay for it. More lower priced restaurants are being equipped. The concessions are reasonably priced and the visitor can follow his interests at a very reasonable expenditure of money. No other great exposition ever offered so much for so little. Even on the crowded days the guest can find a comfortable chair in a commanding spot and feast himself upon the glories of the fading day as it suddenly breaks into the miracle of the Fair's astonishing night. It could be wished that there were more good music to fill the ear of this night as its eyes are filled, and maybe the expense account will permit it later on. The grapevine which reports the Fair as an expensive treat misrepresents the facts, which are all to the contrary. For the three generations from eight to eighty this is the show of a lifetime and anybody can afford it. No one can afford to miss it.

TWO MORE FOR REPEAL.

Repeal, winning in California and West Virginia, has an unbroken string of sixteen states, not all of which have taken the final action of convention ratification but which nevertheless have made the decision conclusive. The West Virginia election was in the direction of southern sentiment, a border line of the test to be carried into the far south next month in Alabama, which, with Arkansas, votes July 18, Tennessee voting two days later.

Northern states formerly dry have been tried out in Indiana, Michigan and Iowa and the result has been against the amendment. The last ditch prohibitionists are relying on delay wherever they can exert enough influence to postpone the election of delegates and the calling of conventions, but the administration at Washington, trying to avoid the political embarrassment of additional taxes, urges the immediate repeal of the amendment and the restoration of excise collections.

California was one of the most curious prohibition states in the Volstead sisterhood, a land of vineyards and wines and for a time committed to a law hostile to its own products. As a wine country it was just feeling its way to success when it joined the black coats of repression. Its grape growers were rescued by the home making of wines and by the amusing marketing of grape concentrates as a joke on Volstead, but now California quits its absurdities and asks for freedom in an honest market with honest goods.

THE OSKALOOSA OUTRAGE.

The killing by a local sheriff of an unarmed youth near Oskaloosa, Ia., calls, we think, for special attention by state authority. Publicity for the outrage was being discouraged, it appears to us, by local influences and justice was in danger of failure.

Local officers were in search of the operators of a still and the youth, a fisherman, happened upon the scene and was shot down. The excuse for the killing is familiar in dry law enforcement. The victim is alleged to have made a motion toward his pocket which was interpreted as an attempt to draw a gun. He had no gun to draw and the assertion that he made a motion which could be reasonably interpreted as threatening is most improbable. Killing on suspicion is a characteristic of dry law enforcement, but the suspicion had a very flimsy foundation in this as in many other tragic cases of dry law enforcement. Justice calls for severe punishment, but its voice was not loud until outside publicity and protest began. We have no doubt that the community demands justice, but local gang influence was probably at work to suppress it. State authority should see that justice is done for its own sake and for the good name of Iowa.

THE PRICE OF WHEAT.

The announcement by Prof. Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, that a 30 cent processing tax is to be imposed upon every bushel of wheat consumed domestically after July 9 makes curious reading at a time when the price of wheat has already more than doubled within a few weeks.

The more the matter is looked into, the more curious the announcement becomes. Wheat has risen in price because of almost unexampled injury to the crop through adverse weather. In consequence, it is virtually certain that the United States this year will not grow enough wheat to meet its own requirements. We shall consume some part of the surplus which was piled up during the price fixing manipulations of the farm board in the previous administration.

Just at the moment when nature has stepped in as if to rescue the nation from its previous follies, the government once more intervenes. By using the money obtained from the processing tax to induce the farmers to plant less wheat next year, the government is threatening the country with a shortage of breadstuffs should next year's weather conditions again prove unfavorable to the growing crop. The politicians hold strange notions about speculation. They quite fail to appreciate the fact that the values registered on La Salle street represent the best judgment of the shrewdest observers on the price required to move the growing crop into consumption with a safe carry over and provide an adequate inducement to the farmers to produce an adequate supply for the coming year. La Salle street is not infallible. No one can know what kind of weather we will have next week, not to say next year. But by and large, as long as the speculative market has been allowed to function with something approximating freedom, we have never had a fantastic oversupply hanging over the markets from previous years, such as we now have; and we have never known a famine. Mr. Hoover gave us the surplus; it may remain for Mr. Tugwell to give us the famine.

More or less unconsciously, the much berated speculators have accomplished this result by anticipating both supply and demand. They have been condemned as robbers when prices moved down, though it should have been obvious that, unless prices dropped, wheat would not be consumed in sufficient quantity to clear the market. Likewise they have been condemned as hoarders when they bought in anticipation of a shortage, though it should have been equally evident that unless some one held wheat for a higher price the supplies would be exhausted before the new crop was harvested. The political school of economics presents the hoarder as the arch villain of our day, but unless some one is willing to take the chance of accumulating and holding adequate stocks of the essential commodities there is no guarantee against shortage and famine.

MORE HOT WEATHER LEGISLATION.

The railways are apparently having their day at Springfield. The house has passed two truck regulation bills by substantial majorities and they are now with the senate committee on roads, highway transportation and aviation.

House bill 499, which is senior, provides for regulation of practically every move that a highway vehicle may make, and in addition imposes a heavy tonnage tax based on the weight of the vehicle. It is not regulation—it is strangulation.

The principle of regulation as applied to highway or waterway transportation is fundamentally unsound. The railway operates on a private right of way and it is monopolistic in character. Monopolies require watching. Motor vehicles and barges, on the other hand, are modern developments of our oldest forms of transportation, the canal boat and the Conestoga wagon, and to attempt to hobble them for no other reason than that the rail carriers have not behaved themselves is a transgression on American institutions.

Editorial of the Day

[The Traffic World.]

The whole transportation situation has been bungled from the start of the present administration. President Roosevelt, before he was elected, announced what were, in general, sound ideas with respect to transportation legislation. He is still supposed to hold them. But, instead of putting them into effect in legislation while congress was ready to do his will, he adopted the present "emergency," a half baked scheme that can do little good. Even what good it may do, if the plan is regarded as temporary, will be offset by the difficulty of unscrambling the situation when the "temporary emergency" has passed. As a permanent plan it is unthinkable.

It is supposed that now the President, the railroads, the brain trust, and others will give their attention to working out a permanent transportation plan. We hope they will, and, though it is late in the day to criticize the present coördinator law, we hope those who, with us, think it an abomination will say so and mince no words in doing so. Permanent legislation must not be built around the present plan.

We hope it is not altogether too late for the public—including those interested in transportation—to understand that we have put a dangerous power into the hands of our President and that he is inclined to use it—and more—in order to cause his own economic ideas to prevail. It is silly to lull ourselves with the hope that things "may work out for the best." One might give a child a loaded revolver and hope he would not shoot himself or anybody else, and the hope might be realized, but it would be rather a dangerous experiment. It is time for business men to think and act for themselves instead of trusting somebody else to do their thinking and acting and constantly passing the buck. We mean railroad executives as well as other business men. What are they doing to prove they earn the large salaries they are getting and what little of that will be left for them to do when the "new deal" is in final working order? The office boys can then do their work.

By the way, we are not of those who merely criticize after the thing has come to pass. We vigorously opposed the present railroad legislation from the start. We knew why we didn't like it and we know why others will not like it now that it is effective.

"SCIENCE PROMISES WEDDED BLISS."—Headline. Science can explore the stratosphere; it can put a little box in your room that will permit you without any sort of connection to hear voices thousands of miles away; it can enable you to see right through a brick wall or an iron wall, too, for that matter; it can invent machines on which men can fly in the air like birds, only much faster; it can delve into the earth and dig up the secrets of mankind that have been buried for thousands of years; it invents robots that can talk and move about and work with their hands; it can make all the machines in a great factory leap into motion by pressing a single gadget. All these wonderful things and many more can science do.

But can science promise wedded bliss? Has science a machine in the household that will always have the coffee good and hot at breakfast and the eggs not too soft boiled? Has science a machine that will make the husband smile and purr like a Cheshire cat when he pays for the wife's new hat? Has science a machine that will make the baby croon the latest jazz melody instead of hollering like a Piute Indian on the warpath?

Has science a machine that will restrain friend husband from lying like a dog about being kept by extra work down at the office when he is going out to romp with some old college devils that have just blown into town? Has science any recipe that will keep ma-in-laws from butting in and upsetting the beans all over the place?

We ask you, science, have you? If not, then you had better leave this marriage thing alone. It's the one place where science is helpless.

On days as deep with life as this,
Upon the earth must run
With all sweet things that never lived,
My shadowy little son.

The gods are all come back again:
Through grain-fields by the sea
Goes Ceres leading by the hand
Her young Persephone.

He has gone wandering with them,
I have forgotten where,
With pollen on his small white feet
And sunlight in his hair.

And I am seeking down the land,
And on the hilltop's crest,
Madonna in a windflower robe,
With heaven at her breast.

However, seventy-nine cents, these days, is seventy-nine cents.

NOBODY NEED TREMBLE at reading that the United States is threatened with ten years of horse shortage. We don't need horses any more, nowadays; when an auto gets stuck in the mud or runs into the ditch the wrecking car pulls it out. We still say "that's a horse on you" or "I gave him the horse laugh," but those are just quaint expressions handed down from ancient times and which will soon be as forgotten as horses themselves.

DOES YOUR TOWN BRAG?

WHEN a community brags of being healthy and offers its low death rate as proof it is well to inquire as to the age distribution of its population, the proportion of the very young and the very old to the general population, and some additional questions as well.

The boasting implies that they are superior in some way. Maybe they would have us think they protected their water supply against sewage better than did the other city, that they were more careful about the milk their children consumed, that their alleys were kept cleaner, that they had fewer flies, that their climate was more healthful, or their racial stocks superior. Sometimes their bragging can stand analysis, but sometimes it cannot.

Dr. Tuttle of the state health department of the state of Washington some twenty years ago published death rates for his city that were so low that vital statisticians were distrustful. There were able men among the doubting Thomases, but they made the mistake of alleging that the figures were manipulated. They were not, and the imputers were confounded. The figures were all right, but the conclusions drawn were wrong.

The states of the northwest have a healthful climate, as a New Zealander made plain to us. The virtues of the climate are in part responsible for the low death rates and the good health in that region. But a larger part of it was due to the age distribution of the population.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company has recently published a study of the age distribution of the populations of the United States and of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, and Los Angeles, and of five large cities in Europe, one in Australia, and one in Asia. These show Los Angeles to be a city of old people. Philadelphia ranks second in this particular. The other American cities rank: Chicago, New York, and Detroit. Tokio and Sydney have youthful populations.

The chief factors in determining the age of a population are the birth rate, the death rate, and the movement of adult population. Paris, Berlin, and Vienna have birth rates that are lower than the death rates, or about on a level with them. Certain other cities have high birth rates that offset high death rates. It appears that in the present stage of society the movement of adult population is the principal determining factor. Los Angeles has an old population because so many elderly people go there to spend the evening of their lives.

Philadelphia is near the same class because the conservative citizen likes to live out his life in the region of his birth. The population of Detroit is youthful because during the last twenty years so many young people have moved there to get jobs. The cities, as a rule, are younger than the rural districts because the young people of the latter have sought the work opportunities of the former, while the country old people have remained at home.

If a community has a large proportion of elderly people it will have an undue amount of cancer and heart disease. If it has many young children it will have high baby death rates and high diarrhea rates. If the child population averages older it will have much measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, and diphtheria, but in spite of these the general death rate will be very low. If there is a disproportionate group of, say, age 20 to 40, the general death rate will be low, but there will be much pneumonia and consumption.

CHEWING RUBBER.

G. P. writes: I think I have the world's prize dumb addiction. I chew rubber—bands, erasers, etc. I think I have had this habit for about 25 years, and although I have tried to overcome it I am unable to do so.

1. What is there in the composition of rubber that I crave?

2. What is wrong with me that I should have such a craving?

3. Is there anything I can do, or anything I can eat, that will help?

4. What are the results of this habit? For the last several years I have bought rubber bands by the bundle, and I chew them until there is no more substance left in them. This is no joke.

REPLY.

1. Nothing.

2. Nothing serious. You probably started it as something of a pose. Perhaps you continued it for a while on that basis. It is now something of a habit.

3. You can break this habit in the way other bad habits are broken. Diet will make no difference.

4. There are none of consequence.

MAY RECOVER.

Chicago, June 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A paid $5 deposit on a $70 motorcycle on April 27. He is told by the dealer before he can take the machine out he must pay a total of $35 plus $3.50 for carrying charges. He is assured this is the total price. On April 28 and May 6 A paid $12 and $18 respectively, totaling $35. 1. He is now told he must pay an additional $7.50 for insurance before he can take it out. A's partner B claims this additional charge is a misrepresentation on the price and decides he does not want the machine. He requests a return of his deposit and is refused. 2. Has the dealer the right to decide whether the deposit is forfeited by refusing the machine? No contract was signed. A receipt for $35 was given in the form of an account book. 3. Both A and B are minors. 4. Is there any law or regulation that can compel the dealer to return the $35? C. N.

1. We agree that the dealer would not be able to make this additional charge on the facts that you state.

2. No.

3. This will be another ground for the purchaser to recover his money.

4. He is obliged to return it on general legal principles.

DISCHARGE OF FIREARMS.

Chicago, June 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please tell me if there is a law against shooting sparrows with a .22 caliber rifle in the city of Chicago if it is done in one's own back yard.

Sec. 4200 of the city code provides that "no person shall discharge . . . any . . . firearms within the city" except at shooting galleries, etc., or in specified hunting areas.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 29, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—The price of coal is coming down at once, according to the official assurances of the administration following a tentative agreement on prices reached by the bituminous coal operators in what Secretary of the Interior Lane pronounced the most remarkable industrial conference in the history of the nation. The operators, representing every producing state, agreed that the price of bituminous coal, beginning with July 1, shall not exceed $3.50 a ton of 2,000 pounds at the mine.

PETROGRAD.—The moderate law abiding citizens are assembling for the defense of the provisional government as a result of evidence that has been accumulating that the members of the extreme right have combined with the anarchists and members of the bolshevik faction to utilize the demonstration in memory of the revolution's victims of last week for the purpose of a counter revolution.

RIO JANEIRO.—Brazil has revoked its decree of neutrality in the war between the entente allies and Germany. Having previously revoked its policy of aloofness, so far as it affected the hostilities between the United States and Germany, Brazil now has come definitely into the open and announced that it can no longer be considered neutral in the war between the entente and Germany.

WAR SUMMARY.—Unofficial reports show that Canadians have reached outskirts of Lens and that bitter fighting for the mining center is in progress. Berlin ignores this theater in its official report. Paris reports intermittent bombardment in the region of Hurtebise, on Teton height, Mont Blond, and Carmillet. Berlin reports continued bombardment in some sectors of the front in Galicia.

OTTAWA, Ont.—The declaration that a general strike of organized labor in Canada will be called if the government attempts to apply conscription without first obtaining the consent of a majority of the people was made in parliament yesterday by Alphonse Verville, Labor member, who for many years was president of the Canadian Trades and Labor congress. Mr. Verville declared that Canadian labor would have the support of organized labor in the United States, although there would be no strike there.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—What are the names of the best and most reasonable hotels near the Fair grounds?

ANSWER—Write to either of the following people for information about hotel accommodations: Miss Nan F. Dean, secretary Jackson Park Hotel association, 1642 E. 56th street; J. K. Blatchford, secretary Chicago Hotel association, 58 E. Congress street; or R. L. Vanderslice, secretary North Shore Hotel association, 520 N. Michigan, Chicago.

QUESTION—Can you tell me the history of the Great Chalice of Antioch, and where it will be shown at the Fair?

ANSWER—The chalice is on exhibition in the Hall of Religion. It is believed to have been made in the first century A. D. The chalice is blackened with age, and the artwork on it establishes the time of its date at some time within 50 years after the death of Christ. It has been believed by some to be the long searched for Holy Grail, but, of course, there is no proof for this contention.

MORE ABOUT JOHN PAUL JONES.

Chicago, June 22.—Regarding Admiral John Paul Jones, Funk & Wagnalls' Standard Encyclopedia says, "John Paul [1747-'92], United States naval commander, by his countrymen styled 'The Pirate,' was born in Kirkcudbrightshire, Scotland, the fifth and youngest child of John Paul, head gardener to Mr. Craik of Arbigland. Apprenticed at 1[illegible] as sailor boy to a Whitehaven merchant, he made several voyages to America, where he had an elder brother settled in Virginia. This brother's property he inherited in 1773, having meanwhile for five years been mate on a slaver; and about the same time he changed his name, John Paul, for that under which he is famous."

The Encyclopedia goes on to say that this Kirkcudbrightshire bairn proved to be one of the most achieving men of action in the early history of the republic, but it quotes Prof. Laughton: "His vanity was excessive and his moral character may be summed up in one word—detestable."

In view of which one is surprised and pained to read THE TRIBUNE'S bitter comment entitled "J. Bull in the China Shop," indicting all Englishmen as nosey egotists because of the "bad taste and bad manners" of one who wrote you about Admiral Jones. As well might we indict all Americans as vulgar provincials because of the absurd gaucheries of Yankee tourists in Europe. Your genuine fans charitably concluded that the unseasonably torrid temperature had affected the editorial pen.

A CERMAK MEMORIAL.

Chicago, June 22.—I note that July 10 has been decided on by the city council as a tag day for collection of funds with which to erect a monument as a memorial to the late Mayor Cermak, which monument will occupy a prominent location in Grant park. This move sponsored by politicians and other political parasites who received favor during the Cermak administration should be discouraged.

Considering the fact that Cook county, which for years was under the rule of Cermak, was one of the first to default on its bonds, and during the Cermak city administration there were and still are quite a few unpaid city employés, I am unable to determine any reason why a memorial should be erected. Inasmuch as an important city street in Chicago has been renamed Cermak road, I think sufficient recognition has already been bestowed.

The next move of the city council will be to change the name of Lincoln park to Cermak park. P. T. GRONWOLL.

IN THE RECORDER'S OFFICE.

Chicago, June 22.—If a few Democratic efficiency experts would wander through the recorder's office on the main floor of the county building some morning during supposed working hours they might understand why people dislike paying taxes. One can openly observe men and women, with pencils in hand, industriously checking the day's horse racing program and discussing yesterday's winners. When looking around one also notes different employés getting their shoes shined while they efficiently slouch in chairs. Of course, one can easily understand that a great many of these political appointees must be on hand in case real estate should pick up over night or perhaps the county declare a pay day, but why not lend, temporarily at least, a few husky precinct workers to the sheriff's office, which, I understand, could use about forty men to speed up the work of a busy office?

OBSERVER.

COMICS.

River Forest, Ill., June 21.—May I add my voice to the growing protest of parents against your comics as they used to be called? It would take a perverted mind to find anything funny in the current lot. Harold Grey is trying to get Orphan Annie murdered by the Pinchpennys; Sidney Smith is elaborating on the crooked ways to obtain property from innocents; Smitty and Herby have lost their father and are now losing their pet and the Teens are losing their home.

But Chester Gould caps them all in "Dick Tracy." After a liberal education in criminology and jailbreaking, he is giving the children the finer details in torturing in today's paper.

The children have been educated for years to look daily for the cartoons, and those who are not old enough to read insist on having them read. This is an appeal to the editor to have them fit to read to children. ANNE HOLDREGE.

A FORECAST ABOUT CHICAGO.

LONDON, June 10.—In view of the great international exhibition now being held in Chicago I venture to think that a prophecy as to the future of your great city, which appeared in the Illustrated London News on Aug. 22, 1863—just 70 years ago—may not be without interest to your readers. It is in part as follows:

"It is impossible to contemplate the picture of the North American states without seeing that the city of Chicago must occupy the most prominent position in it, standing as it does at the head of inland navigation and at the head also of those great alluvial tracts of rich prairie lands, which even now are scarcely touched, lands where soil, climate, and all desirable things else invite men to settle upon them and progress.

"And it is not on the surface alone that these riches exist, for beneath is the inexhaustible bed of coal and limestone adapted for every purpose. Copper, lead, and other minerals abound in the north; and there is a mountain of iron in the south. The greatest nation the world has ever seen will be that which will one day inhabit the plains of Illinois. Chicago will be the capital and New York its seaport."

And who is the man that shall say that this bold visionary prophet of 1863, if he were to see Chicago today, would not feel justified in fully believing that his prophecy was well on the road to a not too distant fulfillment?

A LIGHTING EFFECT.

Chicago, June 23.—An article in THE TRIBUNE of June 21 states the invention called the scintalator by Mr. D'Arcy Ryan is the first time batteries of light and steam were being used. With all due respect to Mr. Ryan and the beautiful lighting at A Century of Progress, I must report that we have employed this method of illumination for over 20 years. In the volcano scene in the "Bird of Paradise" production we used steam, gunpowder, and Chinese silk to produce the volcano. It is just in the last few years that theatrical lighting is being used in exterior lighting.

JUDGE DEFEATS MOVE TO OUST TAX RECEIVER

Upholds Jarecki's Action Under Skarda Law.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate taxes collected yesterday totaled $426,861. The totals collected during the day for four years are shown in the following table:

	1928.	1929.
June 28......$	15,599	$ 54,510
Uncollected...	19,131,461	50,296,049
	1930.	1931.
June 28......$	79,771	$ 276,981
Uncollected...	81,315,012	112,033,896

Personal property taxes for 1931 collected yesterday totaled $3,423.

An effort to oust the tax receiver from custody of the Lansing hotel, 1036 North Dearborn street, was defeated late yesterday afternoon by Circuit Judge Joseph Burke. The decision was hailed as a victory for the enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act, which was designed to collect delinquent taxes from income producing properties.

On June 16 County Judge Jarecki appointed County Treasurer McDonough as received for the Lansing hotel, which owes $30,353 in back taxes. McDonough appointed Daniel P. Wagner as his agent to collect income until the taxes were paid, and Wagner, an experienced hotel man, took charge.

Win Appointment of Receiver.

Yesterday a bill for a receiver was filed in the Circuit court before Judge Burke by Morris Chaiplen. Judge Burke, unaware that the county treasurer was already in possession of the property, appointed Samuel Pancoe as receiver.

The appointment of Pancoe was obtained by the same firm of lawyers who tried last week in the federal court to defeat Judge Jarecki's drive against tax dodgers by obtaining an injunction from Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles restraining the county judge and the county treasurer from taking possession of a tax delinquent property. The hearing on the petition has been continued. The law firm is that of Sabath, Perlman, Goodman & Rein, headed by Congressman A. J. Sabath.

When Pancoe was appointed receiver by Judge Burke yesterday he went to the Lansing hotel, according to the story told by Wagner, and took possession, under threat of bodily ejecting the county treasurer's receiver. The latter complained to Mr. McDonough, and Judge Burke was then informed that Judge Jarecki had already entered a receivership order under the Kerner-Skarda act.

Summoned Before Judge.

All parties in the case were summoned into Judge Burke's chambers. A. W. Fulton, president of the hotel building corporation, protested against Pancoe's taking charge and said that the management of Wagner had been satisfactory. He asserted, moreover, that Pancoe had scheduled only a $600 bond to take charge of a $750,000 property.

Pancoe had seized papers from the hotel, it was disclosed. He attacked the management of Wagner. His attorneys declared that Judge Jarecki's appointment of the county treasurer was illegal because the Kerner-Skarda act was unconstitutional and the county judge had no jurisdiction.

"I will assume that the Kerner-Skarda act is constitutional," said Judge Burke. "As to the appointment of receivers, the law is clear. If the County court has appointed a receiver, the Circuit court cannot appoint a second receiver. Neither can the County court appoint a receiver after the Circuit court has appointed one. There cannot be two receivers in one property.

"I will direct Pancoe to stay out of possession of the property and to return the papers he has taken to the county treasurer's agent. The county treasurer remains as receiver of the hotel."

Receiver for 20 Properties.

Judge Jarecki appointed the county treasurer as receiver for 20 tax delinquent properties yesterday. The following list gives the properties named and the amounts of taxes due upon each:

1320 Estes-av.	7,284
6818 Wayne-av	6,426
6351 Lakewood-av.	6,661

Approximately $100,000 in taxes was paid by property owners in order to avoid similar receivership orders.

Judge Jarecki criticized the administration of George A. Golder as receiver for the Grandeur hotel, 6173 Winthrop avenue, on which the tax debt is $25,419. He was told by Assistant State's Attorney William T. Crilly that no taxes had been paid upon the property for three years.

"Who appointed this receiver?" queried the judge.

"Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan," was the answer.

"I can't believe that Judge Sullivan knows that his receiver has not paid a cent upon taxes in such a long time," said Judge Jarecki. "Report this fact to him immediately and file an information against the receiver for an explanation of the diversion of income in preference to tax payments."

The judge also ordered the filing of an information against Joseph F. Connery, receiver for the Parkway, Webster, and Belden-Stratford hotels, which owe a total of $204,243 in back taxes.

DUNNE DEMANDS AN EXPLANATION FROM WILMETTE

The commissioners of the Wilmette park district who control the Wilmette beaches are going to have to answer to Edward F. Dunne, former governor of Illinois, former mayor of Chicago, and former Circuit court judge. His daughter, nephews, and nieces were ordered off the beach on Saturday and their clothes were confiscated by the police. Mr. Dunne said yesterday that he was writing a letter to the "executive in charge of the beaches," demanding to know by what law, regulation or by-law people "are deprived of their rights and property without trial."

"It is an outrage," said Mr. Dunne, "that any one should be treated that way. Most of the residents of Wilmette gain their livelihood in Chicago. They come to this city, get police and fire protection, and are invited to use our beaches, but when we go up there we are treated like Ishmaelites or enemies.

"My next step in this affair will depend upon the answer which I get to my letter."

DENTIST STRUCK BY AUTO ON DRIVE; EXPECTED TO DIE

Dr. Clifford Bascombe Hit While Repairing Tire.

Dr. Clifford Bascombe, a dentist, 5338 Blackstone avenue, suffered probably fatal injuries last night when he was struck by an automobile while repairing a tire on his own car at 41st street and the outer drive. He was taken to Chicago Memorial hospital, suffering from a fracture of the skull.

Police charged the driver, Harry Look, 9046 South Racine avenue, with reckless driving. Look said the accident occurred because another automobile forced him to the side of the roadway.

Two small boys were killed by automobiles yesterday. Their deaths and one other increased the 1933 motor death toll in Cook county to 484. The victims:

Joseph Pavlsick, 7 years old, 9710 Exchange avenue. Crushed by the wheels of a trailer after he had run into the side of a truck at 100th street and Ewing avenue. Lloyd Saradee, Akron, O., driver of the truck, owned by the Liberty Highway company of Akron, was held.

Bernard McGuire, 6 years old, 3259 Lowe avenue. Died in Jackson Park hospital after being struck by an automobile driven by Peter Valickas, 6521 South Paulina street. Valickas was held for the inquest.

An unidentified man, between 60 and 70 years of age. Killed early this morning by an automobile in 130th street, near the Calumet river. The driver was Bruno Madalozzo, 21 years old, 12051 La Salle street.

Mrs. Sophie Schwertfeger, 38 years old, 811 West 57th street, died yesterday in a hospital in Merrill, Wis., of injuries incurred Tuesday when an automobile driven by her brother-in-law, Ludwig Leck, Bloomville, overturned near Merrill. Leck was severely injured.

James Vezina of Chicago was killed yesterday near Pekin, Ill., when the truck he was driving crashed into a telephone pole. A reserve driver said Vezina apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

A man whose belt buckle and handkerchief bore the name C. C. Arthur was killed in an accident near Jasper, Ga., yesterday. Papers in his pocket bore the name of Hotel Cedar, 1112 North State street, Chicago, but employés of the hotel could find no record of Arthur's having lived there.

BALDWIN FORCES ROUT CHURCHILL ON INDIA POLICY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 28. — The government won an overwhelming victory for its India policy today from 1,200 delegates from all parts of the country at the Conservative party's central council meeting. Supporters of Stanley Baldwin, party leader and second to Prime Minister MacDonald in the national government, voted down Winston Churchill's revolters, 838 to 356.

WM. LINK HEADS BOARD OF LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

The city council yesterday approved Mayor Kelly's appointment of William W. Lnk to be president of the board of local improvements. The post has been vacant since the first of the year, when Benjamin F. Lindheimer resigned it to become chairman of the Illinois commerce commission.

Mr. Link, who is 49 years old, was born in Chicago and attended Medill High school, Lewis institute, and the Y. M. C. A. college. He was employed as an executive by the Western Electric company for several years, and 15 years ago became president and general manager of the Imperial Japanning and Enameling company. He is a former chairman of the Master Japanners association.

He has held numerous positions in the 41st ward Democratic organization, and at present is its chairman. He is married and lives at 6223 McClellan avenue.

"No BLOWOUTS on MY 4th of July Trip!

I'm getting new Goodyears NOW"

You don't need to be told that a thin, risky tire can take all the joy out of driving—but perhaps you have never figured that it costs you money to ride on old tires, with prices on the way up—if you pay more for new tires later on.

So buy now—enjoy your big July 4th week-end—and save yourself some money.

And while you're buying—get the SAFETY of blowout protection in every ply—get the SAFETY of grip in the center of the tread. Only Goodyear can give you the double safety of Supertwist Cord in every ply—and every ply from bead to bead—combined with the safety of the world-famous All-Weather Tread.

You can buy Goodyears—the world's first-choice tires—for not a cent more than tires which give far less value and protection.

PRICES HAVE STARTED UP!

Don't wait to buy your tires!

You can see for yourself these prices are still low. Don't miss them by trying to squeeze a few more miles out of old worn-out rubber.

8 YEAR OLD GIRL WRITES APPEAL TO FREE ICE FUND

Tells How Precious Milk Spoils on Hot Days.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

An eight year old girl who lives in a basement on West 13th street wrote a letter to THE TRIBUNE Free Ice Fund yesterday, in which she said:

"I was reading the paper and it said you give away free ice. I think we should get it too. I have no father and two of my sisters died. We don't get milk every day and when we do get it we have no ice to put it on, so it gets sour. But I don't complain to my mother because she has plenty of worries because she can't find a job."

Heat Sours Precious Milk.

That was only one of the many appeals for ice sent the fund by needy families yesterday. The torrid wave has caused added suffering and endangered the health of babies and small children. Efforts to keep a bottle of milk cool in the kitchen sink without ice fail, and the precious supply of milk spoils. A piece of ice sent regularly to these families may prevent serious illness.

Contributions yesterday totaled $85, a few dollars more than on Tuesday when the largest daily total yet this year was received. A $25 gift from a Mrs. Ford led the list. One gift came from a Wisconsin reader, while another came in the name of R. G. P., a 2½ year old child.

Day's Gifts Acknowledged.

The gifts, giving the fund a grand total of $420.93, are listed below:

$10.00—Mrs. S. O. Knott; Ethelyn C. Hopkins.
$5.00—From a Group: Mrs. Maud Leach; Nellie A. Snell, Walworth, Wis.; J. L. Larallee; R. G. P., who is 2½ years old.
$3.00—A. Tither; A. L. Bloom.
$2.00—For Mrs. J. B.'s baby and sick little girl; W. B. Loftus Jr.
$1.00—6856 Jeffery Avenue.

Total .... $ 85.00
Previously acknowledged 335.93
Grand total $420.93

Contributions to the Free Ice Fund should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower. Gifts to the Camp Algonquin fund, which supplies mothers and children with two weeks vacations at the Fox river camp, 95 miles northeast of Chicago, will be welcomed also.

LOVETT'S ARREST INVOLVES SINGLE ISSUE, HE SAYS

Prof. Robert Morss Lovett of the University of Chicago declared yesterday that only one issue was involved in his arrest on Monday when he went to 3900 South Michigan avenue to investigate reports that strikers and pickets were being mistreated by police.

"The issue is whether a citizen has a right to address courteously a policeman on duty without being subject to insult and arrest," Prof. Lovett said.

The 62 year old professor, who lives at Hull house, was arrested with Robert McKenna, executive secretary of the Civil Liberties union. They asked and obtained a jury trial, which is scheduled for July 19. Members of the faculty of the University of Chicago joined in a protest at the treatment accorded to Prof. Lovett.

Yesterday there was a small riot at the apron factory, the cause of which was not determined by police. They found several hundred persons around the shop and after dispersing them they found that a woman had been cut on the arm when crushed against a window which broke.

A committee is seeking to get an agreement for a wage increase for the strikers, but the report was that the strikers are demanding more than the factory owners are willing to give.

KOBAK IS AGAIN TO BE PRESIDENT OF ADFEDERATION

To War on Destructive Competition.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 28.—[Special.]—Edgar Kobak of New York, vice president and general sales manager of McGraw-Hill Publishing company, today was reëlected president of the Advertising Federation of America, closing its twenty-ninth annual convention.

The board of directors also reëlected the other officers: Arthur H. Brayton, Des Moines, editor of the Merchants' Trade Journal, secretary; Charles E. Murphy, New York attorney, treasurer, and Gilbert T. Hodges, New York Sun, chairman of the board of directors.

Condemn Unfair Ads.

Resolutions were adopted reaffirming the federation's "deep faith in the efficacy of organized effort to improve advertising and curb destructive competition" and "to prohibit false, misleading, and unfair advertising."

Resolutions also asserted the convention's confidence in the immediate future of American business.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, who addressed the closing session of the convention, declared a "change has come over the United States in the last three months." Advertsing and sales, he declared, will come back first.

Capper Sees Changed Business.

"But business," he said, "will never be the same that it was in the booming 1920s. I do not mean volume of business; I mean business methods and the philosophy of every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost—the idea that everything was justified if it paid, that profits were the one test of good business practice. I am convinced that the last four years have taught us something."

DISCORD PERILS MEETING HERE OF TECHNOCRATS

The technocrats, united in what was planned to be an earth shaking convention at the Morrison hotel, seemed on the verge last night of breaking up in discord.

At a meeting Tuesday, Howard Scott, original prophet of technocracy at Columbia university, director of Technocracy, Inc., and holder of the copyright on that name, delivered a speech in the style of Adolf Hitler, threatening "bayonets" for those who refused to fall in line. At yesterday morning's session the Continental committee on technocracy repudiated Mr. Scott's pronouncements as so much "baloney."

Scott came back to the afternoon session with a blistering indictment of the moderates as men "boot licking for their own advantage." It was considered probable that a banquet scheduled for tonight will not be held

WIFE CHARGES HUSBAND TOOK HER BRIDAL FUND

According to the custom of her people, Mrs. Maryan Stachura, 19 years old, 1747 Keenon street, danced with the male guests at her wedding party on May 7, 1932, and each of them pinned a bill to her wedding dress, until she had $270. Then, she charges, her husband, Joseph, took the $270 and upbraided her for giving a few free dances. In his anger, she charges, he took over the bar at the party and became intoxicated. She made her charges in an answer filed yesterday by Attorney Harry X Cole to the divorce bill filed by Stachura, charging desertion. She left him a month after their marriage. Mrs. Stachura asked temporary alimony and the return of her $270 bridal fund.

Oklahoma Legislature Asks State Vote on Repeal

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 28.—(AP)—The Oklahoma senate voted, 23 to 15, today to request Gov. W. H. Murray to allow the special session to consider a state-wide vote on repeal of the 18th amendment. The resolution was adopted by the house yesterday.

CUSTER, NELSON IN PEORIA; DENY KINNEY IS CAUSE

Would-Be Suicide Their Political Ally.

Peoria, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Omer Custer of Galesburg, publisher and former state treasurer, and Oscar Nelson, Geneva, former state auditor, quietly dropped into Peoria today just for a chat with local politicians, they said.

Peoria politicians wondered if their call had anything to do with the dilemma in which Garret Kinney, their former political friend, now finds himself in as a result of the audit report showing a shortage of some $174,000 in his accounts with the state during the Emmerson administration. Kinney was director of finance.

Both Custer and Nelson denied their presence here had anything to do with the Kinney investigation.

"I am just passing through the city," Mr. Custer said. "I am en route to Springfield on business."

"Are you going to see Kinney before you leave?" he was asked.

"I don't know; will they let any one see him?" replied the publisher.

Nelson, too, denied there was any significance in his visit.

"I am on my way back to my home at Geneva," he said. "I am farming since I got out of politics."

Asked if he expected to call on Kinney, he replied that he did not.

For years Custer and Nelson were conspicuously identified with Kinney in dominant Republican state politics, and that is the reason their unexpected and simultaneous presence here started tongues wagging.

When Custer served two terms as state treasurer Kinney was his investigator of securities. Later Kinney was elected state treasurer himself, serving a two year term.

During the Emmerson campaign for governor both were his ardent supporters. Following his election Kinney was named director of finance and Custer chairman of the tax commission, positions they held until relieved from duty by Gov. Henry Horner, a Democrat.

INSISTS FAMILY INSTITUTION IS NOT CRUMBLING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 28.—[Special.]—The family institution in the United States is not crumbling, more than 1,400 members of the National Home Economics association, convening in Milwaukee, were told tonight by Dr. William F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago and Dr. E. Eustace Hayden, also of the University of Chicago.

"Family affection is the strongest bond of unity holding the family together," Dr. Ogburn declared. "Despite statistics showing the increasing number of divorces affection among families still is very strong."

Marked changes in family life within a decade were predicted by Dr. Ogburn. Among the institutions that are losing their control over individuals in the family is the church, he said. "Religion is undoubtedly declining in the United States and churches no longer exercise the power they did over the actions of individuals in the family."

Factors taking the children out of the home include modern education, which takes the task of teaching children out of the home, and commercialized amusements.

An individual's code of morals and ethics is no longer controlled by the family, Dr. Hayden stated, but by outside factors. Formerly the individual's code of life was covered by the family—their code was his. He was told what he ought to do and his family saw to it that he did it.

Dog Stops Runaway Horse and Saves Master

Ionia, Mich., June 28.—[Special.]—Pal, family dog on the farm of John Eaves, Ronald township, saved his master from injury in a runaway. While Eaves was raking hay the horse ran away. Pal, who was nearby, came to his rescue. Overtaking the frightened animal, Pal sunk his teeth into its nose and brought it to a halt.

Police Here Are Asked to Find Champaign Man, 65

LAKE WIND COOLS CHICAGO AS ITS NEIGHBORS BAKE

A gentle breeze from the northeast, across the blue of Lake Michigan, wafted over Chicago yesterday and prevented temperatures climbing to the extreme heights of the previous day, when a record breaking 100.1 degrees was registered.

The reading at 11 a. m., shortly before the cool wind came, was 88. Then came a slow descent in the readings and by 4 p. m. the temperature was 78.

"This relief was local," said Forecaster C. A. Donnel. "The wind penetrated only a few miles inland. Back of its limits it was still extremely warm, although the clouds prevented readings going quite as high as on Tuesday."

Avert Strike of Elevator Men in County's Service

A threatened strike of elevator operators in the County and Criminal Court buildings was averted yesterday at a conference between Sheriff Meyering, custodian of the two buildings, and Thomas C. O'Brien, business agent of local 66 of the elevator operators' and starters' union. The employés had threatened to strike because, in common with other county employés, they have been receiving a 15 per cent pay cut. O'Brien agreed to hold off a strike and to seek to have members of his union exempted from the pay cut in the 1934 budget.

43% POPULATION OF U. S. IN STATES ON REPEAL LIST

Half of People Will Be on Record Soon.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—Forty-three per cent of the population of the United States is in states which have voted for repeal of national prohibition. West Virginia and California, which swung into the repeal parade yesterday, made the score 16 states which, in unbroken line, have voted in the last eleven weeks to eradicate the 18th amendment from the federal constitution.

As the score stands, one-third of the 48 states have voted on the repeal issue, and all have gone against prohibition. The 16 states have a total population of 52,721,593, which is 43 per cent of the 122,775,000 people of the United States in 1930.

Before the end of July almost 50 per cent of the total population will be in states which have voted on repeal.

States on Repeal List.

The 16 states, with their populations, which have already gone for repeal are as follows, in the order of their voting:

Michigan	4,842,325
Wisconsin	2,939,006
Rhode Island	687,947
Wyoming	225,565
New Jersey	4,041,334
New York	12,588,066
Delaware	238,380
Nevada	91,058
Illinois	7,630,654
Indiana	3,238,503
Massachusetts	4,249,614
Iowa	2,470,939
Connecticut	1,606,903
New Hampshire	465,293
California	5,677,251
West Virginia	1,729,205
Total	52,721,593

In addition to the 16 states which voted for repeal, 17 other states have set elections for this year, while four other states are also expected to hold elections this year, making a total of 37.

In addition there are four other states where repealists believe there is a possibility of elections being set for this year, making a total of 41.

To ratify repeal 36 states are necessary.

Repeal May Come by Jan. 1.

Expectations of repealists that repeal may be ratified before the new year were strengthened today by the vote in West Virginia, a former bulwark of the drys, which adopted state prohibition in 1912, twenty-one years ago. It voted for repeal yesterday by overwhelming majorities, and it was regarded here today as a probable indicator of sentiment in states south of the Ohio river. California, which went for repeal three to one, is the leading wine state, but in years past it has had drastic enforcement laws.

Based on nearly complete returns, the vote in West Virginia was: For repeal, 216,840; against repeal, 134,629; and in California: For repeal, 964,571; against repeal, 295,337.

Next month will see elections in three southern states—Arkansas and Alabama July 18 and Tennessee July 20—and they are regarded as the first real test of how sentiment stands in the south, which went dry years before national prohibition, but which in recent years has been evincing strong anti-prohibition surgings in elections. West Virginia is looked on as a straw in the wind.

Drys Work in Arkansas.

The professional drys are now concentrating upon Arkansas in particular in a last ditch stand of the sort they put on in Indiana and Iowa, where on election day they were washed out on the repeal wave. In Tennessee and Alabama also they are shouting as in Iowa and Indiana that these states may be "a stumbling block" in the way of repeal. In all three states the repealists look for the vote to go as in West Virginia and the agricultural states of the midwest which have voted.

MURDER CHARGE IS FILED IN IOWA DRY RAID KILLING

Victim's Mother Acts Against Officer.

Oskaloosa, Ia., June 28.—[Special.]—A charge of murder against Police Chief Howard Allgood, who killed Gerald Blackwood, 23, of Eddyville, the night of June 16, was filed tonight by Mrs. Mary Blackwood, the youth's mother, it was announced by Justice of the Peace J. E. Bartley.

Justice Bartley, who said he had not yet had time to read the complaint thoroughly, declared that he would arrest Allgood tomorrow morning.

Young Blackwood, a fish peddler and unarmed, was slain by the sheriff in the course of a dry raid on an island in the Des Moines river near Eddyville.

No Recommendation Made.

A coroner's inquest on Monday brought the formal verdict that Blackwood was shot and fatally wounded by Allgood, but made no recommendation as to prosecution and the county officials have indicated they believe the chief's action was justified under the circumstances.

The circumstances, as brought out in testimony at the inquest, were: Allgood, Sheriff Frank Hook and Deputy Sheriff Fritz Van Genderen found a still on the island and lay in wait for the operators. Shortly after dark Blackwood walked along the path by which they hid.

Find Blackwood Unarmed.

A light was flashed into the face of the unarmed fisherman. Allgood fired, inflicting the fatal wound. Later he and his companions declared they believed Blackwood was reaching toward his hip pocket for a pistol. It was shown, however, that he had no weapon and was on the island only for the fishing.

The only qualification of the "no prosecution" decision on Allgood made by the county officials was that "charges not developed at the coroner's inquest" might be filed. It is understood the office of the state's attorney general has been given a report of the affair, but no action from that source has been started.

COUNCIL ADOPTS $150 BEER TAX FOR SIX MONTHS

$25 License for Grocers Wins Only 5 Votes.

The city council yesterday adopted amendments extending the present beer licensing ordinance to Dec. 31 and fixing a $150 license fee for the last six months of this year.

Ald. James J. Cusack [5th] led an unsuccessful fight to permit grocers and others to sell bottled beer for consumption off their premises upon payment of a $25 fee, putting forth the argument that home drinking would increase temperance and keep the workingman out of the saloon.

Only five aldermen supported Ald. Cusack in his fight. They were B. A. Cronson [4th], Thomas J. Daley [7th], O. E. Northrup [19th], John S. Clark [30th, and Thomas P. Keane [31st].

Sees Unfairness to Grocers.

"In the case of grocers," said Ald. Cusack, "sale of beer is incidental to the sale of groceries. You put these merchants up against unfair competition if you make the fee so high that they can't deal in beer.

"The people showed by their vote on June 5 that they want beer readily accessible. In the interests of temperance it should be made so. If you make it easy for citizens to get beer for consumption with meals in their homes you guard against forcing them into the saloons and bringing about the old saloon conditions which brought about prohibition."

"If we're not careful what we do with beer," said Ald. Keane, "we'll get into trouble when liquor comes back. As I understand it, the purveyor of food doesn't come under the license merger provision, and so he will have to pay two fees if he wants to sell beer. Most grocers are men of good standing and shouldn't be legislated out of this business."

Provision Against Double Tax.

The license merger provision to which Ald. Keane referred allows restaurants, cabarets, and other licensed businesses seeking beer licenses to pay only the higher license fees of the two provided for their businesses. This means, generally, that they will have to pay only the beer license.

Other amendments to the beer ordinance which were passed provide separate licenses for each bar in an establishment, prohibit sale of beer within 100 feet of churches, schools, and other institutions except in restaurants, drug stores, and similar establishments already doing business in such locations, and stop the proration of the license fee, as was done during the first half of the year, due to the fact that beer sales did not start until April.

Another amendment provides a $10 fee for special bar permits for sale of beer at picnics and dances. Sale is permitted from 8 a. m. to 3 a. m., and the permit holder must post a $3,500 bond.

Controller Made Judge of Bonds.

On the motion of Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], the provision requiring a $2,000 bond from beer dispensers was stricken out, and the city controller was made the judge of the amount and nature of bond to be posted by each licensee. Under the old provision, beer sellers would have had to pay an estimated $125,000 each six months to surety companies.

Ald. Nelson also attacked the amendment, which the council passed, making its members the final judges of all beer licenses, in place of the police department. The provision, it is expected, will give each alderman the privilege, under council courtesy, of dictating who may sell beer in his ward.

"If you have forty saloonkeepers in your ward now, they'll want a monopoly, and ask you to refuse to approve any more licenses," Ald. Nelson warned. "If you oblige them, each new applicant will be your enemy, and if you don't heed the forty they'll be your enemies."

"If the aldermen wish to take the responsibility and have it placed in their lap should anything occur in a tavern, it will be on their shoulders, and all right with me," Mayor Kelly said of this provision. "However, the mayor still has the power of revoking beer licenses.'"

LEAPS INTO RIVER; RESCUED.

Sylvester Collins, 33 years old, 1266 Fry street, was rescued from the Chicago river by Patrick Culhane and Michael Owens after he had leaped from the Madison street bridge early yesterday.

COURT ATTACK MADE ON CALIFORNIA POLL ON REPEAL QUESTION

Los Angeles, Cal., June 28.—(AP)—On petition of Richard M. Cannon, son of Bishop James Cannon of the Methodist Church, South, and Frank G. H. Stevens, Superior Judge Hartley Shaw late today issued a temporary order restraining the county board of supervisors from canvassing the votes or certifying the result in the state election on the question of repealing the 18th amendment.

Judge Shaw ordered the supervisors to show cause next Wednesday why the injunction should not be made permanent.

In their petition, Cannon and Stevens renewed the attack on the validity of the state legislative act providing for yesterday's election which they started a few weeks ago before the state Supreme court.

Attorneys in the case, E. Neal Ames of Pasadena and Richard K. Gandy, Santa Monica, said Cannon and Stevens, after applying to the Supreme court for a writ of mandate prohibiting the election, decided, because of the shortness of time and of the possibility of invalidating their issues on the ballot, to delay further action until after the election.

"The primary purpose of this action," the lawyers said, "is to insist upon the correct constitutional procedure in adopting or refusing to adopt the 21st amendment, and is not an attempt to prevent the people of California from expressing their desire upon this issue in a legal and constitutional manner."

BLAMES REPEAL TIDE ON FARLEY AND ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 28.—[Special.]—The Roosevelt administration, the President himself, and especially James A. Farley, postmaster-general, were held responsible for the repeal tidal wave sweeping the United States by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the Women's Christian Temperance union. Mrs. Boole, with other officers and leaders of organized dry forces, met in executive sessions here today in preparation for a determined stand against repeal of the 18th amendment.

Mrs. Boole denounced the Democratic political machinery for pushing through repeal of the 18th amendment to the profit of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration. In New York, she declared, a special election was held at the cost of $1,000,000 that the issue might be decided immediately. Only 37 per cent of eligible citizens voted, she said.

ROTARY ELECTS CANADIAN FOR NEW PRESIDENT

Boston, Mass., June 28.—(AP)—John Nelson, at one time editor or publisher of several leading Canadian newspapers, was today unanimously elected president of Rotary International. Nelson, one of the founders of the Institute of Pacific relations and an honorary secretary of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs served as third vice president for the years 1931-'32.

Nelson, who became a member of the Rotary club in Vancouver, British Columbia, in 1917, and later served as president of that club in 1923 before removing to Montreal, will succeed Clinton P. Anderson of Albuquerque, N. M. Like Anderson, he is connected with the insurance business.

The convention unanimously reelected Rufus F. Chapin of Chicago to be secretary. Chapin has served in that capacity for many years.

RUSSIA BELIEVES MATTERN MAY BE SAFE ON ISLAND

KHABAROVSK, Siberia, June 28.—(AP)—Aviation experts here today expressed the belief that Jimmie Mattern, American flyer missing on an attempted flight from this place to Nome, Alaska, never reached the vicinity of the Aleutian islands and that therefore he must have been forced down somewhere southwest of there.

Based on reports of the weather prevailing over the route he intended to traverse, the supposition here was that Mattern did not crash on the rocky shores of the Sea of Okhotsk.

If he managed to come down safely on one of the numerous uninhabited islands dotting north Russian waters—when it would take several weeks to get word to the outside world—Mattern probably would be able to keep himself alive, because, it was revealed, he carried a rifle, a substantial supply of cartridges and fishing tackle.

JOHNS IS ELECTED INTERNATIONAL KIWANIS LEADER

Los Angeles, Cal., June 28.—(AP)—Joshua L. Johns, Algoma, Wis., formerly of Appleton, Wis., lawyer, today was unanimously elected president of Kiwanis International. The election confirmed the action of a nominating conference.

Two vice presidents were named by the nominating conference—an American, Judge A. A. Schremm, Marietta, O., and a Canadian, Andrew Whyte, Edmonton, Alta. Mr. Whyte's approval by the convention will be reelection to that post.

H. G. Hatfield of Oklahoma City was chosen treasurer to succeed Dr. Walter R. Weiser, Daytona Beach, Fla.

M. A. RYERSON'S ESTATE VALUED AT $5,993,341

Art Collection Is Excluded from Inventory.

The estate of Martin A. Ryerson, art collector and philanthropist, was estimated at $5,993,341 in the inventory approved yesterday by August G. Urbanski, assistant to the Probate judge. Mr. Ryerson, who died Aug. 11 last year at his summer home at Lake Geneva, was 75 years old.

The inventory lists $3,516,444 in thirteen pieces of real estate, including the Ryerson home at 4851 Drexel boulevard, $1,493,909 in listed stocks, $838,000 in bonds, $153,283 in rents due on properties Mr. Ryerson owned, $32,276 in notes due, $34,236 in goods and chattels, and $28,193 in balances at loop banks. The famous Ryerson art collection, which is willed to the Art institute, is not appraised in the inventory.

$500,000 and Home to Widow.

Under the terms of the will the widow, Mrs. Carrie Hutchinson Ryerson, received $500,000 outright and the family home. After specific bequest totaling $295,000 to charities, relatives, and employés, the residuary estate is left in trust with Mrs. Ryerson and the Northern Trust company as executors. Mrs. Ryerson receives the income from one-third of the estate.

A niece, Mrs. Julia Juhn of Ouchy, Switzerland, receives the income from another third, and the remainder of the income is equally divided among the Art institute, the University of Chicago, and the Field museum. The three institutions will receive Mrs. Ryerson's share on her death, and will also receive Mrs. Juhn's share if she should have no heirs. The trust will terminate on the death of the widow or niece, whichever is the last survivor.

Morrison, Ill., Physician, 59, Dies Here Following Fall

Dr. Eugene P. Sullivan, 59 years old, of Morrison, Ill., died yesterday in the Jackson Park hospital of a fracture of the skull received Monday when he suffered a heart attack and fell to the floor in his home. He was brought to Chicago by his son, Dr. Samuel J. Sullivan, of 2630 East 75th street.

Sir Chas. Starmer, British Newspaper Publisher, Dies

LONDON, June 28.—(AP)—Sir Charles Starmer, 62, who was credited with being the originator of newspaper insurance schemes for readers, died today. Sir Charles was publisher of thirty daily or weekly newspapers in the provinces. He was a former Liberal member of parliament, and in 1907-'08 was mayor of Darlington.

MEDIC CLAIMS DEPRESSION IS A CAUSE OF T. B.

TORONTO, Ont., June 28.—(AP)—Unemployment and worry during the depression has produced many cases of tuberculosis, Dr. Edward Hochhauser of New York told the annual meeting of the American Tuberculosis association today.

Not only has it caused new cases, he said, "but many relapses have occurred among cases who had the disease arrested and had been reëstablished in industry."

Dr. L. L. Daines of Salt Lake City, Utah, said he and his colleagues believed they had found an undescribed species of tuberculosis organism in skin lesions. Other speakers suggested that the suspected new species might prove to be merely another stage in the life cycle of the organism, which goes through many forms.

G. H. HILD DIES; VETERAN FLORIST IN LAKE FOREST

George H. Hild, 73 years old, 185 North Sheridan road, Lake Forest, for forty-seven years in the florist business in that suburb, died yesterday in the Alice Home hospital after an illness of two months. He was born in Chicago and moved to Lake Forest fifty years ago. Three years later he and his brothers began their florist business. One of his brothers, the late Frederick H. Hild, was librarian of the Chicago public library nearly 25 years ago. Surviving Mr. Hild are three other brothers, William F., Edward, and Charles. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Presbyterian church, Lake Forest. Burial will be at Graceland.

Equalizer KOTEX
(Patent No. 1,863,333)
gives 20 to 30% greater protection, new comfort and safety

Illustrations and text copr. 1933, Kotex Co.

WOMEN! Here is an improvement in sanitary protection that gives you undreamed of extra comfort. Kotex—by adding a processed center section—gives you more complete protection, without a bit more bulk. Its downy filler is softer than ever. The "Phantom" ends are retained, making the pad non-detectable. An intimate explanation of the new Equalizer is given you on the direction sheet inside the package.

Here is the same absorbency, the same easy disposal. It can be worn on either side with equal protection. All drug, dry goods, and department stores have it.

GRANT WEEK-END HOLIDAYS FOR CITY WORKERS

The city council yesterday granted Mayor Kelly authority to arrange the working hours of city employés during the summer so that most of them can enjoy week-end holidays extending from Friday night to Monday morning. The resolution giving the mayor the proper authority was submitted to the council by Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th].

The mayor plans to keep in the various city departments on Saturday mornings only sufficient employés to handle the necessary public services. Those employés who will not be required to report on Saturday mornings will make up the time by working extra time on week days. The mayor said a similar plan worked well in the engineering department of the sanitary district. He gave it as his opinion that the employés would benefit under the proposed program, and that the city would also as a result of increased efficiency.

H. J. PATTEN'S WIFE SUCCUMBS TO LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Emma T. Patten, wife of Henry Jay Patten, grain broker, died last night in Phillips house, Boston, after an illness of two years. She was 62 years old.

At her bedside were her husband, a brother of the late James A. Patten, known for years as the wheat king, and her daughter, Mrs. Leslie Wheeler of Lake Forest. Mrs. Wheeler left for Boston last Saturday when her mother's condition became critical.

In recent years the Pattens traveled considerably, largely because of the necessity of finding a suitable climate for Mrs. Patten. About a year ago they gave up their apartment at 180 East Delaware place, and went abroad, returning about three months ago. Funeral arrangements will be completed today, when the body is started to Chicago.

E. OPPENHEIMER TAKEN BY DEATH AFTER OPERATION

Edgar A. Oppenheimer, 45 years old, president of the Consolidated Ribbon and Carbon company and the American Manifold Products corporation, died early this morning in Michael Reese hospital after an operation. His home was at 5107 Blackstone avenue.

Mr. Oppenheimer was Chicago born. He served as a first lieutenant in the 106th engineers during the world war. He was a member of the American Legion, the Sojourners' club, the Illinois Athletic club, the Standard club, and the Ravisloe Country club. He was a Mason and a Shriner.

Surviving Mr. Oppenheimer are his mother, Mrs. Mina Oppenheimer; three brothers, Nathan, Arthur, and Clarence, and one sister, Mrs. Charles Davidson.

WOMAN SLUGGED BY MYSTERIOUS ASSAILANT DIES

Mrs. Mabel Nelson, 42 years old, 2122 Lincoln avenue, died yesterday at the county hospital of injuries suffered early Monday, when she was struck on the head with a blackjack by an unidentified assailant. She had been summoned to the rear door of her home by a man who seized and struck her without warning. The man then fled. The police found a blood-stained club in the building. They are hunting two women who are reported to have witnessed the flight of Mrs. Nelson's assailant.

Japanese Lawyer Speaks Before Bar Association

Dr. Rokuichiro Masujima, a lawyer of Tokio, Japan, and a recognized authority on international law, was the speaker yesterday at a luncheon given in his honor by the Chicago Bar association. Dr. Masujima paid tribute to the American bar. It and the English bar stand above those of all other nations, he declared.

Saddle and Cycle Ball Players Meet North Side Boys' Club

Enthusiastic Crowd of Spectators Watches Socialites in Game with Organization They Sponsor.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THOSE energetic young socialites who play baseball at the Saddle and Cycle every Thursday and Saturday afternoon may have had more fashionable audiences than the one that watched them play yesterday at Seward park, Sedgwick and Elm streets, but certainly they never had a more appreciative one, for the fathers and mothers and little brothers and sisters of the young lads they were playing against made an enthusiastic and interesting crowd of onlookers.

And the gay purple, yellow, red, and other colorful jerseys worn by the lads of the North Side Boys' club added to the picture and made one realize that here were no cold blooded scions of old families with Puritan blood in their veins but warm blooded sons of Latin countries who love rich colors and incorporate them into their daily lives whenever possible.

And this was verified later when we saw the lineup of the junior teams, for there were John di Giovanni, Frank di Gorra, Joe Lisacci, Tony Citta, Vince Matranza, Sam Liberti, and Victor Biancalana, whose surnames testified to their heritage of warm southern blood. And from another country whose sons are noted for their hot bloodedness must have come the fathers of the others on the junior team—Pat Lydon, Buzzy McDonough, Pete Fay, Tappers Tobin, Terry Flanigan, Dick Kenny, and Packy Gillespie.

Playing on the senior team, which was defeated, 8 to 7, in the first game and that won, 8 to 6, in the second part of the double header, were some of the young men who live or have lived on the near north side and who make possible the North Side Boys' club, which is located at 210 Sigel street, not more than three and a half blocks from the Racquet club, for instance, in distance, but a million miles from there in other things.

Playing yesterday were Edward L. Hersey, Frederic W. Keith, Paget Cady, Charles B. Dushane, Preston Boyden, John Wentworth, Carroll H. Sudler Jr., Dr. O. E. Van Alyea, and Ballard Moore, all of whom take their exercise in summer by playing baseball at the Saddle and Cycle. John J. Finlay, president of the club, was there, too, as an onlooker, and so were a number of others of the officers and directors.

Fashionable Throng at Arlington Races.

Fashionables in gayly patterned sport togs filled the boxes and wandered through the Post and Paddock yesterday for another day of racing at the Arlington Park track.

There was Miss Lydia Swift in a chalk white costume with her father, Alden B. Swift, and Mrs. Harry H. Lobdell with her brother, Warren Lobdell of Los Angeles, and Countess Cardelli. A large white hat, one size smaller than a cartwheel, and a pink crêpe dress was the countess' race track ensemble.

Mrs. Edward W. Pardridge was stunning in a black flowered print and so was Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee wearing white. Mrs. Follansbee was the guest yesterday of Mrs. Britton I. Budd.

James Simpson Jr. spent most of the afternoon shaking hands with his friends and assuring them it was good to be back from Washington. Then there were Mrs. William H. Bush in a brown crêpe dress, Clifford Leonard and a host of others, all using their binoculars and trying to pick winners.

Canfield Twins to Make Debut.

Two sisters who will have a joint debut next fall are the Canfield twins, Frances and Kate, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Canfield. Mrs. Canfield hasn't decided yet what she will give to introduce formally her two attractive daughters, and she probably won't decide before the early autumn. The sisters were graduated early this month from the University School for Girls and before that they attended Miss Wheeler's at Providence. Their brother, Winn, is married to the former Betty Poor.

Quite a number of motor cars will be driven west from the city on the St. Charles road as far as the gravel road, just east of the town of St. Charles, that leads to Wayne, this afternoon, for there are to be many Chicagoans among the guests at a tea Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. Albert are giving at the Dunham Woods Hunt club for Tsunai Kusunose, Yoshio Muto, and Eisaburo Sugihara, members of the Japanese commission to A Century of Progress.

President Rufus C. Dawes of A Century of Progress—Dr. Albert is his assistant—and Mrs. Dawes and Mme. Muto will assist in receiving at the party which starts at 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gowen, a charming eastern couple and one that will be greatly entertained, will soon arrive to visit the Lester Armours in Lake Forest. They will arrive from Philadelphia Saturday, and that evening the Armours are giving a dinner dance for them at home, and the following day a luncheon, also at home.

Enjoy Friends of Music Concert.

Grateful for the lake breeze which cooled off the Auditorium theater for last night's Symphony concert sponsored by the Friends of Music, society enjoyed the playing of Amy Neill and the singing of Else Brems. In adjacent boxes with their guests were the Danish consul, Reimund Baumann, and Mrs. Baumann, she in black lace, and the Norwegian consul, Olaf Bernts, and Mrs. Bernts, who wore lavender print chiffon.

Mrs. Marie Sundelius Zendt, smart in a silk dinner dress of yellow and brown print, who has Miss Brems as her house guest, entertained a group representing consular parties in her box.

In one of the lower tier center boxes Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Boysen, she in a stunning gown of flowered blue print worn with a taffeta jacket, had with them their attractive daughter, Miss Bobette Boysen, wearing a becoming gown of Nile green, and their son, Bigelow, and Edson Benton Cook and Crawford Rainwater, the last in the city from Atlanta, Ga., with his family, the Charles V. Rainwaters, who have taken the Benjamin H. Marshall apartment on Lake Shore drive while seeing the Fair.

Alexander Knott was host to Mrs. Helen Rend Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. J. Beach Clow, and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine. Mrs. Clarke wore a severe black gown, Mrs. Valentine was in white, and Mrs. Clow wore a print of dark background with gay flowers splashed over it, crimson slippers, and a white pique coat.

With Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, who looked cool and fresh in green printed chiffon, were her niece, Miss Martha Higley, who is attending Radcliffe; Mrs. Harry Talbot of Dayton, O., and Mrs. John Briscoe of Colorado and her son, John. Miss Dorothy Schmidt in a gay frock of flowered blue was in quite a family party with her mother, Mrs. Frederick M. Schmidt, Mrs. Frederick R. Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Gerstenberg, Miss Alice Gerstenberg, and Mrs. William Shakespeare.

A record attendance is expected tonight in the boxes and main floor seats and in the balconies, for it is the final concert of the series.

Deering Danielson Will Recover.

It will be good news to the many friends of the Richard Ely Danielsons to learn that their son, J. Deering Danielson, who suffered concussion of the brain while driving west with Benjamin West, is doing very well and will recover completely in due time. But it is very sad to learn that young Mr. West, who went to Groton with Deering, was killed in the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Danielson, who had planned to join their son here with the Chauncey McCormicks, whom he was to visit, are not coming west, and of course cannot say when they will be here until their son is better. Their older son, Richard Jr., is not coming out just at present, either. Mr. West was closely related to the Movius and Saltonstall families in Boston, and Mrs. Potter Palmer III. is a cousin.

Mrs. John R. Winterbotham is leaving this afternoon with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Poole, who have been visiting her, for her summer place at Sugar Hill, N. H., where the Pooles, whose home is in New York, also have their summer residence.

The marriage of their son, William Morris Poole, to Miss Caroline Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carrollton Clark of New York, will take place in St. Matthew's church in Sugar Hill on July 10. Miss Eliabeth Ann Poole, the bridegroom's sister, is to be a bridesmaid, and Nicholas Vedder Poole will be his brother's best man. The only Chicagoan in the wedding party will be William Woodbridge Dickinson Jr.

John A. Carpenter Will Return Today.

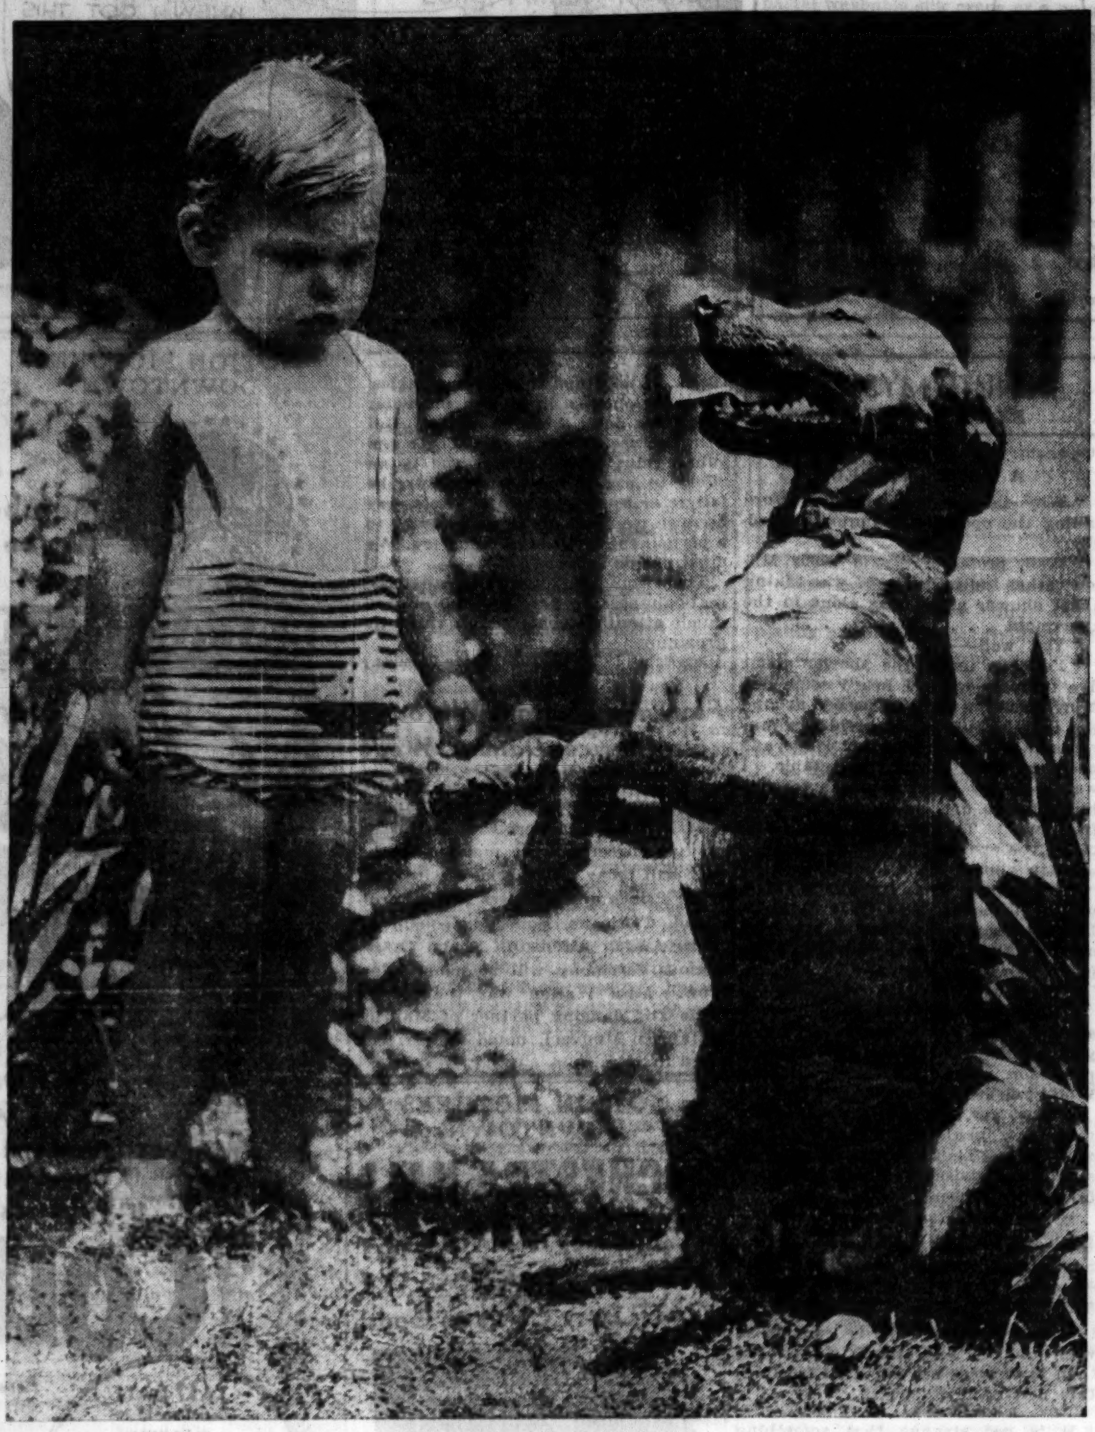
An Entry in Onwentsia Club Pet Show



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Adlai, the elder of the Adlai E. Stevenson's two little sons, doesn't seem to be sure that he likes Shandy as much as Shandy likes him, but perhaps that is because Adlai is such a little boy and Shandy is such a great big dog. Shandy, who belongs to Adlai's aunt, Mrs. Robert S. Pirie, is to be one of the pets entered in the dog show to be held at Onwentsia club on the Fourth of July. Adlai and his mother, the former Ellen Borden, and his baby brother, Borden, will go to Pride's Crossing to visit Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Stevenson's mother, later in the summer.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"The Warrior's Husband" is a sort of Keystone comedy version of the legend of Hercules and the Amazons. It was adapted from the stage play featuring Katherine Hepburn and is funny if you think it's funny.

It is one of those specimens that make me cock my eye inquiringly at my sense of humor. Eastern critics got many a laugh from the piece, but reaction in this quarter was nil. Despite the gorgeousness of its trappings, the beauty of its photography, the remarkably adroit performance of lovely Elissa Landi, whom I admire extremely, and some other able acting, the film seemed to me a forced and unwieldy burlesque. The idea—swell! But a lighter touch was needed in the handling. A droller comedy sense should have been at the helm. If satire was the intention—then only the intention was good.

That usually clever, pint sized comedian, Ernest Truex, was the principal thorn in my flesh. As Sapiens, effeminate husband of Queen Hippolyta, he turned this stomach with his writhings, oglings, simperings, prancings; his hideous curly locks and beard. Surely he could have portrayed the rôle less objectionably and far more ludicrously. He may be comical to you, but he certainly spoiled by fun.

Marjorie Rambeau is magnificent as the Amazon regent. Elissa Landi plays her sister, Antiope, who falls in love with Theseus, leader of the Greek invaders, with a world of grace and charm. David Manners was a splendid choice as the young conqueror, and the men in his army are no slouches.

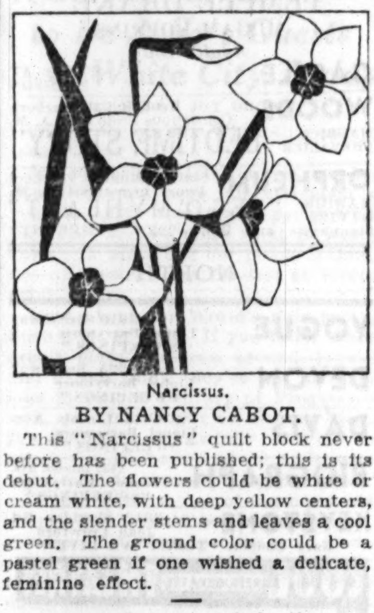
Helen Ware, Maude Eburne, and other large and lusty ladies do as well as they were permitted.

The Greek invasion upon this women ruled country is concerned with Hercules' ninth labor—to procure the miracle working belt of Queen Hippolyta. The Greeks desire the girdle because they believe that with its disappearance the beauty and power bestowed by Diana on the famed women warriors will be dissipated. Theseus assists the dumbbell Hercules. Herc gets the belt. Theseus lands Antiope. Sapiens buds some virility and tells Hippolyta where to get off, and altogether the ending should please this man made [ha! ha!] world.

Dialogue is tremendously up to date, being plumed with "O yeahs?" "Scrams!" and other un-B.C.-ic expressions. Of action there is a bounty, and ensemble scenes are magnificently manipulated.

See you tomorrow!

"Narcissus" Quilt Pattern Making Its Debut Today



Narcissus.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This "Narcissus" quilt block never before has been published; this is its debut. The flowers could be white or cream white, with deep yellow centers, and the slender stems and leaves a cool green. The ground color could be a pastel green if one wished a delicate, feminine effect.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Report Fred Astaire Will Wed Mrs. Phyllis Potter

New York, June 28.—(AP)—The New York American says Fred Astaire, musical comedy dancer, will marry Mrs. Phyllis Baker Potter, former wife of Eliphalet Nott Potter II. The date of the ceremony is contingent on efforts by Mrs. Potter to obtain full custody of her four year old son, Eliphalet Nott Potter III.

White Costume Slips Easy to Own This Year

BY RHEA SEEGER.

A simple, unadorned costume slip, expertly made, one that fits smoothly, and that means over the curves, too, used to be a rare article, especially if you were hunting frantically for an all white affair.

But this summer, all white slips, made as severely as a uniform, are as plentiful as white pique hats. You can find them tailored and trim, just the right slim fitted underlayer for your tailored chiffon street suits and dresses, or you can find some very good looking models made with fagoting around the brassiere style top, but this fagoting is all the decoration available.

Some shadow proof white slips that will take the place of a couple of extra layers are fashioned in the same tailored manner, and the price tags will leave you in a state of positive unbelief . . . never have costume slips been so easy to buy.

These white slips especially answer the much discussed question concerning the propriety of wearing flesh colored slips under a dark sheer frock when your accenting costume accessories are all white. With white slips priced at the lowest level in years, it is folly to refrain from an all "white and" color scheme!

Buy your cartwheel hats while you can, for they are going fast . . . the biggest ones you've ever seen are perched about the various smart and fashionable hat sections. There are some exciting new numbers of that toasted brown leghorn straw, with the very flattened brim encircled with a wreath of colorful field flowers, twisted with a loop of velvet ribbon. Other large straws are transparent, with a band and a bow, and the huge floppy hats of organdy are tremendously effective in black, navy, and dark, dark brown.

"I GET A MORE BEAUTIFUL WASH THIS NEW EASY WAY..."
"All my neighbors are asking me about it! For my family wash I use my regular soap and washing method and add 2 tablespoons or so of Lux—it gives gloriously white, instant suds—and marvelous results!"
NOTE: Use only Lux—no other soap—for silks, woolens, rayons. Delicate fabrics should never be exposed to harsh alkali or cake-soap rubbing.

Lauds Brems and Neill in Concert Series

Copenhagen Opera Star Appears Here.

Chicago Symphony orchestra in A Century of Progress series under the auspices of Chicago Friends of Music, Inc.; Frederick Stock, conductor; Amy Neill, violinist, and Else Brems, mezzo-soprano, soloists; at the Auditorium Wednesday, June 28. The program:

Tableau Musical, "Baba Yaga," Opus 56	Liadow
Suite from Ballet "Petrouchka"	Strawinsky
"Soviet Iron Foundry," Opus 19 (Music for Machines)	Mossolow
Spanish Symphony for Violin and Orchestra, Opus 21	Lalo
Aria from "Paride ed Elena"	Gluck
Aria from "Samson et Dalila" ("Mon Coeur S'Ouvre a Toi Voix")	Saint-Saens
Rhapsody "Espana"	Chabrier

BY EDWARD MOORE.

By a sudden change of plan another soloist went into the Chicago Symphony program at the Auditorium last night. It had been expected that Miss Neill, a greatly expert violinist and fine musician, would have the stellar position. She was there and she proved herself a star just as she was expected to do.

But instead of being a single star she became one of a pair. At a late moment is was decided to add Miss Brems, who has been singing the important mezzo-soprano rôles in the Royal Opera at Copenhagen, Denmark.

Second thoughts are sometimes worth while. It is quite probable that those present last night had not heard such a performance of "Mon cœur s'ouvre á ta voix" since Schumann-Heink was young. Miss Brems is also young, but she is one of the future, or, perhaps, more accurately, the present, notables of song. She has a voice that charms the ear with its superb quality and its effortless power.

But in addition to owning this quite remarkable voice she would seem to be a good musician with an accurate sense of the stage. Her singing of the Gluck aria was a bit of fine, dignified restraint of manner of the Saint-Saëns excerpt just referred to, a bit of sexly allure. Both are logical from the standpoint either of music or the stage.

It was a few weeks ago that Miss Neill played the Lalo Concerto with the Chicago Business Men's orchestra. Up to last night it had been quite the best performance of the work these ears had ever heard. Last night there became two. It was beautiful tone, beautiful playing, fine sense of what it meant. The Friends of Music did well for their patrons and for themselves by presenting Miss Neill in their series.

Mr. Stock and the orchestra were again at the top of their form,, particularly in the "Petrouchka" suite, which was a virtuoso performance.

Arch Bailey, baritone, assisted by Alexander Yevsner, violinist, presented the second recital of the summer artist series of the Chicago Musical college at the Punch and Judy theater yesterday morning. He is an artist in the interpretation of songs. With an agreeable though not overwhelmingly powerful voice he contrives to convey color and emotion, to project texts—in other words, to tell the story of the song. This is a much greater art than merely making pleasant tones.

DELIGHTFUL WELCH WAY TO REDUCE

Welch's Certified-Pure, Pasteurized Grape Juice, strange as it may seem, provides an easy, delightful, healthful way to control your weight. And when taken in connection with proper diet, it will enable you—if overweight—to get rid of that ugly fat in the safest, most pleasant way you could imagine.

Scientists now insist that Welch's should be on every reducing or weight-control diet, to insure healthful reduction. It satisfies that craving for sweets and rich, fattening foods. That's why Welch's was officially selected for the athletes' training tables at the Olympic Games.

Welch's contains minerals vital to one's health. It helps make red blood. It contains more Vitamin B than orange juice. It cleanses the entire system. Reports come from people everywhere that after following the Welch way to weight control they feel more vigorous and alert than they had felt in years.

Start right in today. Get a bottle of Welch's from your dealer, drink a glass before breakfast, once or twice during the day, and before retiring. Because of its purity, Welch's may be diluted with one-third water, and many prefer it so. Continue—and in a few days you will experience the wonderful difference.

Then in the meantime send for booklet, "Keeping Your Weight Down," which you may obtain ABSOLUTELY FREE, simply by writing to The Welch Grape Juice Co., Dept. 89, Westfield, N. Y. It contains full directions for easy and delightful weight reducing the Welch way.

IMPORTANT: Be sure to insist on Welch's, because it is the Welch Process that retains in the bottled juice the healthful properties of ripe grapes so essential to the system. Only Welch's is Certified Pure and Pasteurized. It contains no adulterants, no synthetic flavors, no artificial coloring, no preservatives, no water, and above all, no tartaric acid. It is selling at the lowest price in 35 years, and is even cheaper by the case. Send for free booklet TODAY.

Miss Ferguson Weds Breasted in Ranch Home

Tyrone, N. M., June 28.—[Special.]—Charles Breasted, executive secretary of the oriental institute, Chicago, and Miss Martha Munro Ferguson were married this morning at the Burro mountain home of her mother, Mrs. John C. Greenway, of Tucson and Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. Greenway is national Democratic committeewoman. The mountain home is seven miles north of here in a picturesque western setting.

Two hundred guests attended, including relatives of both families and friends of Mrs. Greenway and the bride. Among them was United States Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico. The family of President Roosevelt wired greetings.

Miss Ferguson's brother, Robert, gave her in marriage. Standing with the couple were the bridegroom's father, Dr. James H. Breasted, famous Egyptologist of the University of Chicago; Dr. Eugene F. Rouse, also of Chicago, and Jack Greenway, half-brother of the bride. Miss Ferguson wore a quaint gingham gown and carried a sunbonnet filled with delphiniums and daisies over her arm.

Following the ceremony the wedding couple led their guests through rose covered porches and through the estate grounds. A barbecue wedding breakfast was served with all the trappings of the old west, while a Mexican orchestra played. Despite the social complexion of the affair, it was quite informal.

Most of the guests arrived at the mountain home several days ago, many of them by plane. It was in this section that the bride's father, the late Robert Munro Ferguson, and the late President Theodore Roosevelt used to get together to talk over Rough Rider days.

Mr. and Mrs. Breasted will make their home in Chicago.

Hetzel, Conductor, Given Honor Degree by Music College

The honorary degree of doctor of music was awarded Kurt Hetzel of Washington for his work as a Wagnerian conductor, and Alexander MacFadyen, Milwaukee composer and pianist, at the commencement exercises of the Boguslawski College of Music last night.

The exercises were held at the Lake Shore Athletic club. Moissaye Boguslawski, pianist and founder of the school, awarded the degrees.

Hetzel is well known in Europe, where he conducted orchestras in Berlin, Munich, and elsewhere. He was associated with Bruno Walter in Munich. MacFadyen received his award on a basis of his compositions, "which so well represent America in Europe," according to Boguslawski.

The honorary degree of doctor of fine arts was awarded Nison Tregor, young Russian sculptor now living in Washington, who is scheduled to execute a bust of President Roosevelt on the latter's return from his vacation. He has completed busts of several members of the President's cabinet and expects to have likenesses of all the cabinet members and the President finished in time for them to be placed on exhibit at the World's Fair in July.

Tregor said last night that the bust of Mr. Roosevelt will be presented to A Century of Progress by Lloyd Demarest in ceremonies in the federal building within a month.

Fifteen pupils received degrees and diplomas at the commencement exercises. A program of Brahms' chamber music was played by Boguslawski and the Nemkowsky string quartet in celebration of the 100th anniversary of Brahms' birth this year.

Plan Party for Children Who Aid Red Cross

Meeting to Be Held at Enchanted Island.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

A summer day in 1917 Miss Georgene Faulkner held a knitting bee on the front steps of Mrs. Charles Garfield King's Lake Forest house. She gathered around her a dozen little girls with their mothers and while their needles clicked she told stories of war and peace, Red Cross nurses, and their missions of mercy.

Then and there the Junior Red Cross was born.

Next Wednesday afternoon many of these same little girls, grownup and married now, will bring their little girls to hear Miss Faulkner retell the stories of war and peace and Red Cross nurses. The Junior Red Cross through its senior sponsors, Mrs. King, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. Edwin M. Ryerson, Mrs. Harold Amberg, Miss Margot Atkin, Mrs. Richard I. Stearns, and several more, is to have an afternoon in the Children's theater on the Enchanted Island.

Mrs. Joseph Irving Shaw, the former Barbara King, who was one of those charter members back in 1917, is planning to be there, perhaps with her baby daughter, Suzanne, who will be a junior volunteer one of these days. And so is Mrs. Shaw's older sister, Mrs. William H. Mitchell, with her children.

In addition to the stories of Miss Faulkner there will be officers of the Red Cross present to tell the amazing growth of the junior organization.

Yesterday, when Miss Faulkner, dressed up as Mother Goose, gave "Humpty Dumpty" and "Hickory, Dickory, Dock" in the Enchanted Island theater, there wasn't a more enthusiastic person in her audience than Mrs. Hallett W. Thorne. She was playing hostess to her daughter, Betty, and a party of Betty's young friends. Afterwards they all (with the exception of Mrs. Thorne) had a slide down the Magic Mountain and a ride on the railroad.

In an old-fashioned dress worn at reception given Abraham Lincoln at the Tremont house Miss Faulkner will tell stories of the boyhood of Abraham Lincoln at 11:45 o'clock tomorrow morning in the little theater.

The latest addition to the cast of the Junior league's "Cinderella" is a roly-poly white duck with a great big blue bow perched on the side of his neck. He is, think his mistresses, a good advertisement for their show, especially when plastered with a sign with pictures of the glass slipper princess.

Today, with the Fair's biggest and "littlest" ballyhooers (and no one is to know until this morning who they are), Master Duck is to make a tour of the Exposition grounds.

The Story Cove, on the Enchanted isle, where most boys and girls would like to spend at least an hour every day, has a nationality complex this week. Tomorrow Guatemala day will

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Swell Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough, who is unknowingly being used as decoy. Maitland plots to trick Rhoda out of a fortune left her by an uncle who died in Rome. Garrick exposes to Rhoda, before Maitland and his gang, their crooked card tricks. Garrick is overpowered by Schewan, Maitland's chief, but manages to defeat Schewan's purpose of burning him alive in his car. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. Garrick learns from his uncle, a professor of chemistry, of a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt Garrick determines to settle the matter in his own way. He kidnaps Maitland and holds him captive until he learns where Rhoda is being held. Garrick learns from his solicitor that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

IN PURSUIT.

Garrick picked up a dressing gown on the foot of the bed and gave it to Rhoda, who promptly put it on. Then he spoke to the nurses.

"I have never hit a woman yet. But I don't count you people as women, because you know perfectly well that Schewan was trying to do. So don't interfere."

From his pocket he took an envelope and a little electric torch and handed both to Rhoda.

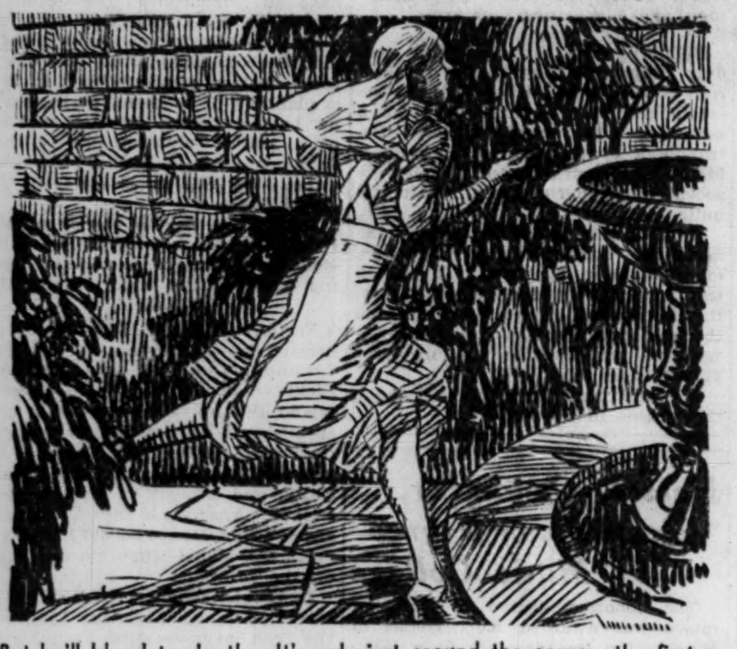
"On the window sill is a fixed wooden stepladder that is quite easy to manage. Go up the steps to the roof and when you get there read this and act on it. Do everything slowly. There's plenty of time."

Leisurely indeed! Under the magnetic compulsion of Garrick's voice Rhoda did not even run across the room. Yet within twenty seconds of his striking the Gorilla Rhoda was on the sill and ten seconds later she was on the roof.

Almost immediately there came a thump on the door and a gruff voice demanded:

"What's all this?"

Kendall, recovering some of his courage now that Garrick's pistol was back in his pocket, moved towards the door, but Schewan, who was beginning to get his breath back, leaned on one elbow and gestured him away.



"But he'll bleed to death. It's only just around the corner, the first on the left and then—O, I'll run myself while you're talking about it!"

"We're in terror of an armed man—who won't let the door be opened!" shouted Schewan. It was a feeble shout, as his breathing was still painful.

"Open the door or we shall force it!"

"Force, please!" answered Garrick and edged towards the window.

Keeping his eye on Schewan and Kendall, he felt for the camera, shifted it from its clamp, removed the dark slide, and put it in his pocket.

Up to now the police outside had been silent, having evidently sent for a poker. Now the first blow crashed on the door, splintering an upper panel.

Three more blows and the upper panel crashed in!

As the police began to work on the lower panel Garrick stepped on to the window sill, went up the wooden staircase to the roof, then unhooked the wooden steps.

"Give me that dark slide and I'll get you out of here with a tale!" he offered.

"Mind your head, Gorilla!" retorted Garrick, and sent the stepladder crashing down into the garden below.

He stood on the lead lined flat of the roof. Ten feet ahead was a trapdoor. He ran to it and shot a bolt that had been fixed there for the purpose. Another ten feet away was another trapdoor, which he similarly bolted.

By the side of the second trapdoor was a kit bag, a looking glass, and an electric lamp.

The roof, it must at once be admitted—considered as a roof to a private asylum and nothing more—was a fake. That roof had been shamelessly "prepared"—in much the same way that such a roof would be "prepared" for a stunt by a motion picture company. During the eight days at Garrick's disposal, in fact, that roof had been so treated that it positively bristled with mechanical devices calculated to enable one determined athlete to keep at bay an almost unlimited number of policemen and asylum attendants.

Garrick's first act after opening the kit bag was to throw off his outer clothing, under which was other outer clothing.

Then on to his face he rubbed a tan that completely blotted out his dairymaid complexion—and added a false mustache. The mustache might not have passed muster in broad daylight, but he knew that it would be good enough for his purpose.

On to his head he thrust a round cap with a peak to it. Then, his toilet complete, he pulled out a watch, consulted it minutely, waited—then fired his pistol into the air.

He looked out over the parapet. Lights gleamed through the open front door of the house. The iron gates, too, were open, but two policemen stood on guard. In front of the house was a big car with the hood up—Schewan's.

Garrick then ran back to the nearer trapdoor. A couple of feet past the trap was a deal box. He opened the box and set a clockwork motor whizzing.

Back to the parapet! He groped for a hook and found it. Fixed to the hook was a rope ladder that ran down the side of the house, just clearing the porch. He swung on to the ladder and made a leisurely descent.

At the foot of the rope ladder he stood in the shadow of the porch.

Scarcely had he taken up his position before a woman in nurse's uniform came out of the house and stood on the step.

"The telephone is cut. We want Dr. Winter at once," she called to the policeman at the gate, then hurried towards them. "One of our men has been shot in the leg. O, run, please!"

"Can't leave our post, miss."

"But he'll bleed to death. It's only just 'round the corner, the first on the left, and then—O, I'll run myself while you're talking about it!"

Upstairs, from the moment when the police had broken into the bedroom, it was Schewan who took command in spite of the presence of the sergeant.

"There's a man attempting to abduct a lunatic girl by force of arms! The man and the lunatic are on the roof. You'd better go and get 'em."

The sergeant wanted to know how they had got there—wanted to examine the window for a means of getting up.

"That's no good!" said Schewan as patiently as he could. "They've taken away the ladder. . . . Kendall, there's another approach to the roof along the corridor, isn't there? Right—better come with us, sergeant!"

A steep flight of uncarpeted stairs led to the trapdoor that gave on to the roof. The sergeant went up and tried the trapdoor.

"Bolted on the outside by the look of it! And the top will be leaded, likely as not. We shan't break this in with a poker. Perhaps you've got a crowbar, Mr. Kendall."

Before the crowbar arrived there came a shout from the roof, muffled by the trapdoor, but distinctly audible.

Much too muffled, in fact, for anybody to be able to hear the scratching of a gramophone needle.

"Hi, you police! Listen to me a minute before you start knocking the house down." The voice stopped. The needle scratched on a blank space, but no one heard it.

"Well, open this trapdoor, then I'll listen to you," said the sergeant.

"Listen to me! That man Schewan—the one who looks like a gorilla—is a blackguardly crook. He has fooled the police into playing his game. This young lady, Miss Fairclough, is no more a lunatic than you are."

"That's all right!" said the sergeant. "We're not going to do the young lady any harm."

Then the gramophone made a mistake.

"She is up on the roof with me here this minute and I am going to keep her here until I have found a way. . . ."

Schewan did not yet know that it was a gramophone that was talking. He simply guessed that if Garrick shouted out that the girl was on the roof with him it was ten to one that she was not on the roof with him.

He turned to Kendall.

"Is there another entrance to the roof from inside the house? . . . Take me there quickly."

Schewan flashed a torch.

In the circle of light made by the torch were a dressing gown, a nightdress, and a pair of bedroom slippers—the clothing in which Rhoda Fairclough had left the bedroom.

"Stay with the police and charge Garrick as soon as they collar him!" rapped out Schewan. "I'm going after the girl."

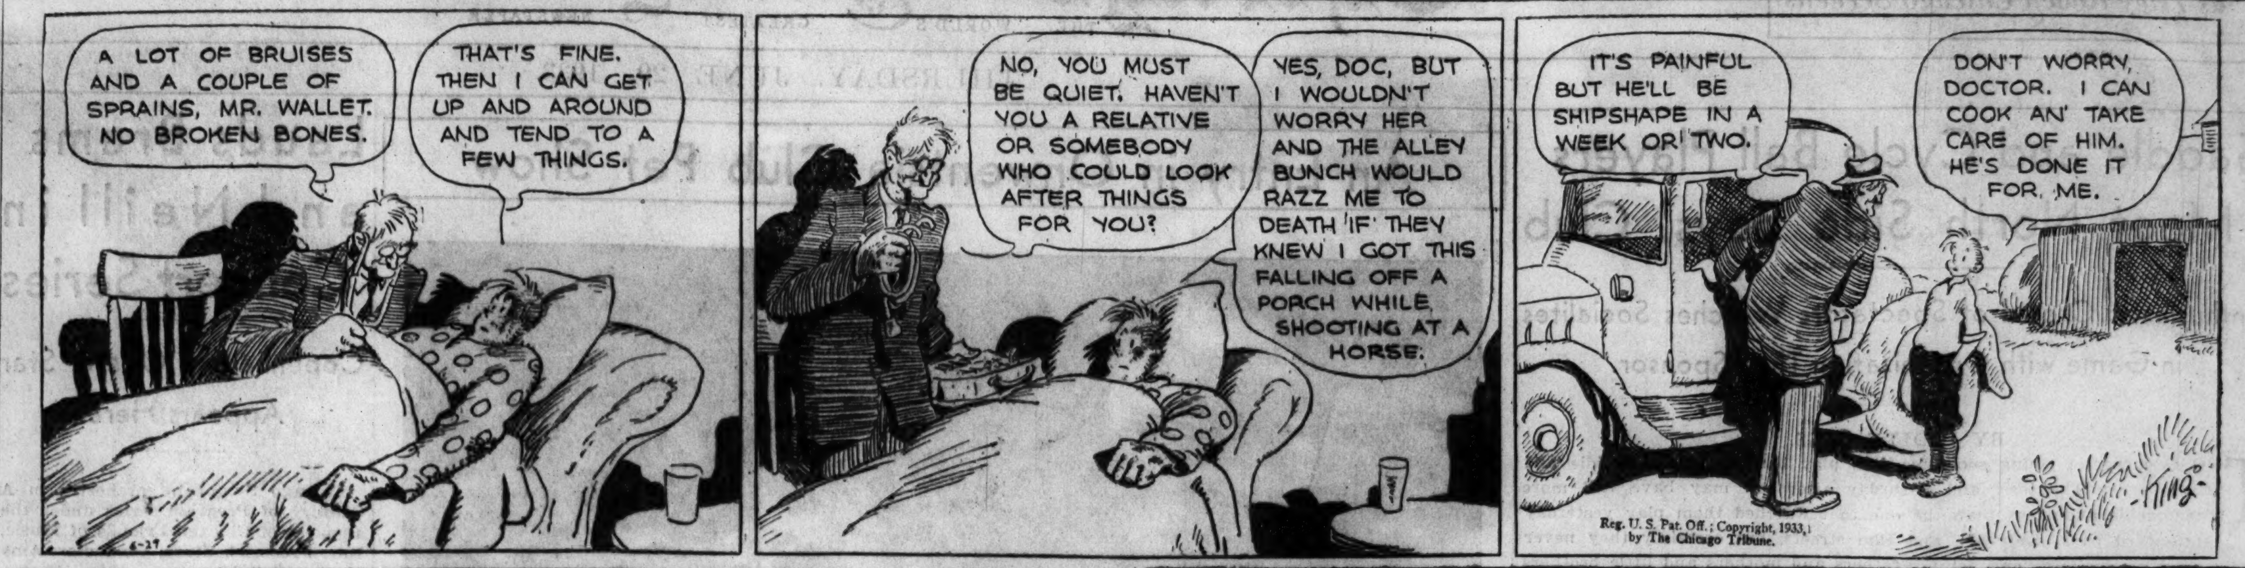
GASOLINE ALLEY—IT'S A SECRET



A LOT OF BRUISES AND A COUPLE OF SPRAINS, MR. WALLET. NO BROKEN BONES.
THAT'S FINE. THEN I CAN GET UP AND AROUND AND TEND TO A FEW THINGS.
NO, YOU MUST BE QUIET. HAVEN'T YOU A RELATIVE OR SOMEBODY WHO COULD LOOK AFTER THINGS FOR YOU?
YES, DOC, BUT I WOULDN'T WORRY HER AND THE ALLEY BUNCH WOULD RAZZ ME TO DEATH IF THEY KNEW I GOT THIS FALLING OFF A PORCH WHILE SHOOTING AT A HORSE.
IT'S PAINFUL BUT HE'LL BE SHIPSHAPE IN A WEEK OR TWO.
DON'T WORRY, DOCTOR. I CAN COOK AN' TAKE CARE OF HIM. HE'S DONE IT FOR ME.

A Young Child Often Stammers for Short Time

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Every once in so often letters which are in substance like the following come to me:

"I'm wondering if you could help a busy, worried mother of two. The youngest is a month old and the oldest is 3. It is the 3 year old who just now has me worried.

"In just the last week he has begun to stammer quite badly, is conscious of it, and this seems to make it worse. I've been telling him to talk slowly, but the poor child just stammers more. He is rather high strung (poor first child and first grandchild that he is, with too many grownups watching his every move) and talks rather fast, as ideas seem to rush pell-mell into his mind."

I wish I could comfort and pacify instantly all these young mothers who worry so over their little 2 year olds or 3 year olds who stammer.

This is almost always a temporary condition, which—and I want to put this in capitals or italics—is best helped by being ignored.

When other people are conscious of the habit and bring it to a child's attention, when the mother is really worried about it, when the child is made nervous about it and thinks of it as something he shouldn't do, his tendency to stammer is increased. This early and temporary stammering is very common. It is usually associated with the time in a small child's life when he is acquiring many new skills at once. For example, around the ages of 2 and 3 he is learning to walk and run and climb, to talk, and then to express his thoughts freely in this new skill of speech.

It is not strange that something should sometimes falter or grow confused. If he drops things, or tumbles, or miscalculates in a big muscular effort, we don't worry about it. But if in the use of this most delicate and subtle thing called speech and in an effort to use it for his thoughts, he falters or becomes confused, we worry because we think he in on his way to a permanent habit of stammering. We must not do so.

MINUTE MYSTERY

BY H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

A LADY IN NEED.

"Why did you wait so long before calling the operator?" inquired Fordney.

"Well, professor!" said Doris Milton rather indignantly, "I was taking a hot shower and I was alone in the apartment . . . after all . . . !"

"Yes, well——?"

"I'd been under the shower about five minutes when I heard some one in my dressing room. I peeped around the curtain and in the bathroom mirror saw a man snatch my rings and necklace from the dressing table. I waited a few minutes so as to give him time to get out . . . I was so frightened! Then I dried myself and called the switchboard."

"Can you describe him?"

"I certainly can. He was a small, wiry, evil looking fellow about thirty, I should say. He wore a blue suit and a light felt hat, and . . . he had a gun in his left hand."

"Then what?"

"The house detective came up and after looking about suggested I call you. I do want those jewels back, professor. They're very valuable. Won't you help me? Please!"

"Why, yes, I'll help you, Miss Milton . . . just tell me what you did with them. They must be heavily insured, otherwise you wouldn't have faked this robbery. Come, now!"

WHY DID FORDNEY DISBELIEVE DORIS MILTON'S STORY?

[See solution on page 33.]

Florence Walton, Widow of Maurice, Dancer, Weds

LARDY, France, June 28.—(AP)—Florence Walton, American dancer, and Pierre Colombier, French motion picture director, were married at the city hall today. The bride's witnesses were Prince and Princess Louis Ferdinand d'Orleans Bourbon, cousin of former King Alfonso of Spain. A religious ceremony will be held tomorrow. Miss Walton was the former wife and dancing partner of Maurice [Maurice Mouvet], noted dancer who died in 1927.

Hill and little Rue Diana Hill, in Texas. The Hills are not living in their house in Forth Worth this summer but are "roughing" it and trying to keep cool at Pecos in the oil fields, where Mr. Hill's company is drilling for oil wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer and their daughter, Miss Pauline Palmer, left yesterday afternoon for their summer place at Bar Harbor, Me. Gordon Palmer will join them there. They will all be away until fall.

At the very hottest time of that terribly hot day, Tuesday, Mrs. John N. Dole and her younger son, Johnny, left to motor to Warm Springs, Ga., where they will be until next May. That's a long time to be away, but they hope that if they stay that long Johnny will be entirely well by then and able to live here except for about a month or two each winter at Warm Springs. Eight year old Peter Dole has gone to a camp in Minnesota for the summer and Mr. Dole will be with Mrs. Dole's mother, Mrs. Wirth S. Dunham, in Wayne, with occasional visits in the south to his wife and Johnny.

The young Murray Brushes and their little son, affectionately known as Pebo, have moved to Hinsdale for the summer from their apartment on Chestnut street.

Mrs. Chauncey Blair Ill at St. Luke's.

Mrs. Chauncey J. Blair, who has been visiting her old friend, Mrs. Marton A. Ryerson, in Lake Geneva, came back to Chicago last Saturday, but instead of being with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair, in their attractive Cedar street apartment as she had planned, she is down at St. Luke's hospital, ill, unfortunately. Her family hope, however, that she will not have to be there longer than this week.

Mrs. Edward A. Leight left yesterday morning to visit Mr. and Mrs. Robert Metz at their lovely summer home in Lenox, Mass. Mrs. Leight, who has recovered from her sprained ankle and is now walking about without the aid of crutches, would have gone east three weeks ago, had she been able, and as it is she will be away from Chicago for quite a while, for she does not plan to return until Sept. 1.

The Hallett W. Thornes, who are staying in town at the Lake Shore Athletic club, expect to go to their Les Cheneaux summer place early next month. Their Winnetka house is rented for the summer to the Albert H. Wettens.

Contrary to their usual summer habit, Edgar J. Uihlein and his daughter, Miss Paula Uihlein, and son, Edgar Jr., who goes to Hotchkiss, are not going to their ranch at Laramie, Wyo., until fall, for they want to be here all summer.

Lawrence M. Viles and his elder son, James, who is a student at St. Paul's, will arrive in Chicago early in July from a motor trip in the east upon which they embarked when James finished the school year.

Corwith Cramers Return from East.

Mr. and Mrs. Corwith Cramer arrived at home recently from the east, where they purchased a new boat, slightly smaller than their last one, which they have named Seafoam III. The boat, a cruiser, got here last week and the Cramers have been hard at work getting it in shape with a new coat of white paint, and they hope to launch it this week-end and have a few of their close friends on board for her "maiden" run.

The Cramers are going to spend the summer with Mr. Cramer's mother, Mrs. Ambrose Cramer, at her home in Lake Forest. Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, Mrs. Ambrose Cramer's daughter, has taken a house in Lake Forest and she and her children will be there for the summer.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Helen Joy Keebler and Hamilton Vose Jr. on Tuesday afternoon at the residence of the bridegroom, 240 East Delaware place, in the presence of a very few relatives and close friends, Judge Howard Hayes officiating.

WEDDING

Mrs. T. Stephen Ryan of Oak Park announces the marriage on April 19 of her daughter, Veronica, to Ricker Van Metre Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ricker Van Metre of Evanston. A religious service was performed again Tuesday at St. Mark's Episcopal church in Evanston by the Rev. Canon Scott, archdeacon of Quebec, Canada, in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

Tell Engagement

MISS ERNESTINE BEEBOWER

On Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Beebower of Cleveland Heights, O., announce the engagement of their daughter, Ernestine, to John Oliver Innes, son of Mrs. Alexander J. Innes and the late Mr. Innes of Oak Park and Whitehall, Mich. Miss Beebower was graduated from Wellesley this month and Mr. Innes has just completed a two year course at the Harvard School of Business Administration. No date has been set for the wedding. Miss Beebower is spending this week with Mrs. Innes at her country place, Shore Crest lodge at Whitehall.

Plan Party for Children Who Aid Red Cross

Meeting to Be Held at Enchanted Island.

be celebrated with an appropriate program by Lydia Youngquist, with Miss Ann Elizabeth Walsh and Miss Barbara Bersbach as hostesses. Saturday is to be Armenia day.

"Andy" Rebori and his secretary spent most of yesterday on the telephone. They were inviting some three or four dozen guests to the first big private party, tomorrow night, in the Streets of Paris Rendezvous. Night before last the club was officially opened with a very gay and grand dinner for all of the sponsors of the "Streets."

Mrs. Wirt Morton, who has "done" the clubroom, even to the Delft powder jars and bamboo ash trays, expects that the terrace canopy will be in place for tomorrow's party. This is to be a vari-colored affair sheltering a small stage where special floor shows will be run off.

Yesterday afternoon a dozen friends of Tony Sarg came down to the Streets of Paris to drink "something cool" with him and wish him well with the new concession he is opening in the local Montmartre.

Terrace dinners for at least a half dozen guests are A Century of Progress fashion. Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter will entertain at an "outside" table at the Century club. Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum, in town for a few days from her country house, did the same last night.

At the Trustees' Lounge, the only World's Fair dining room that boasts French butler service, there have been the last couple of noons Mr. and Mrs. Evan Evans, Mrs. Edward Hines, Mrs. Arthur Meeker, and Mrs. James Ward Thorne, each with a half dozen guests.

Because the Trustees' Lounge is larger and more conservative, the three Illinois branches of the National League of American Pen Women have shifted their authors' breakfast July 13 from the Streets of Paris to this dining room.

It is expected, announced Mrs. Frank Granger Logan, general chairman of the pen women's conference to be held here from July 14 to 16, that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will come for at least one of the meetings. Mrs. Roosevelt is a member of the capital branch of the league.

MARY MEADE PRESENTS:

PASTRY

GOOSEBERRY CUSTARD TARTS

(of English ancestry)

- 1 pint gooseberries
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 cup milk
- Flaky pastry

Remove the stems and blossoms from the gooseberries and cook them in as little water as possible until very soft; then press them through a coarse sieve. Add ¾ cup of the sugar and let simmer slowly for a few minues. Prepare a custard of the egg yolks, milk and ¼ cup of the sugar in a double boiler. When it thickens, cool and mix with the gooseberry pulp. Line muffin tins with flaky pastry. Fill with the gooseberry custard and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Then top with a meringue made of the egg whites and 4 tablespoons of sugar beaten until stiff. Brown slightly in a slow oven (275 degrees F.). Serves 6.

Clip on the dotted line, mount on a card; mounted, the recipe just fits the new Mary Meade Recipe File . . . If you haven't one of these files, you may obtain it (containing 133 delightful recipes) at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn Street. Price 25 cents. By mail, 33 cents.

Cantaloupes Are Delicious at Any Meal

Perfect Melon 4½ Inches Long, Almost Round.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 11 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

When they are icy cold (not before) and when they are sweet, juicy, and firm fleshed, cantaloupes ("mushmelons" to the younger generation) can be quite the most refreshing summer fruit.

First, the icy cold requirement is not so difficult to fulfill. All you need is a chunk of ice or a dependable refrigerator. But the presence of firm flesh and sweet juiciness is not so easy to determine when one is confronted with the problem of selecting from a crate of melons that all look exactly alike.

A perfect melon should be about 4½ inches long and almost round. The odor is one of the surest guides to ripeness. A ripe melon has a characteristic fragrance. Some persons have developed the knack of testing muskmelons by pressing the stem end, which should just yield to the pressure of the thumb. However, if ten or twelve other customers have applied the same test to the same melon the stem end may have the characteristic springiness but still be green inside.

The melons called "green meats" should have a prominent gray netting which stands out like thick lace on a groundwork of olive green, turning, as it ripens, to yellow. Flesh should be thick, smooth, and firm with black seeds. The "pink meats" have a less heavy netting except at the stem end. When the fruit is thoroughly ripe the stem separates sharply from the fruit and the flesh is an orange-pink.

Then something that will captivate the family and electrify the guests:

FRESH CANTALOUPE ICE CREAM.

- 3 tbsp. quick-cooking tapioca
- 6 tbsp. corn sirup
- 2 tbsp. sugar
- 2 cups milk, scalded
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 1-3 cup sugar
- 1 cup cantaloupe pulp
- 1 cup cream, whipped

Add the tapioca to the milk and cook in a double boiler until tapioca is clear and the mixture thickened. This will require about fifteen minutes. Stir frequently during the cooking. Strain the hot mixture through a fine sieve. Add the salt and corn sirup and mix thoroughly. Cool. Cut a cantaloupe in half, remove the seeds, cut the flesh into cubes, and crush to a pulp. Add to this the one-third cup of sugar. Add the two tablespoons of sugar to the egg whites, and beat until stiff. Fold the egg whites into the tapioca mixture, then fold in the cream and finally the cantaloupe. Turn into the freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze three to four hours. Or the mixture may be turned into a mold, sealed, and packed in equal parts of ice and salt for two or three hours. Yield: One quart of ice cream.

Hundred Children to Be Sally's Guests at White City Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

All set for our big White City party, today, kids?

We mustn't be late, any of us—because we only have one afternoon a year to enjoy this grand park—with its rides—and we don't want to waste one single minute of our precious time. So—all aboard for a fun-fest at White City!

Now, about our World's Fair party. Such a lot of mail! If you think there aren't many children around here—and if you think they're not all anxious to visit A Century of Progress—well, you just ought to see my desk. It's going to be awfully difficult to select the 50 boys and 50 girls who want most to come—I'll do my best.

If your letter is one of the hundreds on my desk—you'd better watch next Sunday's TRIBUNE because your name may be listed as one of the lucky hundred. Even if you don't see your name printed—you'd better watch anyway—'cause the third big party of the season is coming up—and maybe it won't be a swell one!

Cool Summer Complexion Result of Three Cosmetics

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You put on your makeup very carefully at home, do your shopping, and before you've had time to make the rounds of all the stores you get a glimpse of a wilted, shiny, perspiring complexion.

To prevent this early development you might try employing a foundation treatment, the cosmetics for which are a cleansing cream, an astringent, and a powder base. You've probably been using the cleansing cream and face powder. But if you're the wilting kind of sister, you'll need the astringent. Your blood becomes heated, the glands become more active, the pores expand and there is excess perspiration. The astringent, then, is to counteract this perspiration. If your are inclined to a moist, perspiry sort of skin in hot weather use the astringent a couple of times a day.

After the astringent, you'll need a wee film of finishing cream so that the powder will hold. Just the thinnest possible film is what you want. Then, your powder. Unless you're going to sit out in the sun you'll find this cream and powder sufficient protection against the sun.

If you want to get a light tan, you may sit out in the sun. Use only your cleansing cream as a protector. Omit the foundation cream and powder.

If you're using a suntain oil and hoping to get a nice golden bronze color, be sure to put the oil on the eyelids, too. Apply it to the back of the neck as well as the front; to any part of the body that will be exposed. There's no fun and less beauty in being a spotted tan.

We hear a good deal about how girls are going pale of complexion this year. But when the summer time is on us with all of its outdoor lure, girls forget about delicate cheek coloring and go in for tanning in a big brown way.

Get the tan. Later, worry about how you're going to get rid of it. It won't be such a big worry, what with the normal quick disappearance of the golden tint and the preparations available for covering up the darker shade.

Keen Observer Sizes Up Our Younger Folk

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A few tips offered by a keen observer on the generation we refer to as the younger, might be advantageous to those young persons not already in the know.

The outstanding change in manner of the current younger ones, as compared with the generation now grown 10 years older, is the demise of the snappy comeback. The death of the "wizey." Of the show-off! Flaunting wickedness is too silly for this ultra sophisticated young group to indulge in, whereas the decade-ago-younger generation spent its time thinking up ways and means of shocking elders. The young ones of this day may and do shock—but they do not do it with the applause seeking or reproof seeking vigor practiced by the generation that preceded them.

Life with them, as one describes it, appears to be totally effortless. But they do things. They have poise, control. The games they play and play well—supply them with the last named charms. To be a dub at anything with this younger element is the unpardonable sin.

They dance well. They play tennis, golf, and they swim like fish. They're easy to talk to—because they know what's going on.

They got in on the depression at a particularly formative period, with the consequence that it doesn't bother them if they can't afford the better [more expensive] places. They talk over their financial status, pool their funds if need be, and go where they can afford.

WARNING TO MOTORISTS
don't start without
KLEENEX!
For wiping perspiration from faces
For cleaning windshields
For wiping grease and dirt from hands
For wiping steering wheel
For picnic napkins
For handkerchiefs
Better keep a package always handy in the car!
HOW many times have you wished you had Kleenex with you while driving?
Windshield covered with dust, and the only cloths in the car so greasy, they'd only make matters worse! Face wet with perspiration, and your only handkerchief grimy from previous wipings.
With plenty of Kleenex along, you always have something clean with which to wipe dirt and grease off your hands, to clean windshields, steering wheels. Always a clean handkerchief for face and eyeglasses.
A picnic napkin
Stop for a roadside bite, and you have a dainty napkin in a fresh, clean Kleenex tissue. Stop at a pump to cool off and refresh your face, and you have an emergency towel.
Let the children have that ice cream cone. Kleenex will keep the drippings from soiling their clothes or the car's upholstery.
Useful in so many ways—Kleenex should be the motorist's constant companion on every trip, long or short. Simply keep a package always in the car. Put it in a side pocket—or, better still, on the seat right beside you where it is handy to use.
For that holiday trip, stock up on Kleenex before you start. Buy Kleenex at any drug or department store.

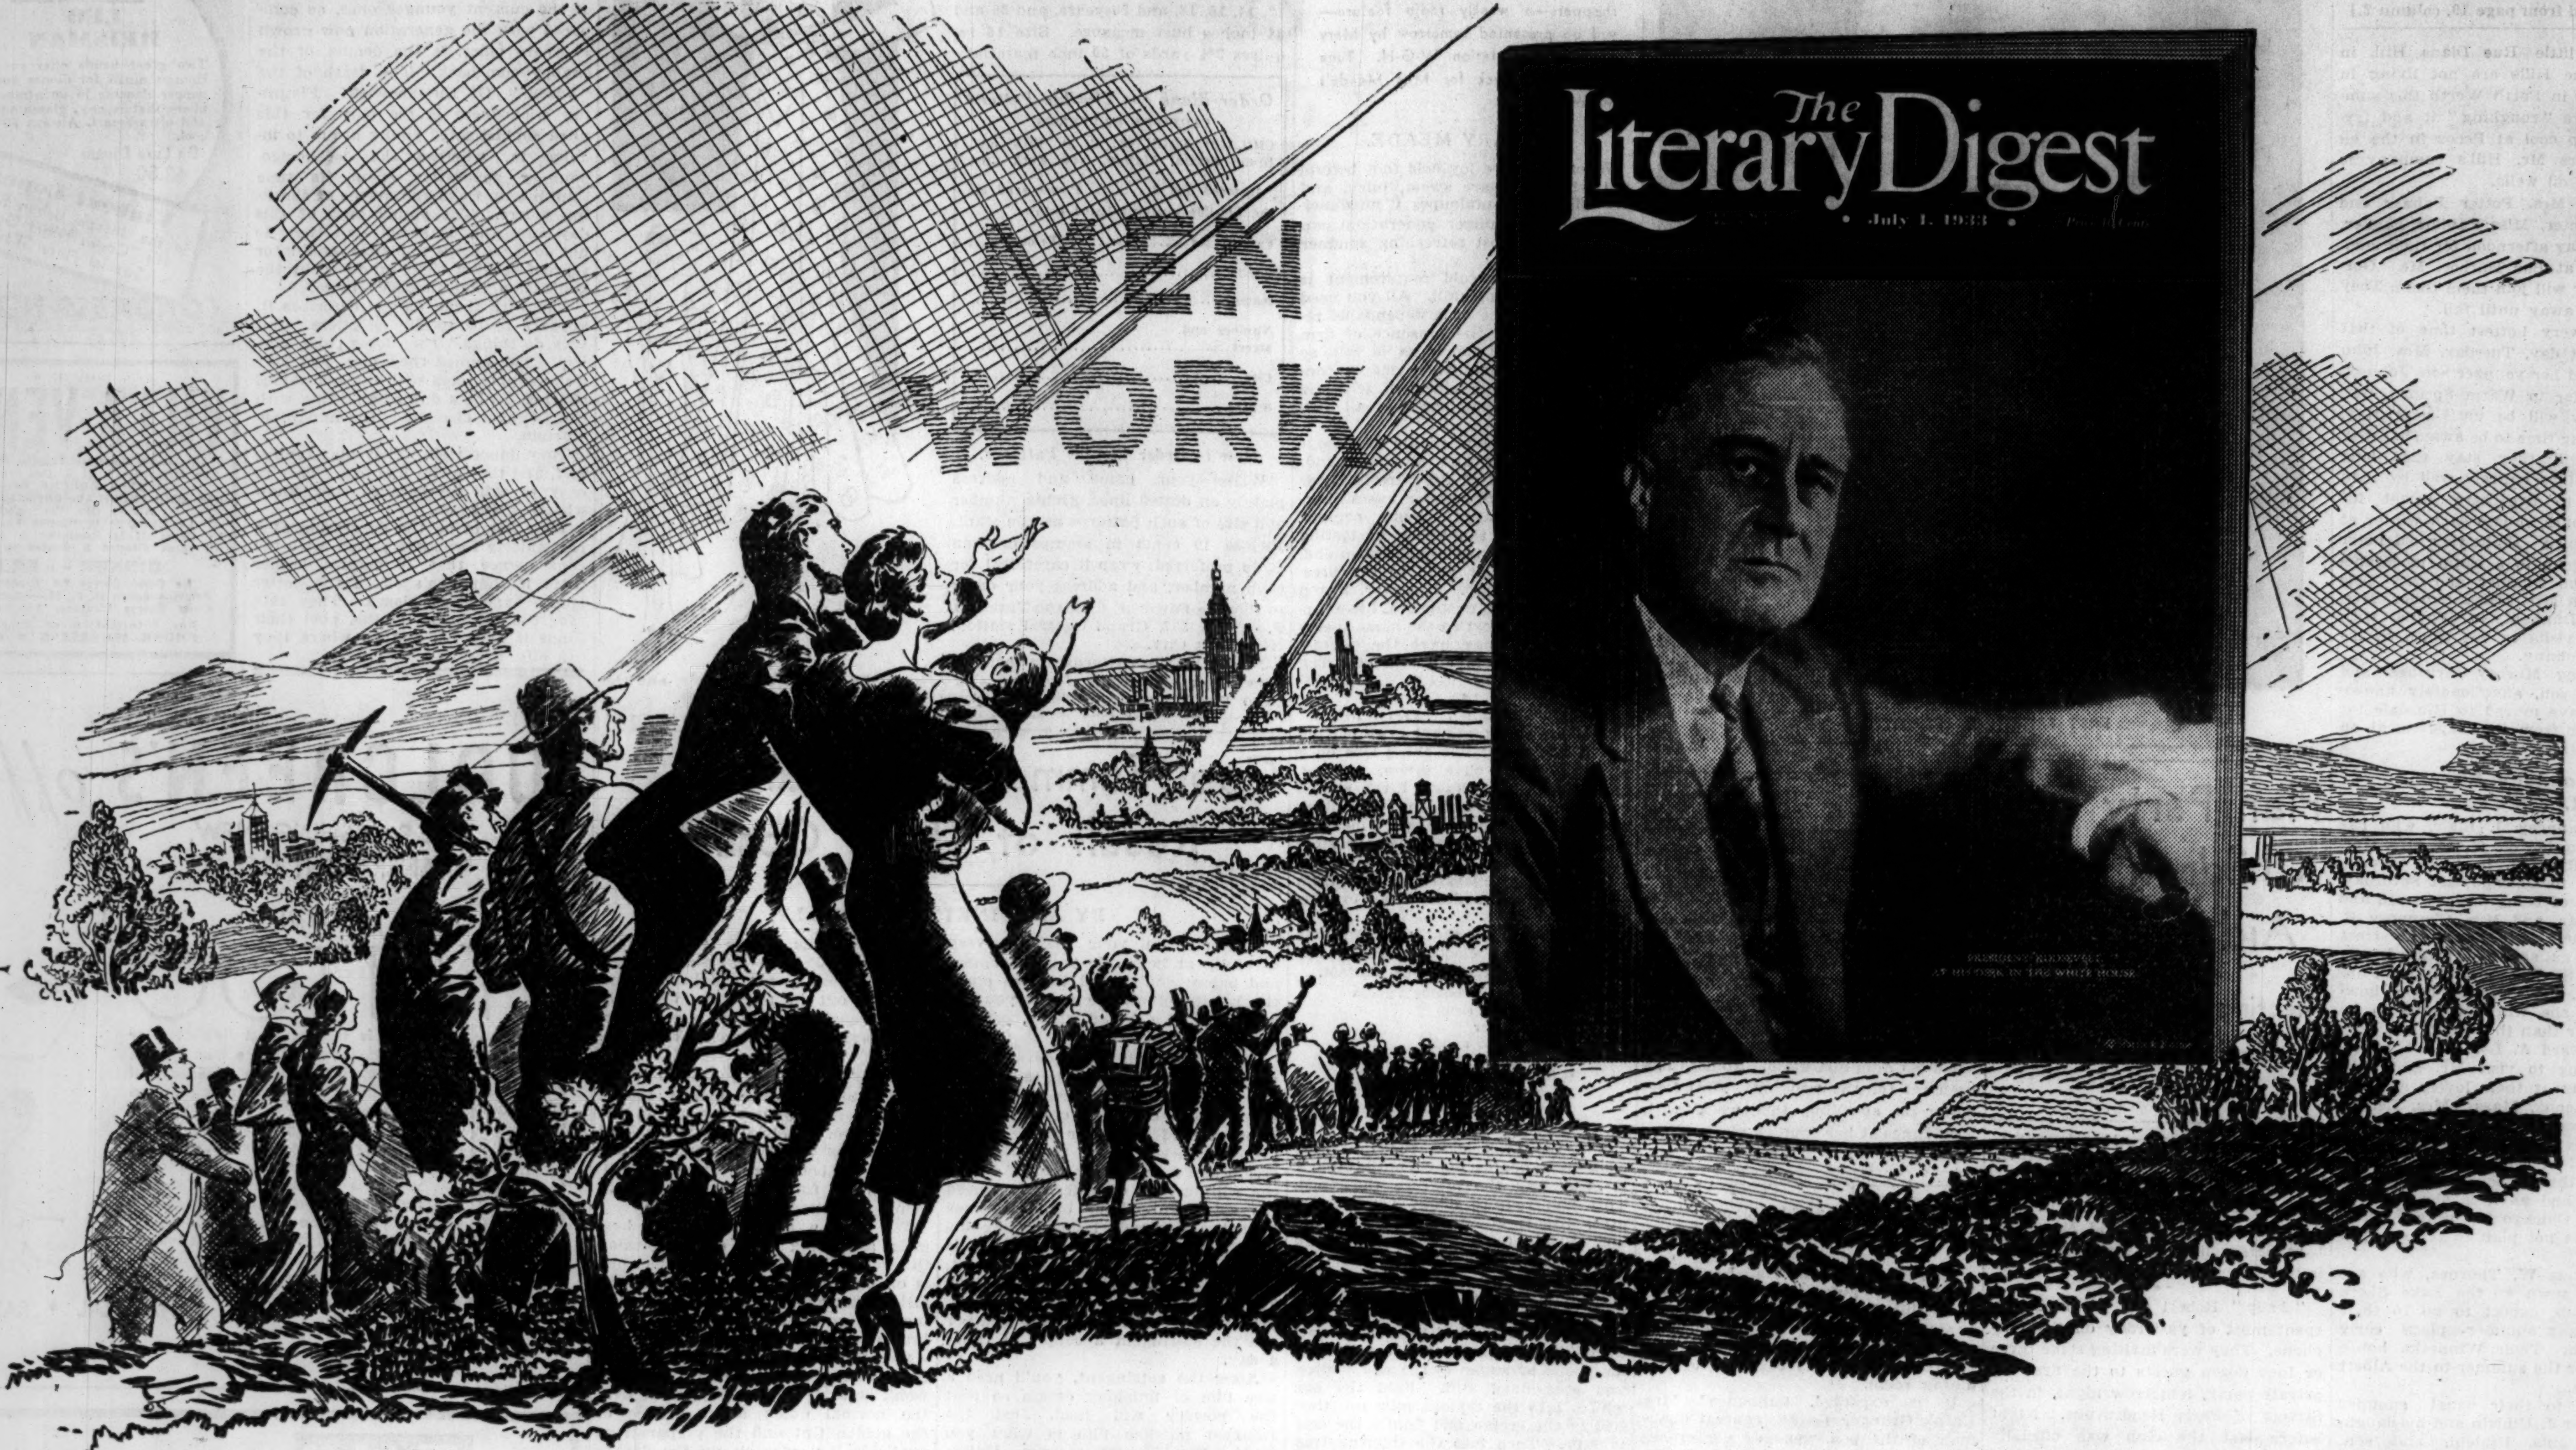
ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

A NEW MESSAGE APPEARS IN THE SKY—MEN WORK!



With new vision and new leadership

A NATION dormant and discouraged suddenly comes to life. Inspired by the courage and driving force of a new leader optimism flares overnight. A great populace, too long idle and despondent, becomes busy, active, happy again. Since President Roosevelt delivered his inaugural, nearly 2,000,000 men have gone back to work. News, big news, epoch-making news flashes over the wires. History—vital and significant—is in the making.

To sort that news, assimilate it, remove the chaff from the grain, and give thoughtful Americans significant opinions regarding it, is the task set The Literary Digest. To do it quickly, comprehensively, and with unbiased candor, that the knowledge may be of value in the feverish days of recovery, is the pledge we make to more than three million readers.

It is a time for action, for clear vision, for a sure, capable hand at the helm. A new editor —Arthur Stimson Draper—relinquishes his post on one of the world's great newspapers and takes command. He adds to his staff a group of America's ablest journalists.

Fundamental policies remain unchanged. The Literary Digest continues to quote and publish widespread opinion on all sides of the day's news—expertly edited—ably presented. But in the spirit of the times, original features, new departments appear, edited for the millions of thinking Americans who look to the Digest for dependable knowledge of the world's activities.

The Literary Digest, America's great national news weekly, moves on with the nation.

HEVING STOPS ATHLETICS' 9TH INNING RALLY

Hose Star in Comedy and Hitting Roles.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Despite various comical blunders not evident in the columns reserved for errors, the White Sox were able to slap down the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, 9 to 8, in the final of the series. The victory also served to give the Chicagoans the series, 3 to 2, and to take them back into first division. However, the promotion from fifth to fourth place was a matter of doubt until the last enemy was retired, the Athletics having indulged in a ninth inning rally that was snuffed out only after three had scored and the tying run was on third base.

One department of play in which the Sox conducted themselves impressively was at bat. They were not fooled particularly by Roy Mahaffey, Merritt Cain or Dick Oliver, the semipro with the twisting delivery. But their robust smacking hardly offset such as the following: Frank Grube's bewilderment over a passed ball, a balk by Ed Durham, and Luke Appling's trick of twice running away from grounders. The latter stunts naturally caused some grief for Milt Gaston, the starting pitcher, who finally surrendered in the eighth.

Heving to the Rescue.

When Gaston fell into a jam in the eighth and the great Jim Foxx, who previously had hit homer No. 18 to take the league lead, was coming up, Durham was picked to salvage the situation. He did it well except for his momentary lapse that led to the aforementioned balk with two on base. But in the ninth he looked entirely different to the Macks. They poured forth four hits before anybody was retired and the most menacing portion of the batting order was still to be heard from. Under the conditions Lew Fonseca, the Sox manager, decided Joe was better suited to the job at hand. Joe stopped 'em cold.

The first dent in Mahaffey's armor in the third, when the Sox inaugurated the day's scoring with three runs, was Gaston's single with one out. Rhyne flied out and then the firing started in a big way. Haas doubled down the third base line, Gaston scoring. Haas counted on Swanson's drive which bounced past Coleman for a triple. Simmons hit a two bagger to right, Swanson scoring.

Foxx Is Plenty Tough.

The only hit by the Macks in the first four innings was a double to left by Foxx. The second hit was by the same fellow. He opened the fifth with homer No. 18. Then all sorts of things happened to Gaston. Cochrane singled to center and Higgins caromed a hit off the pitcher's glove. Williams hit one well enough but Appling flagged it and threw to Rhyne to double Cochrane off second. All that Gaston then had to do was to set down Mahaffey, but he walked him. McNair and Cramer followed with singles, sending Higgins and Mahaffey home with the runs needed for a 3 to 3 tie.

Mahaffey couldn't stand prosperity. As soon as his teammates put him into a tie he flopped. He walked Rhyne and Haas in the home fifth with one out. Swanson bounced to McNair, who made a wide throw trying to force Haas. That filled the bases. Simmons immediately cut down the base occupancy by singling to center, scoring Rhyne and Haas and planting Swanson on third. That was enough for Mahaffey. Cain took charge and Appling bounced into a force out, but it gave Swanson a chance to score. Dykes then singled and Sullivan ended the disturbance with a popup to short.

The Sox were overcome by a streak of generosity in the seventh and gave away a run. Gaston did his bit for

CUBS GET SOME HITS; BEAT PHILS TWICE, 9-5, 8-3

Warneke Wins No. 9; Jurges Leads Attack.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 28.—The Cubs enjoyed the game of baseball this afternoon as they have not enjoyed it in lo, these many weeks. They won two games from the Phillies, who were proud because of seven straight victories over the Reds and Cardinals. The sweet results were attended by the thrill of watching the scoreboard record losses for their most hated enemies, the Giants and the Cards. In the first game the Cubs came from behind to win, 9 to 5, and the second was a breeze all the way for an 8 to 3 triumph.

There were many reasons why today's outcomes were especially refreshing, not the least of them being that the Cubs in the second game finally got around to doing something in behalf of suffering Lon Warneke, the great pitcher and stove kicker-over. Today Lon won his No. 9 victory after four futile trials. Lon last sipped the nectar of victory on June 3 when he outpointed the Cards, 8 to 6. When Lon personally scored the No. 8 Cub run in the sixth he pretty near swooned, so great was his elation.

Jurges Leads Hitting.

The Cubs made 26 hits in the course of the afternoon, and of these Bill Jurges, bridegroom, made two and a sacrifice in the first game and four hits in four times at bat, including his No. 4 homer, in the second game. In addition Bill had a brilliant day afield. Bill Herman also had a great day, with a double and two singles in the first game and two doubles in the second game. Gink Hendrick, who had made two singles in 31 times at bat prior to today, knocked two doubles in the first game and two singles in the second game.

The double victory lifted the Cubs a game above the .500 mark, below which they sagged during the Boston series. They now are even with the Phillies in the season series, 4 to 4, as a result of having won as many games in one afternoon as they previously had won on their entire road trip.

FIRST GAME

The Phillies got the scoring business under way in the first inning of the first game. Fullis, who surprised the world by becoming the first major leaguer to make 100 hits, opened with a single off the right field wall. Bartell fanned and Klein flied to Demaree. Then Fullis stole second and raced to third after Hartnett's throw had caromed off the runner and knocked Bill Herman flat.

The Cubs tied the count in the third. Bill Herman singled with one out, then Babe Herman got credit for a double when Knothe dropped his pop fly back of third, Bill Herman stopping at third. Demaree flied to Fullis, Bill Herman scoring, and Hendrick flied to Schulmerich.

The Phillies hopped on Malone for three runs in the fifth. Todd walked and was forced by Knothe. Jackson then put Knothe on third with a single to right center. Fullis' second hit was a double off the right field wall, Knothe scoring and Jackson stopping at third. The runners held on while Jurges was throwing out Bartell, but scored when Klein singled to right. Hurst forced Klein.

Cubs Start Hitting.

The Cubs resembled the Cubs of happier years in the eighth when the first six batsmen hit. Bill Herman led off with his third hit, a double to right center. He promptly scored on Babe Herman's single to center. Demaree singled to right, putting Babe Herman on third, whereupon Jackson was relieved by Liska. Hendrick hit Liska's first pitch for a double to left, Babe Herman scoring and Demaree stopping at third. English also hit Liska's first pitch. It went for a single, Demaree scoring the tying run and Hendrick stopping at third.

Collins promptly replaced Liska.

DON'T GO WRONG ON BILL DICKEY: HE'S NOT A PUG

(This is the fourteenth of a series of sketches of players who will take part in the game of the century between American and National league all stars at Comiskey park July 6.)

When Mr. William Dickey of the New York Yankees lost his Louisiana temper last summer and thumped Carl Reynolds' jaw so hard that the jaw cracked, a lot of people decided Bill must be a tough fellow. Bill isn't tough at all. He's just a catcher and his surprising momentary appearance in the rôle of a slugger was just one of those things. The base runners had been knocking him around so much he decided there was a conspiracy afoot. So, having reached that decision, he walloped the next guy and that happened to be Reynolds, then of the Senators' outfield but now transplanted to St. Louis.

Mr. Dickey is a catcher who gets results without ballyhooing himself. He goes about his business quietly. He prefers to attract attention by the way he catches what is thrown at him, by doing a little throwing himself when base runners grow bold, and also holding up his end of the hitting. All these things he does very well in his leisurely way; so well, in fact, that he probably is the best of the present major league catchers.

The Bastrop, La., lad enjoyed one of those See America First tours before finally landing in the big show for keeps. In 1925, his first season as an outright professional, he was with Little Rock; in 1926 Muskogee, Okla., Minneapolis, and Little Rock; in 1927 with Jackson, Miss. But before the 1927 season closed the Yankees gathered him in and held title to him for a few minutes. Then it was back to Little Rock and then to Buffalo for 1928. The Yanks took him back that fall and decided to keep him.

Dickey has enjoyed only one of the many world series in which the Yankees have figured, but he made his one appearance a good one. Last fall the Cubs experienced no end of trouble trying to get him out. He caught the four games, which was the minimum number required to win, and in 16 times at bat he produced 7 hits for a .438 average. His batting since he joined the Yanks to stay has averaged .323.

HELEN FULTON WINS TRI-STATE TENNIS MATCH

Cincinnati, O., June 28.—[Special.]—Helen Fulton of Chicago won her second round match in the tri-state tennis tournament today by defeating Gail Ball of Hamilton, O., 6-0, 6-1. Frances Herron of Los Angeles defeated Nancy Gere, Cincinnati, in love sets. Kathryn Pearson of Houston, Tex., took a three set match from Monica Nolan, Cincinnati, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5.

Frankie Parker of Milwaukee eliminated Wilbur Hess of Fort Worth, Tex., 6-0, 6-3, in a quarter-final match in the men's singles.

HADAGAL, THERE'S A HORSE YOU'LL HAVE TO WATCH

Wright's 2 Year Old Wins Easily at Arlington.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Warren Wright's new Calumet farm racing stable uncovered a 2 year old before a crowd of 11,000 at Arlington Park yesterday which looks, acts and runs like a champion.

Hadagal is the colt's unusual name and you better write the name down in your little black book, for this fellow will be bobbing up in all the championship events coming along later in the season and it will take a mighty horse to beat him.

Hadagal, making the first start of his career, ran away with the Knollwood purse, a dash at 5 furlongs. Leading from almost the beginning, he skimmed over the 5 furlongs in :59 3-5, just three-fifths of a second off the track record and beat Spoilt Beauty, owned by A. C. Schwartz of New York, by a length. Dartle, the winter track juvenile champion, after running a head back of Hadagal most of the way, surrendered near the end but he saved third money.

Comes of Great Line.

Hadagal should be a great race horse. His daddy is Sir Gallahad III and his mother is Erne. That makes him a full brother to the great racing mare, Pansy Walker of a couple of seasons back. Pansy Walker was fast and game of heart. Hadagal ran yesterday like he might be just a little faster than his illustrious sister and there is no question about his gameness.

Dartle fairly ran the eyeballs out of him for the first half mile. Dartle then gave up the struggle, but it looked like he was sure to be second until Spoilt Beauty, a daughter of High Time-Freckles II., came with a late dash to conquer him in the last few strides.

There were many in the crowd who backed Hadagal, chiefly because there had been reports of sensational workouts he had turned in. Dartle, with four straight triumphs to his credit, was the favorite. His connections were confident he would win and they backed him stoutly. With Dartle's backers sending in the money on him to win and Mr. Wright's friends all wagering on Hadagal, the race developed into one of the big betting races of the year here.

Hadagal Pays $9.02.

When the battle ended Hadagal paid $9.02 to win, $6.20 to place, and $3.70 to show. Spoilt Beauty paid $17.78 to place and $7.19 to show. Dartle was at $3.18 to show.

Another 2 year old sensation—one that might possibly outrun Hadagal sometime or another—was uncovered in the first race. This one's name is Singing Wood, a son of Royal Minstrel-Glade. He is owned by Mrs. John Hay Whitney and neared the track record when he finished 5½ furlongs in 1:04 3-5. He was five lengths in front

Junior Events Today Open 3-Day A. A. U. Track Carnival

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago's three day track and field carnival opens this afternoon at Soldiers' field, when the junior A. A. U. stars of the country compete in their annual meet. The first event will be at 2 o'clock.

Tomorrow afternoon at the same time more than 100 women stars will meet in the National A. A. U. games. All of which is preliminary to the forty-sixth annual senior track and field championships of America, in which more than thirty members of the 1932 United States Olympic team will compete, which will be held under the floodlights of Soldiers' field tomorrow night. The athletic carnival will end Saturday with the decathlon and the national gymnastic meet.

Admission to the afternoon sessions is 55 cents, while prices range from 55 cents to $2.20 for the meet tomorrow night.

A record field will compete tomorrow night. Three hundred and eighty-nine athletes have entered, surpassing the former record of 273, which was registered in the meet at Lincoln, Neb., several years ago.

Keller is Dangerous.

Four of the greatest high hurdlers in the country are slated for the 110 meter hurdle race. Percy Beard of the New York Athletic club, who holds the accepted world mark of 14 2-10 seconds for the 120 yard high hurdles, will compete against such stars as Jack Keller of Ohio State, Al Moreau of Louisiana State, and Gus Meier of Stanford. Moreau and Meier are enrolled under the colors of the Olympic club, which is expected to contest the team title with the New York A. C.

Meier won the high hurdles in the recent national collegiate meet in 14 2-10 seconds, with Moreau second. Keller fell in the trials and did not qualify, but both this year and last he has been timed in 14 1-10 seconds, and he will be more anxious than ever to avenge his elimination in the N. C. A. A.

The 100 meter race continues to hold the center of interest, for it will bring together the best pair of sprinters in the country, Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette, N. C. A. A. champion, and Jesse Owens of East Tech High, Cleveland, interscholastic champion. Both tied the accepted world record of 9 4-10 seconds for 100 yards on the same day.

While Metcalfe will compete only in the 100 and 200 meter races, Owens also is an exceptional broad jumper. He holds the interscholastic record and has jumped within less than an inch of the 25 foot mark. This is enough to place high in the A. A. U. competition, if not to win it. John Brooks of Chicago, who has been defeated only once in the broad jump; Lambert Redd, formerly of Bradley; Ed Gordon, the Olympic champion, and Don Grey of Nebraska also are outstanding.

Hornbostel vs. Cunningham.

Charles Hornbostel, Indiana's half mile champion, who won a great race from Glenn Cunningham of Kansas in the national collegiates in the record time of 1:50.9, will compete in the 800 meters. Cunningham also is expected to run again and the entry of Phil Edwards, Canadian Olympic star, will make this event one of the best.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 28.—Jack Sharkey tomorrow night will defend against Primo Carnera the heavyweight championship of the world which was awarded to him to the astonishment of a large attendance as he staggered free from the last embrace at the end of his 15 round fight with Max Schmeling a year ago.

About a year before that Sharkey fought Carnera, dropped him with a left hook whipped to the chin from a rolling swing of his body, and managed to outpoint him and win the decision. Since then Carnera has fought often and has improved himself in his line of work, whereas Sharkey has fought only once and not very well that time.

Maybe He's in Better Shape.

However, Sharkey's physical condition seems to be better than it was on the night when Schmeling bundled him around the ring last summer. He is always better "this time," however, and a reference to the files will show that he professed to be in excellent health on entering the ring with Schmeling. Not until recently did it come out that he was burdened with a ring of blubber around his center and was much less than his true self that evening.

The business will be transacted in the Garden corporation's branch plant, known as the Garden bowl, in Long Island city, a nickel by subway or a dollar by cab from Broadway. The distance will be not more than 15 rounds and the judgment of the gamblers seems to be that Sharkey should win by superior craft and agility. There is comparatively little gambling money in circulation, however.

Carnera Has 60 Pound Edge.

Although Carnera, weighing 265 pounds, is the nimblest and most athletic fighter of his size ever to perform on a boxing scaffold and has learned two tricks, a heavy handed right smash to the heart and a shocking left jab or hook, which he did not know when he fought Sharkey before, the professional opinion prefers Sharkey.

He will concede Carnera 60 pounds of meat when they mount the scales for the prize fight commissioners, a rite which in the case of heavyweights is enacted solely that the commissioners may have their pictures taken, but the professional idea is that so limber and quick a man as Sharkey will be able to roll in under Carnera's huge arms and bunt him alongside the jaw with the same sort of left that dropped him with a crash the time they met at Ebbets field in Brooklyn.

Jack Tries to Run Away.

In that incident, Primo squatted enormously for a few seconds pawing for the ropes, then hove himself to his feet and, as Sharkey rushed at him, dropped again without being hit. Sharkey screamed to Gunboat Smith, the referee, to disqualify Primo and when Smith refused, made a rush to hop out of the ring and quit in protest. He bumped into the large, squashy abdomen of his fat manager, John Buckley, who had hopped up

SCOUTS FIND OLD SWIMMIN' HOLE A CURE FOR HEAT

Splash Away Warm Hours in Cooling River.

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Millington, Ill., June 28.—The Boy Scouts on THE TRIBUNE canoe cruise today discovered the best way to beat the heat wave which sent all the thermometers along the Fox river to high scores. First the boys did all the paddling on the day's program between breakfast and noon. Then, as soon as the canoes were unloaded at the camp site near here, they piled into the river.

For the rest of the day a deep long pool just below the camp site on the west bank of the river provided an old fashioned swimming hole for the gang. Here all the sunburned canoe cruisers dived, floated, and splashed throughout the afternoon, oblivious of the heat which pressed down upon the river valley.

Fishermen Yield to Swimmers.

Two black bass fishermen had prior rights on this long pool below camp, but they yielded their occupancy to the Scouts whose cooling off program included everything from falling out of canoes to just lazy floating in the shade of a big maple tree along the river bank.

The canoeing party broke camp this morning about 8:30 after everybody had taken a long farewell drink of cold water from the flowing spring on the Fox river farms below Yorkville. The 11 canoes which are carrying members of the cruise strung out in single file below the Plano bridge so that each pair of paddlers might have plenty of room when the time came to shoot through the rocky narrow opening of the Millbrook dam.

This piece of water, fast and full of jagged rocks, gave the boys a thrill. The current slams each canoe against a concrete abutment unless the paddlers are on the job. The Scouts guided their canoes through the chute without mishaps, thus obtaining excellent practice for the next dam at Millington, where each canoeist had to steer his canoe at an angle between two large boulders. With Vincent Smith, the canoeing instructor of the cruise, showing the way by shooting the rapids first, the Scouts played tag with the boulders quite successfully.

Nature Students Go to Work.

This campsite near Millington is giving the nature students many opportunities for study and to make additions to their collections. Harold Bock and Edward Marsh, who are working on their botany merit badges, collected several new species of flowers in the open grassy meadow which stretches away from a wooded hillside overlooking the river valley.

This evening the Scouts followed two interesting keep cool programs in the river. One was the nature study class in the middle of the river, which devoted special attention to fresh water biology. Just before dinner the writer took a squad in bathing suits into the water. Sitting on the river bottom in a depth of about three feet of water, with all the boys arranged in a circle, we had a laboratory half hour on fresh water nymphs, hellgramites, snails, and other queer underwater creatures which were found under rocks and boulders.

Gledhill and Vines Lose at Wimbledon

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28.—Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, doubles champions of the United States, were eliminated by A. K. Quist and D. P. Turnbull of Australia in the men's doubles of the Wimbledon tournament today, 4-6, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

The Quist-Turnbull combination improved rapidly after dropping the first two sets, and with the tiny Quist leading the attack, the Australian Davis cup pair had the Americans on the defensive through the last three. Quist's performance was especially conspicuous in the face of the uncertain play of Vines, who is defending his singles title here. It was largely Quist's fine service and volleying that decided the issue. In both the fourth and fifth sets, after he and Turnbull had battled into the lead, Quist served and won the final games.

The other American doubles team of Lester Stoefen and Cliff Sutter met stern opposition in the two youthful French players, Andre Merlin and Marcel Barnard, but won a first round match, 6-3 2-6, 9-6, 6-4.

In a second round match of the women's singles play, Helen Jacobs, United States women's singles titleholder, scored an easy 6-1, 6-3 victory over Miss J. Saunders of England.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody teamed with George P. Hughes, British Davis cup player, to defeat E. R. Avory and Mrs. F. M. Strawson, both of England, in a first round mixed doubles match, 6-2, 6-3.

CACCIAPAGLIA TIES WITH MOORE FOR CUE LEAD

Charles Cacciapaglia of Rockford, western sectional intermediate pocket billiard champion, won his afternoon and evening games in the national tournament yesterday at the Pioneer Arcade and earned a tie for first place with Bob Moore of Grand Rapids, Mich., who split even.

Cacciapaglia defeated Nick Oliva, Chicago Y. M. C. A. champion, 100 to 64 in 30 innings, and Arthur Judice of Brooklyn, 100 to 80 in 13 innings.

In the other afternoon game Bob Moore defeated Judice, 100 to 94. In the evening game Oliva beat Moore, 100 to 81.

Time, :22 3-5, :45 3-5, :57 3-5, 1:04 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Singing Wood, $7.92 straight, $5.38 place, $3.60 show; Sir Ten, $5.20 place, $3.88 show; Cavalcade, $5.30 show. Winner trained by J. W. Healy. Went to post at 2:20½. At post 2⅛ minutes. Start good from gate. Won eased up; second and third driving.

SINGING WOOD, making his first start and a colt of high quality, took command gradually, drew out while maintaining keen speed at the turn, and despite strong restraint the final eighth continued with high speed to end. SIR TEN saved some ground at the stretch turn and, closing resolutely, disposed of HUMOROUS and outstayed CAVALCADE. Latter began very slowly, saved ground at the turn, and closed strong.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :23, :47 3-5, 1:00 1-5, 1:06 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Earnings, $7.58 straight, $4.90 place, $3.60 show; Pompestian, $17.30 place, $9.00 show; Cotton Club, $4.04 show. Winner trained by W. Brennan. Went to post at 2:47. At post 2¼ minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

EARNINGS, strongly ridden in keeping up and lucky to escape interference when SAUNTER and GOLD SIGNET came over, had ample room after GOLD SIGNET bore out, saved ground at stretch turn, and wore down POMPESTIAN. Latter had speed under energetic riding and held on fairly well, but was outmatched. COTTON CLUB, slow to get going, missed the crowding in the stretch and outstayed PRINCE CHARLO.

Time, :23, :46 3-5, 1:11 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Rock Point, $11.46 straight, $3.76 place, $2.70 show; Sky Haven, $2.76 place, $2.34 show; Timorous, $2.86 show. Winner trained by J. V. Stewart. Went to post at 3:14½. At post 1 minute. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same. Daily double paid $89.18.

ROCK POINT, steadied for a half mile and always on outside, responded strongly when called upon and won drawing out. SKY HAVEN, on outside much of the race, worked his way to front under strong urging and held on gamely. TIMOROUS saved much ground and fought it out stubbornly.

Time, :23, :46 3-5, 1:12. Two dollar mutuels paid: After Dark, $9.36 straight, $4.64 place, $3.54 show; Soeur Blanche, $12.98 place, $9.98 show; Justice B., $36.34 show. Winner trained by B. B. Williams. Went to post at 3:41. At post ⅛ minute. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

AFTER DARK, cleverly ridden and lightly hustled to retain the early lead over HAPPY ANNE, was snugged along while saving ground at the turn, came away fast in stretch and had something left. SOEUR BLANCHE saved much ground at the turn, stood the drive gamely, and was widely best of others. JUSTICE B., well up from start, bore out when entering stretch and weakened, but outstayed SPORTING PEARL.

Time, :23, :46 2-5, :59 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Hadagal, $9.02 straight, $6.20 place, $3.70 show; Spoilt Beauty, $17.78 place, $7.10 show; Dartle, $3.18 show. Winner trained by D. E. Stewart. Went to post at 4:08. At post 1 minute. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

HADAGAL, forced over soon after the start but able to keep up, stubbornly resisted DARTLE'S bids at the turn, came out slightly when nearing final eighth and, disposing of DARTLE, held SPOILT BEAUTY safe. Latter, away slowly, was inclined to swerve, lost ground entering stretch, and held on gamely while racing wide thereafter. DARTLE appeared to bear over soon after the start, was much used in first half mile, and weakened thereafter, but was best of others.

Time, :23, :46 3-5, 1:11 1-5, 1:37. Two dollar mutuels paid: Esseff, $6.72 straight, $3.48 place, $2.74 show; Jungle King, $3.26 place, $2.48 show; Pompoleon, $4.28 show. Winner trained by C. Vandusen. Went to post at 4:36. At post 4 minutes. Start good from permanent stalls. Won driving; second and third same.

ESSEFF, away slowly and kept on inside and restrained for three-quarters, offered fine response when called upon, rapidly overtook the leaders, and won without severe pressure. JUNGLE KING, forced back by POMPOLEON soon after the start, was under steadying restraint to stretch, where he responded stoutly, but could not withstand the winner. POMPOLEON appeared to bear over when moving up fast in opening eighth; was much used.

SEVENTH RACE—Hertz course, one mile out of chute. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23, :46 3-5, 1:11 3-5, 1:37 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Strideaway, $8.98 straight, $5.14 place, $2.72 show; Snap Lock, $10.96 place, $3.86 show; Crap Shooter, $2.64 show. Winner trained by R. N. Vestal. Went to post at 5:07. At post 1⅛ minutes. Start good from permanent stalls. Won easily; second and third driving.

STRIDEAWAY, much the best and benefited by the fast pace, saved much ground under strong restraint first five-eighths, came around the leaders rapidly when entering stretch, and won without need of punishment. SNAP LOCK forced a fast pace under clever rating, could not withstand winner, but held on fairly well. CRAP SHOOTER raced wide throughout and, in hand for three-quarters, failed to rally when urged hard.

Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 5:34½. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

BELGIAN LASS, rated off the pace, responded well when called upon and, wearing down the leaders, outstayed ENGLEWOOD. Latter, strongly restrained for five-eighths, saved ground at lower turn and closed gamely. BATTY had speed, dropped back as if through, then came again mildly in the final drive.

MORE COURSES PICK STAR PUPILS OF GOLF SCHOOL

Name Champions for the Final Events.

The task of selecting the star students in THE TRIBUNE Golf school, now in its sixth and final week, went on last night at the 27 member courses of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, sponsor of the plan, the most imposing project of its kind ever attempted.

Each course this week is occupied with the business of naming the prize pupil in each of the four divisions—men's, women's, boys', and girls'. At the end of the week the original enrollment of 16,000 pupils will be reduced to 108 winners, four from each of the 27 courses. These will meet in the first of the two final competitions to determine the final champions of the school.

Jury Composed of Stars.

The first of the final competitions, which will be based on such fundamentals as stance, grip, and swing, will be held next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at Mid-City, Grace street and Western avenue. The jury which will select the final winners on form will be composed of five of the greatest instructors and competitors in the game. They are Tommy Armour of Medinah, Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, Jock Hutchison of Glen View, Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, and Bob MacDonald. The same 108 pupils will met in an honest to goodness golf tournament, 18 holes of medal play, at Northbrook, Dundee and Sanders roads, at 2 p. m. on July 8.

Miss Verda Varner of Deerfield was chosen over 100 other women's class pupils at Northbrook last night by George Jenkins, the home professional, and Arthur Vogtritter, for eight years professional at Vernon Ridge. Although Miss Varner never played golf until enrolling in the school and has played only seven times since then, she shoots 105 or better consistently. Miss Margaret Denzel, another beginner, was the choice of Judge Alec Pire of Old Elm at Vernon.

Pick Sterling Hansen at Midwest.

Harlem, which has enjoyed such success with its classes that it will continue them for the remainder of the season, for men on Tuesday, women on Wednesdays, and boys and girls on Thursday, will conduct its finals tonight. Jim Shea, instead of calling neighboring pros to do the choosing, has enlisted the services of such far flung professionals as Jerry Glynn of Olympia Fields and Pat MacDonald of Rolling Green. Harlem will put on an exhibition class for its pupils at 3 p. m. Sunday, involving Tom Meehan and Joe Tivnan against Chick Evans and George Dawson. Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley will call upon Ed Newkirk of Navajo Fields tonight to name the winners in his women's and girls' classes. Tom and his brother, Packey, instructed the class last night with a slow motion swing demonstration.

Miss Angela Petesch, 253 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, was adjudged the best pupil in the women's class at Glenbard, and Miss Virginia Ware of 636 Forest avenue, Glen Ellyn, the winner in the girls' class. Mrs. Burton D. Holley, 5842 Marmaro avenue, and Miss Janice Croke of Highland Park were the victors at Elmgate. Jack Drucker's choices at Antlers were Roy A. Brandell of St. Charles, Clifford Graff of Aurora, Miss Edith Bassett of Warrenville, and Miss Dorothy Proemmel of Wheaton.

Golfmoor Champion Picked.

Mrs. Cleo Kettler, 7435 Yates avenue, was chosen women's champion at Golfmoor by Jim Noonan of Lansing airport, Wally Appel of Turkey Creek, and Con McGinnis of Golfmoor. Mrs. Ray W. Hoover, 4157 Clarendon avenue, and Miss Corinne Salzman, 5713 North Washtenaw avenue, won at Pickwick. The club will hold a blind bogey event for women and girl pupils on July 6 and 7, and for men and boys on July 11 and 12. Oak Hills' winners included Jess Davis, Mrs. J. Praut, and Dave McIntosh Jr.

A. L. Satentorph of Western Springs and Josephine Gleason, 6239 South Lincoln street, advanced to the finals at Cog-Hill. Mrs. J. W. Baring, 2031 Lincoln street, Evanston, and Miss Barbara MacNeil, 1817 Monroe street, Evanston, won at the Lake avenue Day-Nite course. Miss Josephine Ross was chosen as the prize woman pupil at Chicago Meadows by Les MacArthur. Indian Head will hold its finals tonight at 7:30 p. m. Dr. J. C. Smith of Riverside, one of the club's pupils, made a hole in one at the 185 yard fourth last night. Dave Tosh of Sunset Ridge was the judge at Techny Fields, choosing Ned Kelly of Wilmette in the men's class, Ethel Johnson in the women's division, and Susan McConnell among the girls. The boys' winner will be chosen tomorrow.

In the Wake of the News

SHARKEY AND CARNERA.

CHAMPION JACK SHARKEY will defend his heavyweight title against Primo Carnera in New York tonight. Since we are far from the scene and there already are plenty of advance predictions, let's consider not which fighter will win but what result would be best for pugilism.

Partly owing to the depression and partly owing to the personalities of the leading contenders, the heavyweight situation has been in a bad way, so far as gate receipts are concerned, for several years. That is not said to the discredit of Sharkey or Max Schmeling. In some respects it is to their credit.

Neither Sharkey nor Schmeling had the popular appeal of Jack Dempsey. Nor did Gene Tunney, for that matter. Both in the ring and out of it, Dempsey had personality and was doing something of publicity value. Sharkey, between battles, preferred to spend his time with his family in a Boston suburb. Schmeling returned to Germany after his bouts. Thus the ballyhoo concerning them was confined to the signing of articles for their next bouts, occasional short theatrical tours, and their training periods.

In this somewhat drab pugilistic picture already has appeared Max Baer, a new face, and a chap not likely to hide his light under a bushel. If Schmeling had beaten Baer, the Sharkey-Carnera result would be more important. Now, The Wake thinks, importance of the result hinges more on which of the two would the more quickly meet the Livermore Larruper, nickname given Baer by those seeking an attractive synonym.

If Sharkey adheres to reported intention to fight again in September, if victorious over Carnera, and then retire for good, that would be all right. If he assumed the champion's prerogative of resting a year between bouts, not so good.

On the other hand, Carnera, credited with great improvement, promises more certain action. He is new among heavyweights of the first class, although not new among possibilities. Sharkey's two bouts with Schmeling were unsatisfactory, the first lost on a foul and the second won on a doubtful decision. His capabilities are pretty well known. That is not so of Carnera. There is still novelty and speculation about him.

So, on the basis of this analysis, victory for Carnera tonight would promise more in the way of heavyweight activity and interest than for Sharkey to retain his laurels.

Substitutes.

I go with the others,
Try to think they are you;
I play with them, fool them,
For I'm thinking of you.

I look deep in their eyes
And they think that I care;
But my interest is gone
When I find you not there.

On my face shows a smile,
While my heart gives a sigh;
There's a laugh on my lips
But a tear in my eye.

I look at the others
And I pretend, too,
That they make me happy—
But I'm thinking of you.

Sharkey Risks Crown Tonight with Carnera

on to the margin of the ring, and Jack rebounded to sort himself out and carry on. The brief duration of his tantrum had been a helpful respite to Primo, and he was able to carry himself through to the finish, licked but not at all humiliated.

He said Sharkey had taught him much, and has some idea of using the painful lessons of that evening against his teacher when they renew professional relations tomorrow night.

Schaaf Bout His Best.

The only time Carnera has ever struck blows which seemed as gigantic as his size was the night a few months ago when he knocked out Ernie Schaaf, who died the next day of some injury to his brain, the nature of which the doctors could not agree upon. It was agreed that Schaaf had been hurt in a previous fight with Max Baer, who left him unconscious at the final bell in Chicago, and that Carnera only conquered an invalid when he dropped Schaaf with a pushed left jab to the mouth.

However that may have been, Schaaf fought in a stiff, clumsy fashion and in his constant efforts to weave under Carnera to come up at him from the inside he was persistently hurling himself into Primo's fire. The big, big man seemed to crush Schaaf with every drive of his right hand to the ribs around the heart, and his great fists dropped on the little man with such weight and power that Ernie rattled at every impact.

But Schaaf was a man whom Primo could hit at will, whereas he will have to catch Sharkey on the wing.

Trains at Goofycrest.

Socially, both of the fighters' training camps have been amusing, conforming pretty well to the standard conception of such reunions of the craft. Sharkey trained at Gus Wilson's suburban retreat, long known to the prizefight business as Goofycrest, a sort of hotel with a couple of rings and a gym and facilities for eating, drinking and harmless amusement. His trainer, Al Lacey, a young man of considerable intelligence and class, would have nothing to do with his manager, Mr. Buckley, and Sharkey, himself, snarled and rasped at Buckley according to his old custom.

Mr. Buckley's official worries then were complicated by the continued, mysterious presence of Mr. Pete Reilly, a suave, quiet, gray, and pernicious party whose activities over a long career in the prizefight racket, the horse business and various percentage games have earned him carte blanche to stay away from the New York horse tracks if he will be so kind.

Quite a Record, Folks.

Mr. Reilly managed Bat Battalino in that bout in Cincinnati in which Battalino lost the featherweight championship unconvincingly to his friend and stablemate, one Miller. He was also manager of Jack Delaney in a memorable, not to say notorious, fight with Sharkey several years ago. After that bout Delaney did not pursue his major career any further in the New York rings and members of the prizefight commission privately said his withdrawal was a good thing for the grand old game.

This Mr. Reilly's presence at Sharkey's camp, therefore, seems to have made Mr. Buckley very restless and James J. Johnston, the Garden firm's matchmaker, states that Mr. Buckley, himself, and two friends, sitting in relays, endeavored to keep an eye on him at all times, hoping to learn why he was there. But, says Mr. Johnson, Mr. Reilly, who like so many of his kind, neither smokes nor drinks, was able to out-sit them all, and often left them snoozing in their chairs.

He's a Funny Fellow, Too.

Then, too, Mr. Reilly's sense of humor is such that there is never a dull moment where he is, what with his sneeze powders, his wired chairs and doorknobs which shock the unwary, his laundry soap bonbons and his mischievous practice of smearing a telephone receiver with axle grease and calling various parties to the phone. So between fretting to know why Mr. Reilly was there at all and frisking his bed sheets at night for garter snakes which Mr. Reilly might have mislaid there, Mr. Buckley's nerves have been under a great strain.

The Garden firm hopes to entertain about 50,000 head of customers at prices ranging from $2 to $15 and thus to handle net receipts of about $250,000.

Dempsey Gets There First.

Probably the business will suffer from the earlier competition of the Baer-Schmeling bout, with which Jack Dempsey drained off $200,000 of the available prize fight money.

The fight will not be broadcast.

Runs Like a Machine.

There is no telling how fast this big bay could have reeled off the distance had he been pressed in the closing stages. He moved along like a machine and seemed to have so much class about him that his rivals couldn't get close to him at any stage of the race.

Discovery had been the favorite in the race, but he finished nowhere. Few 2 year olds have shown this year that could run in easier stride than did Singing Wood.

Some Classic candidates met in the Midsummer purse, sixth on the program, and in the Oak Brook purse, which was seventh. Esseff beat the Greentree stable's Jungle King quite handily in the Midsummer, with Pompoleon third. The Oak Brook brought a spectacular stretch run in which Strideaway, the Texas colt, owned by the Three D's stable, showed lightning speed in the last furlong and beat A. A. Baroni's Snaplock by two lengths, with Crapshooter third. There had been a late plunge on North Galis, a stable companion of the great Gallant Sir, from California, but he ran last most of the way and finished last.

Jockey Earl Steffen, contract rider for Mrs. John Hertz, wife of the chairman of the executive committee of Arlington Park Jockey club, was suspended for 10 days by the stewards at Arlington Park yesterday afternoon.

"Who will win the Arlington Classic?" Col. Edward R. Bradley was asked at Arlington park yesterday.

"Barn Swallow, of course," was the reply of the master of Idle Hour farm. "At least she's working as if she will win it," he continued. Barn Swallow had shown Col. Bradley a mile in 1:40 2-5 yesterday morning. It was Bradley's Blue Larkspur which won the first running of the Classic.

Twenty starters, which will give the event a gross value of $16,800, are indicated for the Hyde Park stakes for 2 year olds to be decided on Saturday afternoon. The 5½ furlong dash drew a total of 165 nominations. More than 50 of them are on the grounds. The field may number even more than 20.

"FLEXIBILITY"

Kroydon's New Idea in Steel Shafts

Look at it "FLEX!"

Kroydon presents the flexible shaft: A shaft with all the virtues of Kroydon's Hy-Power construction, plus a maximum flexibility never before achieved in a steel shaft. Even more important to you, this increased flexibility is scientifically determined and graded for every type of club from driver to putter.

When you play Kroydons fitted with this new flexible shaft, you immediately add to the distance of your shots—and because of Kroydon's Hy-Power feature, you also get unusual control.

Kroydon introduced the hardened, nick-proof sole in iron clubs. Before Kroydon, no other club has. Kroydon created and patented the Hy-Power Steel Shaft which became the greatest improvement in the game of golf. Now Kroydon adds to this same Hy-Power shaft Flexibility graded to the requirements of your swing.

Request stiff shaft if you have a fast or snappy swing; semi-flex shaft if you have a medium swing; full-flex shaft if you have a slow swing.

Ask your Club Pro or dealer to show you a Kroydon flexible Hy-Power Steel Shafted Club—feel the whip, knock out a few balls, and be convinced.

GIANTS, PIRATES SPLIT.

New York, June 28.—(AP)—Two home runs, one by Hughie Critz in the ninth and the other by Gus Mancuso in the tenth, gave the New York Giants an even break in today's double header with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Critz's homer, hit with Travis Jackson on base, tied the score, and Mancuso's home run with two teammates on the bases gave the Giants a 7 to 4 triumph after the Pirates had won, 5 to 2, in the opener. Cubs Whip Phils Twice, 9 to 5 and 8 to 3

Hartnett singled to right, scoring Hendrick. Jurges sacrificed and Collins, trying to force English at third, threw into left field, permitting English to score, Hartnett to reach third and Jurges second. The runners held on while Collins was throwing out Nelson and the bases were full when Douthit beat out an infield scratch. Bill Herman, up the second time, fanned. Babe Herman walked forcing in Hartnett. Demaree then flied to Klein.

Moran Chases Campbell.

Klein singled off Nelson to open the Phillies' eighth and stopped at second on Hurst's single to left. Jurges made a great diving stop of Schumerich's grounder over second and recovered in time to force Hurst with a toss to Bill Herman, Klein reaching third and Schumerich first. Warner walked, filling the bases. Grimes replaced Nelson. Todd forced Warner, Klein scoring. Knothe ran the count to three balls and two strikes then lined to Douthit.

At the start of the Cubs' ninth Umpire Moran chased Gil Campbell off the bench for a close decision in the eighth inning on Todd's force out, which the Cubs thought was a double play. The umpire, long rated by the Cubs as eminently inefficient, ordered Campbell to hug the fence, but Campbell defied him and the game was delayed while Campbell sauntered across the field.

When the game was resumed Hendrick doubled again and English walked. Moore relieved Collins. Moore fumbled Hartnett's bunt for one error, then picked up the ball and threw to the right field fence for another, Hendrick and English scoring and Hartnett reaching third. Jurges, Grimes and Douthit supplied infield outs.

SECOND GAME

The Cubs' two runs in the first inning technically were unearned, but the inning saw some hitting, nevertheless. Babe Herman beat out an infield hit with two out. Babe was safe at second when Warner dropped the ball after tagging him. Demaree drove him home with a single to center. Hendrick got his third successive hit, a single to right, Demaree taking third. Demaree and Hendrick put on a double steal, Demaree scoring. Knothe threw out English.

Warneke took a hand in the production of the Cubs' third run. Jurges singled with one down and went to third on Warneke's single. Bill scored on Douthit's fly to Schulmerich. Jurges also scored the fourth Cub run with his homer in the fourth.

The Phillies touched up Lon a little in their fourth. Bartell opened with a single to right and Chuck stopped at second when Klein blasted a single off Bill Herman's hip. Hurst forced Klein, Bartell taking third, whence he scored on Schulmerich's single.

Four runs were chased across by the Cubs in the sixth. Hendrick pushed off with a single to right and English walked. The pair moved up on Hartnett's sacrifice and both scored on Jurges' third hit, a single to center. Jurges took second on a wild pitch and scored on Warneke's second single. Warneke went to second on Douthit's sacrifice and scored on Bill Herman's second successive double, Bill taking third when Bartell fumbled the relay. Babe Herman fouled to Todd.

Jurges Gets No. 6.

Jurges beat out a bunt with one out in the eighth for his fourth straight hit and his sixth of the afternoon, and went to third on Warneke's sacrifice bunt to Knothe when Knothe failed to get back to the base. Douthit walked, but was out trying to steal.

SHARKEY, IRISH END DRILL FOR BOUT TOMORROW

In the event Jackie Sharkey, Minneapolis, Minn., featherweight, whips Kid Irish in a 10 round bout at Sparta stadium tomorrow, he will meet Tommy Paul, former champion, at Mills stadium on July 6. Sammy Wolff, Mills stadium promoter, also attempted to sign Irish, but Irish refused.

Sharkey and Irish finished boxing yesterday. Sharkey sparred three rounds with Andy Villon, Filipino lightweight. Irish boxed five rounds, three with Al De Rose, featherweight, and two with Walter Jerz, middleweight. Jerz meets Kid Pancho in a supporting match tomorrow. It was reported yesterday that Irish weighed 125 and Jackie 129 after their drills. The weight for this meeting is 126, two pounds under the agreed poundage for their first contest when Sharkey defeated Irish at the Stadium last year.

George Nichols, former light heavyweight champion, and Sammy [Kid] Slaughter of Terre Haute, Ind., are scheduled to arrive Monday to finish training for their 10 round match at Mills Stadium on the same card with Paul. Nichols will come from Buffalo, N. Y.

A closed amateur tournament will be held tonight at the C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street. Eight bouts are scheduled between boxers registered with the Catholic Youth organization.

JUNE, JANE AND JANET

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The champion, the medalist, and two other favorites ran to form yesterday in advancing to the semi-finals of the fourth annual open tournament of the Women's Western Golf association over the No. 4 course at Olympia Fields.

Jane Weiller of Northmoor, defending titleholder, moved up by defeating Dorothy Foster of Springfield, Ill., 4 and 3, while June Beebe of the home club, winner of the qualifying medal on Monday and runnerup to Miss Weiller last year, gained the semi-finals with a 5 and 4 victory over Jean Armstrong of Indian Hill, Chicago district champion.

Mrs. Melvin Jones, Lincolnshire veteran, defeated Mrs. Robert Bullard of Springfield, Ill., 3 and 1. Mrs. Lillian Zech of Tam o' Shanter, runnerup in the recent trans-Mississippi tournament, had the real struggle of the day, going to the 19th green before eliminating Marie Riemer, Milwaukee star, 1 up.

Champion Meets Mrs. Jones.

In today's semi-final matches, each at 18 holes, Miss Weiller will meet Mrs. Jones, while Miss Beebe will be matched against Mrs. Zech. The victors will meet in a 36 hole final tomorrow. The cards for yesterday's matches follow:

Miss Weiller had to rally on the first nine to gain a two up advantage on Miss Foster at the turn. She was two down going to the fifth, after having found traps at the first and being short with her drive and second to the fourth. The match was even after the downstate girl three putted the 5th and 6th. Birdies at the 7th and 9th gave the champion a two hole lead, but Miss Foster cut that down with an 18 footer for a birdie at the 10th. She was two down again at the 11th by finding a trap and Miss Weiller went 4 up with birdies at the 12th and 13th. They halved the next two in par to give the Northmoor golfer a 4 and 3 victory.

Mrs. F. P. Hammond, Olympia Fields club champion, who is in charge of entertaining the field in the open, is still in the running, advancing to the second flight semi-finals yesterday by defeating Mrs. F. J. Lubin of Jackson Park, 5 and 4. Results of the second round follow:

Glen Oak Retains Chicago District Golf Team Title

Glen Oak Country club won the Chicago district golf team championship at Northmoor yesterday for the second consecutive year. Eleven teams of four men each competed in the 36 hole title event.

Glen Oak led with 613 points. Park Ridge trailed in second place with 634 points and Edgewood Valley was third with 638 points. The Glen Oak quartet, composed of the two Dawsons, George and Warren, Douglas Tweedie, and John Morrell, waged an unhill fight, for at the end of the first round they trailed in second place, seven strokes behind Edgewood Valley.

Jack Westland of the Sunset Ridge team turned in the best score for the 36 holes. Jack's count was 74—70—144, one stroke better than George Dawson's 75—70—145.

Today Is Last Chance to Buy Big Game Seats

This is the last day you will have a chance to buy reserved seat tickets for the inter-league baseball game at Comiskey park next Thursday.

Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, whose staff has been handling ticket sales, said last night there were less than 900 unsold seats. This morning's mail will cut the number in half and tomorrow's orders are certain to exhaust the supply. The remaining tickets are in the upper deck of the outfield stands.

If you want to see the greatest ball game ever scheduled, don't delay sending in your ticket requests. Address your application to the All Star department, Comiskey park. The price of tickets is $1.10.

Fehlig Defeats Gray, Yale Star, in College Golf

Williamsville, N. Y., June 28.—[Special.]—Vincent Fehlig of Notre Dame was forced to go to the nineteenth hole today in the second round of the national intercollegiate golf tournament, but he won, 1 up, from Dixie Gray of Yale to reach the 36 hole quarter-finals tomorrow. He will meet Charley Yates of Georgia.

Johnny Banks, also of Notre Dame, who tied for the medal in the qualifying round, was eliminated this morning in the first round by Walter Emery of Oklahoma, who this afternoon moved into the quarter-finals by whipping Oliver Transue of Yale, 5 and 3. Emery's play featured the day. He was over par only once this afternoon and scored three birdies.

Hank Kowal of Colgate, who shared medal honors with Banks, won his second round match from Jack Payne of Texas, 1 up. Yates defeated Dick Snider of Texas, 4 and 3. The third of the Texas entrants, Ed White, was eliminated by Rodney Bliss of Cornell, 4 and 2.

Wilson Marks of Princeton provided an upset by beating Sidney Noyes Jr. of Yale, 4 and 3. Bob Cochrance of St. Louis won from Don Nittinger of Southern California, 4 and 3. C. T. Birch of Dartmouth completed the quarter-final field by beating Law Weatherway of Yale, 1 up.

SOX WIN, 9-8, AS HEVING CHECKS RALLY BY MACKS

Jimmy Foxx Hits Home Run No. 18.

charity by walking Higgin. On a hit and run play Appling ran over to cover second and ran right away from a grounder by Williams. The ball naturally rolled through short for a single, Higgins taking third. A double play was all that kept the blunder from being costly. Bishop, batting for Cain, grounded to Rhyne, who touched second and then threw to first to get the batter. Higgins scored on the play. The Sox also counted one in their half. Oliver walked Simmons, who scored on Dykes' double to left.

The Sox thought up a couple of new features for the spectators in the eighth. The Macks made use of them to score a run. With one out Johnson singled to deep short and went to third when Grube committed a passed ball and stood blankly at the plate wondering what had happened to the sphere. He finally located it back near the grandstand. Gaston walked Coleman and immediately vanished from the game. Durham came in and stopped Foxx on a popup, but a moment later balked, permitting Johnson to score and Coleman to go to second.

Two More for Sox.

Four hits off Oliver in the Sox eighth added two more runs and also added to the general confusion. Durham led off with a hit to center, Rhyne sacrificed and Haas was thrown out by McNair. Singles by Swanson, Simmons and Appling moved the runs to the plate.

Quite a few happenings were recorded before Durham could be yanked in the ninth. Williams singled and Pinch Hitter Miller did the same. So did McNair, Williams scoring. Cramer also hit and Miller counted. Heving dashed to Durham's rescue and induced Johnson to poke into a forceout at second, McNair scoring. Coleman flied to Swanson. In view of Foxx's hitting habits, he was walked. Then Cochrane grounded to Dykes and the game was over.

BUSINESS ERRED, SO U. S. STEPS IN, DOUGLAS SAYS

Economist Blames Lag in Purchasing Power.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

DR. PAUL H. DOUGLAS.

Asserting that the old order of individualism in American business has broken down, Dr. Paul H. Douglas of the University of Chicago told an overflow meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday that business has another chance to get back on its feet by coöperating under the national recovery act.

Dr. Douglas, a professor of economics at the university, was heralded as a spokesman for the Roosevelt administration. He was requested by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator under the act, to expound the purpose of the act and the philosophy behind it to the Chicago business group.

The audience also included a large number of trade association delegates who are in the city framing codes for their industries.

Traces Depression Causes.

Describing the conditions that led to the adoption of the act, Prof. Douglas said that in the seven years preceding the depression the growth of industrial and financial profits had outdistanced by far the purchasing power of the consuming or wage earning class. The increase in real wages for the period was woefully behind corporate profits, and the income of the agricultural consumer showed practically no gain, he declared.

The profits, he said, were plowed back into plant and capital equipment, resulting in a productive capacity too great for the consuming power. There was no overproduction of consumer goods but an inability on the part of the people to consume, he asserted. The consequent spiral of deflation, he added, could be halted only by governmental action. It was impossible for individual firms to reverse deflationary policies unless others followed the same course, he asserted.

Says U. S. Seeks Coöperation.

It is the purpose of the recovery act to get all business to halt the curtailment of operations and labor simultaneously, Douglas said. With this purpose, the government is reversing its previous policy and encouraging the organization of monopolies and cartels. The government will see to it that they are operated in the public interest, he asserted.

Several trade groups were meeting in Chicago yesterday doing preliminary work on the drafting of "recovery codes." The most important meetings were those called by the National Canners' association and the National Lumber Manufacturers' association.

The canners' meeting at the Stevens hotel was attended by 25 representatives of the industry. Frank Gorrell, Washington, D. C., president of the association, presided. Yesterday's session was occupied with preliminary discussions. Gorrell said no definite action has been taken on possible minimum wage scales or maximum hours of labor.

DENIES RECEIVER FOR POSTOFFICE LEASING CONCERN

Wilmington, Del., June 28.—(AP)—Chancellor J. O. Wolcott today sustained a plea filed by the United States Postoffices corporation to the receivership suit against it instituted recently by George M. Tietjen, holder of $3,000 of the corporation's 5½ per cent bonds.

Alleging insolvency, Tietjen and intervening bondholders sought appointment of a receiver for the corporation, which leased buildings for postoffices, principally in Chicago. A bondholders' committee, representing holders of $1,500,000 of the corporation's outstanding bonds, intervened as co-defendants.

Trade Code Being Planned by Chicago Coffee Groups

The Chicago Coffee association is considering a code calling for a 36 hour work week, a minimum wage scale, a uniform system of cost accounting, and credit agreements. Walter Arnold, president of the Thomas J. Webb Coffee company, is chairman of the code committee. The association will hold a joint meeting tonight with the Chicago Coffee Trade association to consider action.

LAKES TO GULF WATER RATES ARE UNCHANGED AS ROUTE IS FINISHED

BY H. A. LAIRD.

[Chicago Tribune Traffic Manager.]

Now that our lakes to gulf waterway has been officially opened and regularly scheduled tows of the Federal Barge lines are entering and leaving Chicago terminals, Chicago shippers are beginning to look around for the benefits that it was alleged would accrue to this city from the completion of this project. Many have found to their surprise that the only rate basis available is the old "80 per cent of the rail rate" which has been applicable via rail to Peoria and barge service beyond for a number of years.

There is something wrong here. Through service to Chicago avoids transfer of the freight at Peoria and adds 165 miles of cheaper water service. The transfer service alone would probably amount to 5c per 100 pounds. The situation seems to call for some active traffic management on the part of the shippers to ascertain what rates are necessary to reach new markets via the canal and the filing of applications with the barge line for such rates irrespective of relationship to the rail schedule.

The stated purpose of the barge line operation is to develop traffic on the river and Chicago should demand recognition as a port. At the opening of the Ohio river, Pittsburgh steel operators placed their own fleets of barges on the waterway and captured the business to the southwest. Possibly that will be Chicago's next move.

PREPARE FORMS FOR REGISTERING OF SECURITIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—Regulations and the form for the registration of securities with the federal trade commission under the federal securities act will probably be made available by the end of this week. A draft of the rules and the form has been completed by the special committee of the commission and was placed before the commission today for final action.

Efforts will be made to hasten action, as under the law securities, except those exempted, must be registered with the commission on and after Thursday of next week. The registration form will be a most searching document, it was indicated, intended to place on record every fact in connection with a security issue which is considered essential to safeguard the interests of investors.

Alton Permitted to Drop 2 Illinois Local Trains

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—(AP)—The Alton railroad today was authorized by the Illinois commerce commission to discontinue trains 50 and 55 between Peoria and Springfield. Operations have been at a loss. The East St. Louis and Interurban Water company was authorized to sell to St. Clair county 2½ acres of land for $876 for highway purposes.

RISE IN TRAFFIC PROMISES GAINS IN RAIL INCOME

More Roads Show Continued Upturn in Freight.

Foreshadowing improved earnings statements in the near future, the nation's leading railroads are reporting rapidly accelerating increases in car loadings. In addition, organizations of shippers in making estimates regarding their needs expect that car loadings for the third quarter of this year will exceed considerably those of the like period in 1932.

The New York Central system yesterday reported that its loadings for the week ended June 24 were 31.9 per cent above last year. Cars handled during the week closed totaled 101,231, compared with 76,751 in the like week of 1932 and 97,146 cars in the preceding week of 1932.

The Pennsylvania handled 97,513 cars in the same week, compared with 80,341 in the like week of 1932 and with 93,390 cars in the preceding week of this year. The Pennsylvania's loadings were the best since November, 1931.

Other Gains Reported.

Cars handled by the Norfolk and Western totaled 22,991, compared with 15,709 cars a year ago and 21,816 in the preceding week of this year.

Missouri Pacific loadings totaled 21,418 cars, compared with 21,152 in the preceding week and 18,261 in the like week a year ago. Missouri, Kansas and Texas loadings totaled 7,215 cars, compared with 7,329 in the preceding week and 7,672 cars in the like week of 1932. St. Louis-San Francisco loadings totaled 13,182 cars, compared with 13,093 and 12,074.

At a meeting of the Ohio Valley Shippers Advisory board in Cincinnati yesterday the estimate was made that car loadings in the third quarter would show an increase of 12.6 per cent over the same period in 1932. Estimates were made covering the movement of some 29 commodities. The estimate made for lumber and forest products showed an increase of 128.6 per cent. Requirements for the coal and coke industry were put at 436,558 cars, an increase of 14 per cent.

Auto Traffic Increasing.

Gains of 51 per cent in automobile movement; 49.3 per cent in machinery and boilers; 43.2 per cent in brick and clay products; 18.3 per cent in grains; 10 per cent in iron and steel, and 15.1 per cent in chemicals and explosives were estimated in addition to increases for other products. Losses are expected for hay, straw and alfalfa; gravel, sand and stone; cement and petroleum products.

In the meantime the increase in traffic has resulted in one road planning an augmented program of maintenance and repairs. The Pennsylvania announced yesterday that it will start maintenance and repairs on both track and equipment during July.

BOOM MARKET'S PROFITS GO TO 'THOSE IN KNOW'

Is Planned Economy Bonanza to Insiders?

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The sensational rise in commodity and stock prices since the bank holiday has set La Salle street to wondering just who has profited most from these first fruits of the administration's program of planned economy.

The big fellows, La Salle street knows, have been in the market since March. They were in first. Only during the last month has the general public been getting into the market.

And La Salle street is wondering just how well those prominent business leaders and politicians who sat close to the Washington planners while they were developing their program—and the friends of those business men and politicians—were able to resist the temptation to capitalize in the markets on their first hand information.

Advance Knowledge "Dynamite."

The administration early announced its intention to restore prices of agricultural products to the 1926 levels. La Salle street observers point out that knowledge of this intention before the actual announcement, like advance knowledge of any of the various price fixing plans, was market dynamite. The decision to go back to 1926 prices set the goal, and the different price raising schemes showed how that goal was to be attained.

Persons in close touch with the markets attribute the first advances to "dollar fear." Individuals fearful of the promised inflation policy put money into basic commodities comparable with gold. Then followed the announcement of a planned economy in which the government was to force price advances through various devices. This stimulated prices. As it happened mother nature came along with droughts which have done a large part of the work expected of domestic allotment plans and process taxes.

Rise in Prices a "Setup."

La Salle street observers point out that prices were bound to rise when commodities were subjected both to inflationary measures and to deliberate devices to increase their quoted values. When to this situation was coupled a program of stimulating industry through artificial measures the chances for a price increase were described by one shrewd observer as being "a natural, a plain set up."

Take cotton, for instance. The price of this commodity was about 6 cents a pound just before the bank holiday. The October contract is now selling at about 10.70 cents. The price per bale at the ports has advanced from about $23.50 to $52.50 in the period from early March to the present. The interior prices are about $5 a bale under the port prices. New York is the principal cotton market, with New Orleans second and Chicago third.

Those Who Knew Profited.

Cotton experts here are unanimous in saying that the reports from the south indicate success for the administration's proposal to take out of production 10,000,000 acres of the total of 40,000,000 acres in cotton lands. Here is a factor which has helped cotton prices. Developments arising during the time the plan was being developed had important effects on the market and placed those acquainted with the plan or their friends in a position to profit handsomely, it is pointed out.

Another case cited is that of the process tax on cotton goods. Recent reports have stated that the activity in the cotton mills has been at the highest rate in years, with some cotton mills exceeding the 100 index rate for average output. One cotton authority explained this by saying that cotton manufacturers were simply rushing to beat the process tax and when this goes into effect production will slump sharply. Here again the industrialists consulted in the operation of this plan and their friends were in a position to profit on their advance knowledge if they chose.

East Hears of Changes First.

It has been notorious around the Chicago Board of Trade that houses with eastern connections were in possession of advance information about farm plans which enabled them to step into the grain market hours or days before the Chicago traders knew what was going on. The eastern traders are reputed to have made huge profits as a result of their advance information.

Wool is another commodity which has increased sharply in value since early March. Around March 4 and 5 medium raw wool was selling at 14 to 16 cents a pound to the mills. It is currently selling at 27 to 29 cents a pound, or within a cent of the peak of 28 to 30 cents reached a few days ago. The latter prices were the highest in several years. The 1926 price—the administration's general price goal—was 42 to 43 cents. Boston is the chief wool market.

The price of butter, which governs milk prices paid to farmers, has advanced from 18 cents a pound, wholesale, as of March 8, to 24½ cents, as

Gold Standard Nations Being Forced Off It

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The Netherlands bank yesterday raised its discount rate from 3½ to 4½ per cent, according to dispatches from Amsterdam.

About the same time Estonia decided to abandon the gold standard and join the wabbling money nations.

France, Belgium, Holland, and Switzerland are the principal nations still on the gold standard. Germany is nominally on the gold standard, but only nominally.

Unless these nations can immediately persuade Great Britain and the United States to enter into currency stabilization agreements they cannot remain on the gold standard.

France with an unbalanced budget and a foreign trade that is being seriously cut into by nations with depreciated currencies is "on the spot." The heads of her government know that the length of time that they can cling to the gold standard is growing shorter rapidly and they are afraid of the consequences of abandoning gold, because the French people still remember with displeasure the last time their government dropped the gold standard, when their 20 cent francs declined to about 3.92 cents.

France's only hope was to exploit the world economic conference—to wangle an agreement from the United States and Great Britain to reëstablish rigid relationships between the dollar, the pound, and the franc.

According to dispatches from London France has failed to accomplish this purpose.

Yesterday the dollar dropped to a new low in terms of French francs. The dollar is now worth only about 76 cents in gold, and the American exporter has a 24 per cent advantage in competing with French, Belgian, Dutch, or Swiss exporters in the markets of the world. Furthermore, this drop in the dollar has, in effect, raised American tariff walls against French imports and has lowered French tariff walls against American goods entering France.

The increase of one per cent in the discount rate of the Netherlands bank also indicates that the hoarders are pulling down gold in the remaining gold standard countries. Just before the nation-wide banking moratorium in this country hoarders were doing the same thing and the discount rates of the federal reserve banks were being jerked up.

Abandonment of the gold standard by France would probably be interpreted in American financial circles as a favorable development. Until all the important nations are off gold and on a managed currency basis it will probably be impossible to come to any sound international agreement on currency relationships.

The United States is in no position now to enter into stabilization agreements with nations still anchored to gold, because that would mean again tying the dollar to gold. A dollar with a fixed ratio to gold would halt the inflation program which Washington has promised will restore prices to something like the 1926 level.

Under the national planned economy program now being worked out by the administration at Washington, America's delegates to the world economic conference apparently can fit their actions into the administration's plan only by remaining entirely clear of money stabilization pacts.

The seeming contradiction between American participation in the world economic conference and our new policy of planned economy on strictly national lines at home is explained by the fact that the United States was committed to participation in the international conference before the present administration came into power.

Having chosen to build up its new economic machine almost entirely on a self-sufficient, national basis, the United States has nothing much to hope for from the world economic conference at this time.

If, however, France and the other gold standard nations desert gold and all get into the managed currency class America might make stabilization agreements which would not defeat the price raising program at home.

That is where Senator Pittman's proposal would fit. He has suggested to the conference that all currencies be cheapened by reducing the gold coverage of all currencies 50 per cent. Thus, the ratios between the dollar, the pound, the franc and other currencies could be fixed and at the same time make possible raising of domestic price levels in each nation.

The United States is the most self-contained nation in the world. It can produce almost everything it needs, except perhaps coffee and rubber. All save about 6 per cent of its sales normally are within its own borders.

DOLLAR SLIDES TO 76½ CENTS IN ERRATIC TRADE

Conflicting Reports Puzzle Traders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 28.—America's dollar was worth 76⅛ cents today in terms of the gold standard currencies of Europe. It was the lowest quotation reached since the dollar started on its downward spiral last March.

The reactionary trend which prevailed in domestic markets was interpreted by some as indicating that the rise in prices here had temporarily outdistanced the dollar's depreciation.

The sharp break in the dollar on the heels of Tuesday's slump was accompanied by a flood of conflicting reports about dollar stabilization and strenuous attempt of France to defend its gold standard. Exchange specialists were frankly confounded by wild gyrations of the market.

Sterling Goes to $4.42.

The dollar gave ground against the pound sterling, which was commanding $4.42 at the end of the day. This is the highest figure the pound has reached in terms of dollars since the British divorced their money from gold. Par for the pound is $4.8665. The dollar's loss against the pound was 10 cents for the day.

The French franc, principal gold standard currency, jumped 10 points against the dollar to 5.12 cents, against a par of 3.9179. New high prices were scored by other European currencies.

The dollar's continued depreciation in terms of all foreign moneys accompanied reports from London that the stabilization program desperately sought by the continental "gold bloc" countries had again been spurned by the Roosevelt emissaries.

Talk of Flight from Dollar.

Much talk was heard here of a "flight of American capital from the dollar." It was frankly pulling a reason out of the air to explain the sharp fall of the dollar. There is no secret about the fact that American exporters are accepting payment for their goods in foreign moneys and are holding up transfer into American funds. The effect of this is the same as an actual flight of capital from the country.

Conversion of these funds into American money will undoubtedly await some form of stabilization. There also were reports of heavy selling of American securities abroad. This is another way of obtaining foreign funds but the extent of such selling is a matter of pure speculation.

Decide Making Ale May Help Ailing Auto Plant

Cleveland, O., June 28.—(AP)—S. T. Creighton, secretary of the Peerless Motor Car corporation, announced today that the Peerless company, a subsidiary, was making plans for the installation of machinery in its Cleveland plant for the manufacture of ale. Nothing definite could be said, Creighton added, as to when manufacture would start, but a more specific announcement might be expected within a week, he said.

If X is the Price of Milk Here's Formula for It:

$[Y \times 6 + (2.04 \times Z) \div 7] \times 3.5 + 30\% = X$

Y=Price of 92 score butter.
Z=Price of cheese "twins."

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—The evaporated milk industry tomorrow becomes the next branch of agriculture to step into the "doctor's" office at farm relief administration headquarters for a dose of depression tonic.

The proposed marketing agreement submitted by the industry in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin contains the producers' own formula for determining the minimum price of milk. Here it is:

"The average wholesale price per pound of 92 score butter at Chicago for said month as reported by the department of agriculture shall be multiplied by 6 and to this shall be added 2.04 times the average of weekly prevailing prices of 'twins' during said month on the Wisconsin Cheese exchange at Plymouth, Wis.

"This sum shall be divided by 7 and the resulting figure shall be multiplied by 3.5, to which shall be added 30 per cent of the resulting figure which shall be the price per hundredweight for milk with a butter fat content of 3.5 per cent delivered to plants in the above states during said month. The minimum price of milk with a butter fat content above or below 3.5 per cent shall be calculated on a direct ratio basis."

Cotton "Yield" Jumps If U. S. May Rent Land

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—The scramble for federal pork money, it was learned today, has spread to the cotton farmers of the south and their greediness is causing experts of the department of agriculture considerable concern for the success of the cotton relief program.

In several counties, it was stated in reliable quarters, cotton farmers have overestimated the average yield of their acres by as much as 255 per cent in an effort to reap the richest possible harvest of federal compensation benefits under the acreage reduction program.

The Estimates Seem High.

Under the relief plan, cotton farmers estimate the amount of cotton produced in the preceding three years on the acres they agree to abandon. The federal compensation benefits are made on the basis of these estimates. But thus far, it was reported, the estimates made by the producers themselves have been far above the actual production figures on file in the department's archives.

So greatly exercised are the farm experts of the agricultural adjustment administration, that two of the cotton relief heads tonight addressed the cotton producers down south with a stirring appeal for more honesty in their estimating. And, with the appeal went a warning that the department has the actual figures on production with which to check the estimates.

Two Chances of Failure.

"There are two causes, which, in my judgment, may wreck the scheme and abort the efforts of the department to bring about the desired price recovery for cotton," said Oscar Johnston, finance director for the farm adjustment administration.

"The first of these is the danger of avarice and selfishness on the part of the producer—the natural human inclination to try to get something for nothing."

Mr. Johnston referred likewise to the danger that recent price rises on the cotton exchange might influence the farmers against agreeing to cut down their crops.

U. S. STEEL HEAD FINDS ENGLAND GOING FORWARD

New York, June 28.—(AP)—Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, said on his return from Europe today that he had noted improved conditions in England.

"Everywhere I found a spirit of optimism," he said, "which is evidenced by their extensive building programs."

He expressed the hope the London economic conference would terminate successfully, but declined to comment on the higher trend of steel prices. He made it a practice, he explained, never to comment on the steel industry.

Ford Plant Near Chicago Boosts Employment 500%

Hegewisch, Ill., June 28.—(AP)—The largest pay roll in more than two years was reported today at the Ford Motor company's plant here. Number of employés was reported at 2,500, or five times greater than the low point of last winter. It was indicated there would be no let down for several months.

BREAK IN GRAIN PRICE FAILS TO CHECK OTHER COMMODITY MARKETS

While the sharp break in grain prices had some effect on the general commodity markets, several continued on the upgrade, notably bellies, hides, coffee and butter, the latter selling at a new high for the season. MIDDLE WEST TO GET $55,000 ON HONESTY POLICY

The Middle West Utilities company will collect $55,000 from Lloyd's, British insurance company, to cover losses resulting from "dishonest acts of employés."

A settlement for that amount between the receivers and the British company was approved yesterday by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley. The receivers relinquished further claims against the company, with which it carried a $200,000 policy.

Receivers Edward N. Hurley and Charles A. McCulloch recently instituted suits against other insurance companies to collect on losses sustained through improper acts of officials. "Employés" named in the suits were Martin J. Insull, former president, and Samuel Insull, chairman and promoter of the vast utility enterprise.

Judge Lindley also approved that portion of the creditors' agreement with the receivers under which Halsey, Stuart & Co. agrees to surrender half of the collateral it holds as loan collateral. The agreement under which the bank creditors gave up part of their collateral was previously approved.

The deadline for filing claims against the company was extended from June 30 to Sept. 30.

WHEAT PLUNGES UNDER $1 MARK; SELLING RULES

Public Takes Profits; Off Nearly 6 Cents.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Dollar wheat was erased from the grain boards in the leading American exchanges yesterday in almost as dramatic manner as it had made its appearance on Tuesday after an absence of nearly three years.

The public, which has been in full control of the markets for some days and bought with reckless abandonment for nearly a week, suddenly decided to take down some of its immense profits and became a tremendous seller. With a heavily overbought technical position and a limited short interest, prices dropped in an even more hurried manner than they had advanced on the preceding day.

First quotations on wheat showed an overnight drop of as much as 6¾ cents. December wheat, which sold as high as $1.01⅞ on Tuesday, was quoted as low as 94½ cents at the opening yesterday. Corn, oats, and other grains were off around 5 cents at the start.

Price Changes Rapid.

There was nothing in the news to account for the sudden selling movement. The crop damage reports were, if anything, more sensational than heretofore, sterling exchange advanced violently to a new high since England abandoned the gold standard, and the official announcement that the processing tax on American wheat would go into effect on July 8 made it certain that the acreage that will be seeded for the 1934 winter crop will be drastically curtailed.

Price changes in all grains throughout the day were violent, with the blackboard quotations again out of line with the actual market in the pits. Bulges and breaks of ½ to 1 cent per bushel were frequent and the ticker showed trades being made ¼ cent per bushel apart. At no time, however, was the lost ground fully recovered, although a flood of buying orders came into the market from bulls who had sold out Tuesday. Holders of bids also bought heavily. Each rally, however, was followed by increased pressure and the finish was well toward the low point of the day.

Rain Reported in Canada.

Wheat closed 5⅜ to 5⅞ cents lower for the day, reports of highly beneficial rains in southern Alberta and southwestern Saskatchewan having some effect in the last half hour of the session. July wheat closed at 89⅝ to 89¾ cents, with September at 92¼ to 92½ cents, December 95 to 95⅛ cents, and May 99¼ cents.

Corn was 3⅛ to 3⅞ cents lower, the July finishing at 52½ cents and September at 56⅜ to 56½ cents. Oats were off 3⅝ to 3⅞ cents. July was 41 cents at the last and September 42½ to 42¾ cents.

Brokers said they saw evidence of rye being sold Wednesday by a leading New York long, and that grain closed 4½ to 5 cents lower, with July at 72¾ cents and September at 77⅛ cents. Barley was off 5¼ to 5½ cents at the last, with July at 50 cents and September 53¾ cents.

Crops Suffer Severely.

A story of damage to small grain crops almost without parallel was brought back by R. O. Cromwell, the Lamson Bros. & Co. expert, who has just completed a 3,000 mile trip which took him from central Kansas to central North Dakota. Drought, he said, has damaged not only small grains and hay, but also pasturage, gardens, and root crops over the largest area in 22 years, and has cut down the production of milk 50 per cent in the plains states.

Potatoes in Kansas City, he says, which were retailing at 75 cents a bushel ten days ago, are now bringing $2 per bushel. Farmers in the Dakotas are talking as high as $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel for wheat and 75 cents for oats.

A continuation of the current hot wave was indicated by the official forecast, which called for little change in temperatures and for generally fair conditions. Scattered thunderstorms on Tuesday brought heavy showers in parts of Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, and Kansas. Shenandoah, Ia., reported three inches of rain, which will be of great benefit to the crops.

Electric Power Production Up 10.9% Over '32

Electricity output for the nation last week increased 10.9 per cent and for the Chicago district 10.1 per cent over output in the parallel week of 1932. The gain in the Chicago district is reported to be the highest since October, 1929. The national advance was the largest of eight consecutive advances since early in May.

Electric power production in the United States amounted to 1,598,136,000 kilowatt hours, the highest total since the week ended Jan. 23, 1932, according to the Edison Electric institute. Production in the like period of 1932 was 1,440,541,000 kilowatt hours and in the week ended June 17 1,578,101,000 kilowatt hours. Customarily, it was said, electricity consumption tends to decline instead of rise at this time.

Chicago District Figures.

For the Chicago district the electricity output for the week ended June 24 totaled 94,833,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 86,100,000 kilowatt hours in the like week last year, and with 91,751,000 in the week ended June 17. The improvement was attributed to unusually hot weather, the business revival, and the World's Fair.

Week ended—	—K. W. H. output— 1933.	1932.	Pct. chge.
June 10	93,375,000	85,888,000	+ 8.7
June 3	85,050,000	81,127,000	+ 4.8

Gains by Sections.

For the territorial divisions the week ended June 24 was better than the preceding one in respect to the yearly comparison. The output of New England was 19.2 per cent higher than that in the like period last year, against 18.2 per cent the week before.

The central industrial region advanced output to 13.9 per cent, against 11.9 per cent, over output in the same week of 1932. Production in the southern states advanced 13.8 per cent, against 13.6; in the middle Atlantic region, 8.9 per cent, against 7 per cent, and on the Pacific coast decreased .6 per cent, against a decline of 1.4 per cent in the preceding week.

U. S. TO RETAIN BRIEF MARKET NEWS SERVICE

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—An order issued by Secretary Wallace to eliminate the market news service of the department of agriculture was rescinded today and plans were announced for continuing the activity on a sharply reduced basis.

The service was to have been abolished to save $1,300,000. Under plans for its continuance the outlay for this year will be limited to $575,000. Many offices will be closed and methods of distributing the information reduced.

Chicago will be closed for grain and hay only, retaining other activities, including live stock, fruits and vegetables, and some monthly reports on poultry and dairy products.

BANK CLEARINGS UP NEARLY 27% FROM YEAR AGO

New York, June 28.—(AP)—Bank clearings, reports Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., continue large in volume. The total for the week ended today at all leading cities in the United States was $4,766,699,000, or an advance of 26.9 per cent over the same period a year ago.

New York City, with a total of $3,460,038,000, showed a gain of 42.2 per cent, while the aggregate for cities outside of New York was $1,306,661,000, or a decrease of 1.3 per cent. New York's substantial increase was attributed largely to heavy trading in securities. Chicago showed a slight reduction.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES TO 53 PCT. TO FILL DEMAND

Expansion Steady for Three Months.

Steel production this week has expanded three points to 53 per cent of capacity from 50 per cent last week, according to the Iron Age. The journal adds that improvement has been uninterrupted since operations descended to 14 per cent of capacity in the third week in March, and has been "closely paralleled by a comparable growth of consumption, especially on the part of automobile makers and other industries making consumer goods."

At Chicago steel operations rose from 50 to 55 per cent, according to the review; at Pittsburgh, from 40 to 45 per cent; in the Youngstown district, 56 to 58 per cent; in the Cleveland-Lorrain area from 67 to 71 per cent; in the eastern Pennsylvania district from 26 to 36 per cent, and in the south from 50 to 54 per cent. The review also reports that additional blast furnaces have been lighted at Chicago, Braddock and Johnstown, Pa., and Birmingham, Ala.

Some Branches Lag.

"Business from the construction industry and from the railroads has been insignificant throughout the period under review, and it is now a question how much further steel output can increase without such support," observes Iron Age. "Steel needed for the government's public works program cannot reach steel mills before autumn, and no material enlargement of railroad purchases is in early prospect."

The first phase of recovery in the steel industry seems to be over, says the Iron Age.

"This view is supported by the fact latterly, at any rate, many buyers have been taking steel in excess of their known requirements," it is said. "Specifications against second quarter contracts have been unusually heavy. Buyers have been influenced to order out steel not merely on account of prospective price advances, but because of continued uncertainty as to when producers will again make firm quotations.

Avoid Longer Contracts.

"In some cases mills are accepting business at current prices for July shipment, but others are taking forward business only with a saving clause protecting them against increases in costs. Buyers are ordinarily reluctant to place orders for future delivery subject to price revision and, since many of them have taken full advantage of expiring contracts, new business of the mills in the coming month may suffer.

"Such a recession may not be enough to affect production, since steel makers will be delivering against current specifications for several weeks to come. Moreover, the momentum that has been built up in certain consuming lines cannot be overlooked. Automobile output for this month will total at least 240,000 cars and will surpass that of May for the first time in 11 years. Retail sales in June also have shown a substantial gain, foreshadowing a continuance of a high operating rate in July."

The Iron Age composite price for heavy melting steel has advanced from $9.96 to $10.08 a gross ton; the composite price of finished steel has risen from 1.892 cents to 1.904 cents a pound; and the pig iron composite is unchanged at $15.01 a gross ton.

Index Shows Food Prices Above Week and Year Ago

The Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., weekly food index for June 27 stood at $1.94, compared with $1.89 for the preceding week and $1.63 a year ago. Increases in individual commodities greatly outnumbered declines during the week, the agency reports.

New York, June 28.—Accompanying another sharp decline in the dollar, all groups of domestic corporation bonds developed pronounced strength in active trading today.

The price trend followed the same cycle as yesterday. United States government bonds weakened as local banks sold such securities to meet withdrawals of demand deposits by out of town institutions. The movement was later reversed as funds flowed back for placement in a wide variety of industrial issues.

High grade railroad bonds enjoyed the best demand in several weeks, most of the buying coming from insurance companies.

At the same time secondary carrier bonds reflected broad demand with gains up to 4 points. Buying was heaviest in such issues as Allegheny corporation 5s, Baltimore and Ohio 4½s, and issues of St. Paul, Rock Island, and Missouri Pacific.

Revived demand for state securities and high grade obligations in general was indicated by the successful sale of some $26,000,000 of New York state bonds.

German government and corporation bonds receded from 1 to 3 points in a dull foreign market, while Latin-American liens showed strength.

Northwestern National Life Insurance.

Investors' Guide: Please forward to me complete information concerning Northwestern National Life Insurance company of Minneapolis.—W. C. E.

Answer: Northwestern National Life Insurance company [Minneapolis] was established about 50 years ago. It has grown steadily since. In contrast with the experience of most companies, Northwestern National showed an increase of insurance in force in 1932.

Face amount of policies outstanding on Dec. 31, 1932, totaled $361,719,000, against $360,224,000 the year before, and $350,876,000 at the close of 1930.

Legal net reserve at the close of 1932 amounted to $35,897,000. Other liabilities totaled $6,822,000. In addition the company set up as liabilities a $369,000 land and loan reserve and a reserve of $1,000,000 for contingencies.

Admitted assets aggregated $47,115,000. Real estate, 5 per cent of assets, totaled $2,477,000; mortgage loans, 22 per cent, $10,363,000; policy loans, 23 per cent, $10,838,000; bonds, 40 per cent, $18,927,000; preferred and common stocks at market prices, $52,000 and cash, 3 per cent, $1,432,000. Cash and United States government securities alone were 10.89 per cent of admitted assets.

The largest single investment, excluding United States government bonds, is the home office building, which represents less than 1.3 per cent of assets.

Excess of income over disbursements in 1932 was $1,010,000, against $3,628,000 in 1931. All expenditures were met from regular income. The company did not have to borrow funds nor did it have to sell securities to meet disbursements.

Expenses are low and mortality rate favorable. The company is licensed to do business in 30 states.

Dividend Tax.

Investors' Guide: I notice that there is now a 5 per cent tax on dividends paid by corporations. Out of my holdings I still have a few shares of stock that are on a dividend basis. Shall I have to pay this new tax or will the government take it from the companies themselves?—N. S.

Answer: The national industrial recovery bill levies a tax of 5 per cent on all dividends paid which have been declared after midnight of June 15, 1933. The law provides that the tax is payable at the source.

This means that if you have a dividend of $10 coming to you, declared after midnight of June 15, your dividend check will be only $9.50.

DETROIT BANKS FIT TO REOPEN, CONNELLY SAYS

Receiver Urges U.S. Permit Resumption.

Detroit, Mich., June 28.—[Special.]—Testifying today at Judge Harry B. Keidan's grand jury banking investigation, William F. Connelly, receiver for the Detroit Bankers company, testified that, with permission of the federal government, the First National Bank-Detroit can reopen within 24 hours and pay 100 per cent to depositors.

Mr. Connelly's admission tallied with the testimony of Alex J. Groesbeck, former governor of Michigan, now receiver for the Guardian Union group, who on Tuesday made a similar statement with respect to the Guardian National Bank of Commerce. Connelly's statement to the grand jury was that the First National bank should be reopened immediately.

"It could not only pay its depositors 100 per cent, but it could be made a very profitable investment for the federal government," he said. "The federal government has apparently forgotten that Michigan has been a splendid milch cow in the matter of federal income tax revenue.

Points to Income Taxes.

"The state has paid within the last 10 years the tidy sum of approximately two billion dollars in income taxes. If these two great banks are not reopened the resultant losses to depositors, stockholders, and estates will be such that income tax revenue will be greatly reduced. In thousands of other cases it will be eliminated entirely."

Like Herbert R. Wilkin, general manager of the Guardian group, Connelly expressed his belief that the real object in closing the two national banks was to squeeze Henry Ford to the vanishing point if possible. But, he added, the "getting" of Ford was but a detail of a great nation wide plan to eliminate thousands of banks, and establish a chain bank system. Nation wide credit restrictions were planned by the larger New York banking interests, he charged.

Blames New York Banks.

"There is a very large volume of New York bank sentiment opposed to the principle of government guaranty of deposits," Connelly declared in discussing the subject. "If the government should guarantee deposits, it will give the small bank a chance to live. The big New York banks do not want that. They are trying to force the Canadian chain bank system on to the United States."

Connelly also testified that nothing has been found in the affairs of the Detroit Bankers company that would indicate that the solvency of its largest subsidiary, the First National bank, Detroit, had ever been questioned by the federal treasury department, the controller of the currency, or any one else.

"Banks that are solvent are not carried as assets worth $51,000,000," he added.

FEW OF HALSEY STUART INSULL BONDS IN DEFAULT

Only $164,000,000, about 11 per cent of the total of $1,439,000,000 of "Insull" securities issued through Halsey, Stuart & Co. in the last decade are in default, according to a statement issued yesterday by the Chicago investment firm.

Interest and principal payments on the remaining $1,275,000,000 of securities issued through the firm are being met, the company depared. The firm did not participate in the public offering of Insull stocks.

Harrison P. Shedd, general manager in charge of the wholesale division of Marshall Field & Co., was elected a vice president yesterday, it was announced by President John McKinlay.

BOOM MARKETS PROFITS GO TO 'THOSE IN KNOW'

Is Planned Economy Bonanza to Insiders?

of yesterday. This is a gain of 6½ cents, or nearly 40 per cent. The present price is within a cent of that which the farmer is to get under the agricultural act.

The increases in commodity prices from the first of March to the present have added more than one billion dollars on an annual basis to the producers' buying power, it is estimated.

The enhancement in the value of butter, which sets the price paid for fresh milk used for cheese, milk for condensing, and for milk sold to the cities for table use, is estimated to have added $227,000,000 on an annual basis to the farmers' income. The return from dairy activities constitutes about one-fourth of the entire farm income. An increase of 1 cent in the price of butter means $38,000,000 on an anual basis of added income for the farmers, according to butter authorities.

Cotton Value Up 310 Millions.

The increase in the price of cotton was estimated by one cotton authority to have added at least $310,000,000 to the value of the expected cotton crop this year.

The increases in these commodities indicate the enormous profits that were possible for those who purchased commodities early, either as a result of their own foresight or as a result of tips from persons who were in a position to know about the plans of the engineers of the new planned economy.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, June 28.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was easier today under increased liquidation and commission house selling, promoted by the weakness in other commodities. Bleachable spot and July closed 5.80c, September 5.88c, December 6.10c, January 6.12c.

NATION SPENDS OVER 5 BILLIONS IN FISCAL YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—The fiscal year which closes Friday will have cost the government more than five and a quarter billion dollars, the largest total in 12 years, the treasury department announced today.

At the same time the year has marked the first increase in government revenues since 1930. Twenty-five new taxes and five sets of higher rates have pushed the total revenues up to about 2 billion 248 million dollars, an increase of almost 130 millions over last year.

Revenues have fallen about 3 billion dollars short of covering expenditures and loans, leaving the second largest peace time deficit in history. Borrowing to cover this deficit has advanced the public debt to 22 billion 556 million dollars, just 2 billion 929 million dollars short of the war peak.

R. F. C. Boosts Deficit.

The high cost of government during the fiscal year has been due, primarily, to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which has loaned 1 billion 253 million dollars more than it has collected in repayments.

On top of these net expenditures by the Reconstruction Finance corporation is another 4 billion dollars spent through the treasury's ordinary budget for running expenses. These costs are almost a billion dollars, or 20 per cent lower than a year ago.

This billion dollar reduction in ordinary expenditures has resulted from reduction in general costs, postal deficiency, and allocations to the bonus fund. Loans to the Federal Land banks and the farm were not represented this year, advances to the Reconstruction Finance corporation have been taken out of the ordinary budget and carried in a separate account.

New Taxes Increase Revenues.

The small increases in revenues during this fiscal year has resulted in the piling on of new excise taxes such as the beer, gasoline, electricity, automobile, and bank check levies. The income tax, despite the new high rates, has failed to bring in even as much as during the preceding year.

Total collections from the income tax amount to about 750 million dollars, compared with 1 billion 54 million last year. Miscellaneous internal revenue, including all internal taxes except the income tax, on the other hand have jumped from 496 millions last year to about 850 millions this year as the new taxes have been piled on.

Custom receipts, the third most important source of government income, declined again this year, dropping from 325 millions to 250 millions.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 28.—(AP)—Cotton goods continued firm today, though sales were lighter than yesterday. Wool goods were very firm with few spot goods available. Rayon factories are busy and shipments for the month were in excess of the large output. Silk goods are in moderate call. Burlaps are firm and quiet.

LIQUOR STOCKS SPURT DESPITE SHAKY MARKET

Specialty Issues Soar, but Others Decline.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 28.—Alcohol and specialty stocks carried on for the bull cause in today's stock market. In the first named group two newcomers, American Ice and Standard Brands, spurted, the ice company on announcement that the company would ask its stockholders for permission to take up the manufacture of beer, and the other on a report that the corporation was preparing to begin making distilled liquors.

Trading in Standard Brands was the heaviest for any issue since 1929. The stock rose about four points over yesterday's closing price, but the gain was shaved somewhat toward the last by profit taking. Officials of the concern refused to formally confirm the "liquor entry" rumor, but one of them authorized the statement that the company was "surveying the entire liquor field." American Ice closed at 14⅝, up 4⅛ after being about 2 points higher.

Other Wet Issues Soar.

Among the old timers of the "wet" group Owens Illinois Glass was a brilliant performer, shooting up 13 points and holding about 10 of it to the close. National Distillers, which gave the fraternity something to talk about yesterday when it broke into the "Century club," renewed its pyrotechnics in the early trading today, bounding ahead for some 8 points more, but found the going a bit difficult and was compelled to surrender all but a fraction of its newly won ground before the final gong.

Two other issues to hold the spotlight for a good part of the day were Celanese, which continued its romp for another 6 point gain, and Drug Incorporated, which rose nearly 4 points. Celanese has been one of the "wonders" of the present bull movement. A few months ago the common shares of the corporation went begging at $4.50 a share. At one time today they were selling for as high as $58.62½.

Selling in Last Hour.

The general list performed somewhat erratically. An unofficial report from Paris that France would be "obliged" to go off the gold standard shortly brought a preponderance of selling into the market in the last hour and sunk the industrial leaders generally below their previous closing levels. Thus United States Steel, which had received quite a cheer earlier in the session when it reached 60, was driven back to 58¼, putting it into the overnight record with a fractional loss on the day. American Telephone, American Tobacco, American Can, Western Union, General Motors, and other big leaguers finished showing net losses of 1 to 2 points or more.

Farm implement shares had to pay a heavy toll for the uncertain course of wheat on the Chicago pit, Case surrendering more than 4 points of its recent gain.

FURTHER RISE IN HOGS RECOVERS RECENT SETBACK

Prices Gain 15 to 20 Cts.; Cattle Irregular.

Yesterday was another lively session for hogs. Receipts dropped to the lowest figures for a Wednesday in five weeks and prices continued upward, recovering 15 to 20 cents more of the recent losses.

All the declines recorded in the last seven days have been replaced, both the top and average prices showing 25 cents gain in two days. Top prices at $4.75 equaled the highest mark since June 13, while the general average at $4.50 was within 5 cents of last week's highest daily average.

The first $5 hogs of the summer of 1932 appeared on the market a year ago yesterday. In contrast to present conditions in the trade, buying at that time centered in the lighter weights. Fancy 170 to 200 pound averages were at the top. Yesterday's top was paid for 210 to 290 pound butchers, with stock under 200 pounds subject to a discount.

Smaller Supplies Expected.

The trade anticipates supplies for the next few weeks will run lighter than they have for the last month, but there is no expectation of a shortage. All indications point to increased production of swine. The government report shows a 3 per cent gain in the spring pig crop and a probable increase of 20 per cent in the number of sows for fall farrowing.

The number of sows to farrow in the fall season, June 1 to Dec. 1, was estimated at 5,240,000 head in the United States and at 3,749,000 head in the corn belt, an increase of 8 per cent and 13 per cent respectively. The fall crop, expected to be the largest since 1923, will be due to start to market early in 1934. This report has goaded the Iowa corn hog committee to request prompt application of the farm relief act to corn and hogs.

Cattle Prices Mixed.

Price trends in cattle were mixed yesterday, light and medium weights exhibiting some weakness, while weighty beeves met a better call at strong to slightly higher prices. Long fed weighty steers showed most action and were the first to clear during the forenoon. Intensely hot weather continues to depress markets for beef.

Thin classes of cattle, particularly grassy stock which came in larger numbers yesterday, were the weakest on the list and frequently sold at discounts. Choice 1,350 pound steers topped the market at $6.85.

Lambs declined mostly 25 cents and were sorted harder than on any of the recent sessions, with culls marked down more than the top classes. Closely sorted native lambs to packers brought $6.75 to $7, a few hand picked offerings going to city butchers as high as $7.25.

BUTTER AT NEW 1933 HIGH

Strong buying again pushed butter futures to new highs on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, November moving up 4c to 27c. October eggs closed unchanged. Trading continued at an unusually heavy pace, 517 cars changing hands.

November butter opened at a new high of 26⅞c and quickly struck 27c. Heavy profit taking forced a reaction of ⅝c from the top but toward the last new buying came into the market and the close was at the top.

October eggs opened firm but, like butter, reacted sharply before strong profit taking. The delivery fell back to 19⅛c after touching the year's high of 19⅝c made in the previous session. Bullish storage news started a steady buying movement later, which carried the price to a firm close. Sales: Butter, 253 cars; eggs, 264 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 2 cars. Prices follow:

COTTON FAILS TO RESPOND TO BULISH CROP NEWS

A bullish construction placed on the government weekly crop report on cotton yesterday failed to bring out sufficient buying to advance prices materially. Action of the market was erratic with a good volume of trade and a stronger undertone, but speculators appeared to be disposed to go slow.

Futures in Chicago at the close were 12 to 24 points lower with other markets off 16 to 25 points, New Orleans leading the break, and also lost 20 points on spots, the latter being down to 10.10c. New York futures dropped 15 to 20 points net and 15 points on spits with close on the latter at 12.25c. Galveston was 10.05c and Houston 9.80c. Liverpool closed 13 points net lower.

LARD PRICES REACT AFTER EARLY BULGE

Good general buying of lard yesterday due to the advance in hogs and to a sharp bulge in grains at one time carried prices for lard futures higher, but the market yielded to pressure of liquidating sales later and closed around the lowest of the day. Early advances were canceled and net declines of 7½ to 12½ cents recorded at the finish.

Cash lard was unchanged at $6.50 for regular, loose was 5 cents lower at $5.70, and leaf $5.62½. Bellies were 12½ to 20 cents higher on futures and steady to 10 cents for cash lots.

WALLACE URGES 20 MILLION ACRE CORN LAND CUT

Live Stock Processing Tax to Reward Farmer.

Kansas City, June 29.—(AP)—A 20 million acre reduction of the nation's corn land through a processing tax on live stock was suggested today by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace as the means of averting overproduction in beef cattle and hogs, which he described as imminent.

"I'm telling you," the secretary asserted, "there'll be a definite oversupply of fat cattle in several years, and a tariff won't help you. If we have two normal corn crops we'll have an oversupply of hogs, too. The foreign market has been lost. We are dependent on domestic consumption."

Secretary Wallace, describing himself as a "corn and hog man" from Iowa, arrived from Des Moines. He addressed a meeting of agriculturists and business men here.

Says Prices Would Rise.

"If 20 million of the 100 million acres of corn were taken out of production," he said, "it would mean corn prices would rise, and the average feeder makes more money when the price of corn is high than when it is down. High prices would not bring in the inexperienced feeder. It would be definitely favorable for the live stock man."

The surplus arises, the secretary said, because there are now 11 million less horses and mules in the country than twenty years ago, feeding methods have conserved corn, and "we consume for human purposes 100 million bushels less than we did twenty-five years ago."

He suggested a processing tax on live stock be paid as a bonus to farmers abandoning acres of corn land, which he suggested should be seeded in blue grass.

"We can put a compensating tax on beef, poultry, fish or any such products to take corn land out of use, inevitably reducing the quantity of live stock."

Suggests Middle West Parley.

"We don't propose to force our plans on anyone except after the plans have arisen from the industry involved," the secretary asserted, suggesting the corn and hog men of the middle west meet, and possibly appoint delegates to a meeting to formulate a plan for the entire corn-hog producing area of the country.

Asked about the skyrocketing prices of wheat, Secretary Wallace expressed the opinion that "the speculators have gone wild." Asked if he believed dollar wheat too high, Wallace replied after some consideration: "No, I don't believe it is. It is our purpose to see that the farmer gets a price on a parity with the things he buys for that part of his crop used at home this year, next year, and the next."

FOR IMMEDIATE INTERVIEW.

Men who wish to start the second half of 1933 on a real money making basis naturally would wish to find a company with a genuine success record. This company presents that desirable condition: 1933 is its fourth consecutive sales record year. Yet men who are making money here started modestly, with few exceptions. Some men who are realizing $100 a week now did not make more than that their first month. Your experience may be similar.

Your own success should be foreshadowed by the success of others in this business, provided you work as hard and as consistently as they did. We have little to hold out to the man who wishes much for little—nothing at all for the man who wishes success without effort. There are many examples of individual success to quote from, but we shall give you just a few.

E. J. N. one day this week made $34.50; D. J. P., a new man in this business, made over $20 his first day; J. D. made over $60 the first half of this week and will finish June with better than $100 a week. F. H., a new man, made $20 his first week and better than doubled it his second. He will continue to show substantial increases. It is possible to increase incomes fast in this business.

There are certain distinct advantages in Electrolux, Inc. [not refrigeration], and these are: No cost or investment on your part—no seasons or shutdowns. This is permanent for men who think in the terms of building for their future. Men between 25 and 47 succeed best. References are required. Character bulks large—past experience amounts to little. Therefore, if you would have a personal interview and believe you can qualify call from 9 to 1, Room 329, at 9 S. Kedzie-av., Thursday, June 29.

A FEW GOOD PLACES FOR WEST SUBURBANITES!

We shall select a few good men for western suburbs—Oak Park, Elmhurst, Maywood, Forest Park, River Forest, Naperville, Lombard, Bellwood, Downers Grove, La Grange, Hinsdale, etc. Past experience does not enter into qualifications, but character does—ability and determination to work conscientiously also does. We do not wish men under 25 or over 45, and prefer men with cars and family responsibilities.

We are on the lookout for men who will develop from a beginning of possibly $25 to $35 a week into $100 or more a week. It takes time to do this, but we pride ourselves on good producers. We demand no money or investment, sell you no goods, and place no burdensome conditions on you. If you are sincere and wish a personal interview, call on Mr. Wilbor, Room 26, at 212 S. Marion-st., Oak Park, Thursday morning from 9 to 12, June 29.

MEN

Unusual opportunity for man over 27 years of age, preferably married, to get started in profitable business without investing any money. No deposit needed, but good references required, and permanent address in this vicinity or in suburbs to the south of Chicago. Employment at once on permanent basis if you are alert, industrious learner. Must be satisfied to get along on $125 to $200 per month while learning, if necessary.

No complaining here; we're doing better than ever, so if you hate alibis, come in and see if you can fit in with a growing, successful enterprise, manufacturing a popular mechanical specialty in great demand. If we agree, you'll get free training, and men who make real money will help you get started at once. See MR. CRISSMAN, Thursday morning, June 29, 9 to 1, at 430 Hyde Park Bank Bldg., 53d and Lake Park-av.
